FEDERAL LOAN AIDS STATE IN BANK ROW

Prince Weds Actress, Abandoning Royal Rights

JOHNSON TO TIGHTEN NRA'S ENFORCEMENT

Today

A North-South Road.
Strike Control Will Come.
A New, Big Lemon.
Sudden Changes Are Rare.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT tells Congress that a highway connecting the United States with Mexico and Central America is "entirely feasible," and he is in favor of it, the United States Bureau of Public Roads having emphasized "the tremendous benefits of the project."

There ought to be a good automobile road from the tiptop point of Alaska all the way down to Terra Del Fuego.

Good roads bring men together, make them understand each other and form friendships.

SERIOUS STRIKES threaten various industries, and every strike, however just its motive, means greater unemployment.

Eventually, since government now decides how much employers shall pay, and how long men shall work, the same government will eventually decide what the workers must do and how much money they shall receive.

No strike or lockout is allowed in Italy, Russia or Germany. It is inevitable that the same rule should come here.

You could not well run industry on a basis of complete government control of employers with no control of workers.

FARMERS OF citrus fruit in California, along the Gulf Coast and elsewhere, will be interested in a new and enormous lemon, exhibited by Mr. Suto, expert Japanese nurseryman, in his exhibition at the Miami flower show.

His new lemon trees, which he calls papdelotta, bear lemons almost as big as large grapefruit, weighing from one to two pounds, and of excellent quality. Mr. Suto is not the originator of the new lemon, but predicts that it will work a revolution in lemon growing.

THE PRESIDENT, with enthusiasm and vitality that the country admires, says:

"One thing is very certain. We are not going back either to the old conditions or to the old methods."

The old conditions may not come back, here or elsewhere, nobody knows. But methods are not changed over night. They are not created, and cannot be controlled by laws.

They are an outgrowth of human nature, based on selfishness or ambition, and the fact, unchangeable, that intelligence in the long run gets what it wants.

This country drove out rule by a British king and Parliament, and the people thought they would rule themselves. But power always goes somewhere and they found themselves ruled, a little better and more intelligently than they had been, by well-organized finance.

From actual rule by themselves, the people are still far removed. One hundred and twenty-two millions out of 123,000,000 have nothing to do with ruling themselves at present.

They know what is to be done only when they get word from Washington. That suits them, and is probably the best possible plan, but it is not "self rule."

PEACE IS necessary for world recovery, says Mussolini, the only thing Italy wants is peace. Every other nation says the same, with an occasional "if," "but" or "although."

For instance, Mussolini wants peace, but if Germany should insist on swallowing Austria, that would be something to think about.

France wants peace, but if the Germans insisted on ignoring the Versailles Treaty, and building their national defense and attack, that would call for interference.

England has some "buts" and "ifs" concerning India, and other countries around the world.

And there is the question as to how Mussolini would expect peace to continue in the event of his death.

Is not the present fashion of putting all power in the hands of one man, and accustoming the people merely to obey orders, most dangerous to peace? When individual kings had absolute power to declare war, war was almost in[illegible]t.

A BRANCH o[illegible] American Legion is told:

"England, France and the United States should maintain the peace of the world."

This country undertook that job not so long ago. It cost many men, ten thousand millions lent to "our gallant associates," who never repaid; tens of billions spent here, and finally, a big depression.

The best plan is to let Europe manage its own wars, and keep its own peace, if it can, and let the United States maintain peace here on its own continent. That is enough of a job.

Europe, Asia and Africa are not in our territory, except as regards the Philippines, and apparently we are about to abandon that distant territory, to the willing arms of Japan.

THE NEW YORK Stock Exchange vows that national control, as suggested by Congress, would ruin brokers and destroy "liquid values" on which business men depend in emergencies.

Stock exchange control is an administration measure, but John Dickinson, assistant secretary of commerce, says forbidding stock purchases, except on sixty per cent margin, would wreck values.

It certainly would compel many speculators to throw millions of shares overboard. They could not find the sixty per cent margin. Perhaps the rule would not be made retroactive.

Real estate men in New York say such stock exchange regulation would destroy property values in Wall Street and the neighborhood. Stock exchange firms pay $15,000,000 a year rent and carry payrolls of $52,000,000 a year.

LOAN AIDS STATE IN BANK ROW

Bellevue Depositors Drop Exceptions to Accounting

A federal loan to aid liquidation of the closed Citizens Trust Company of Bellevue today pulled the State Banking Department out of a "hole" that might have cost dearly.

Depositors of the closed Citizens Trust Company of Bellevue dropped exceptions to the accounting of Banking Secretary William D. Gordon in the liquidation of the bank's affairs.

Later Dr. Gordon announced a loan had been obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which would make possible payment of a 32 per cent dividend to the depositors.

'MUTUAL AFFAIR'

Park H. Martin, of Bellevue, who headed the depositors' committee, said withdrawal of the exceptions was contingent upon peyment of the dividend, and concerning the RFC loan, added:

"It was on our initiative that they went after it. It was sort of a mutual affair—we were anxious to get our money, and they were anxious to settle."

Deputy Attorney General David Glick denied there was any semblance of a "deal" whereby the depositors were to drop their exceptions involving an amount of $2,260.35 surcharged by Common Pleas Court against Dr. Gordon.

Glick said the depositors asked how much could be borrowed from the RFC in liquidating the bank's affairs. They were told, he said, that probably $350,000 could be borrowed, but the first accounting could not be disposed of until the surcharges were cleared up.

Glick said the depositors' committee said they would "forget" the $2,000 if they could borrow that much.

The depositors' suit was dropped despite Judge Elder W. Marshall's decision upholding it and surcharging Dr. Gordon and branding methods of the Banking Department in liquidating closed state banks as illegal.

The decision seemingly left the banking secretary open to further surcharges possibly totaling $1,000,000. An appeal to the Supreme Court had been prepared, but was not taken.

Glick said the court had no choice but to allow the petition of the depositors to withdraw the exceptions.

Martin said the exceptions were withdrawn with the stipulation that the Banking Department obtain the loan and pay the 32 per cent dividend immediately. He added:

"It was done to try to get money for the depositors at a time when they sorely needed it. Otherwise it would take about three years. We surrendered about $2,300 to get immediate payment of the 32 per cent dividend."

Glick announced dividend checks for 32 per cent of the deposits would be paid not later than April 9 as a result of the loan of approximately $316,000 from the R. F. C.

One item of $143.75 remains surcharged against Dr. Gordon, it having been admitted by the secretary. Three were withdrawn.

JUDGE'S DECISION

In his decision upholding the exceptions of the depositors, Judge Marshall held Gordon's closed bank liquidating machinery, set up extra-legally in the 1931 banking emergency, was illegal, and the short-cut through a private banker, evading the liquidating laws, was thrown out.

The payment of a 32 per cent dividend would make a total of 62 per cent paid to the depositors.

Warrant Served On Congressman

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—Floyd Truscott, a diminutive detective sergeant, today reported he had served an assault warrant last night upon husky Representative Shoemaker and that the Congressman agreed to appear for trial Saturday morning "if other business did not interfere."

Prince Scorns Royal Right in Wedding Actress

International News Service.

LONDON, March 8.—Renouncing royal prerogatives, Prince Sigvard, second son of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden, was married in a simple civil ceremony today to Miss Erika Patzek, petite, blonde actress, daughter of a Berlin merchant.

Overriding strenuous efforts of the Swedish royal family to prevent the match, Prince Sigvard walked into the Caxton Hall registry office shortly before noon with his bride-to-be.

PLAIN 'MISTER' NOW

He emerged a few minutes later as plain "Mr. Bernadotte."

There was no royal procession. There were no guests of noble birth.

Both were highly nervous.

The large crowd, kept in control by heavy detachments of foot and mounted policemen, was composed of newspapermen, cameramen and curious Londoners.

They crowded about and cheered the young couple—the exprince is 26, his bride 22—as they emerged from the registry office. "Mrs. Bernadotte" was smiling happily, dressed in a radiant blue ensemble and straw hat. She carried lilies-of-the-valley.

ITALIAN HONEYMOON

There was no reception afterward, and the couple planned to leave tomorrow on a simple honeymoon in Italy.

After their honeymoon the couple plans to return to the Berlin motion picture studio where they met, Sigvard as assistant director and his bride as an actress in minor roles.

STRIPPED OF TITLE

STOCKHOLM, March 8.—(AP.)—Prince Sigvard, son of the Crown Prince, having married a German commoner in London against the will of King Gustaf, was deprived today of his royal rights and the title of Prince of Sweden.

Notice of this action was served formally by the cabinet and the marshal of the Royal House in solemn proceedings consummated when similar notices were delivered to the parliament and to the Crown Prince.

Justice Official To Ransom Terrier

PORTLAND, Ore., March 8.—(AP.)—C. C. Spears, of the United States Department of Justice, said today he would pay "ransom" for the return of Bing, his pet dog, who was "kidnaped" from the Spears residence Tuesday. Bing is a toy Boston terrier.

DUNLAP SEEN AS SAFETY CHIEF

Ousting of Smith in Row on Marshall Firing Hinted

Col. William R. Dunlap, City Supplies Director, is likely to be named by Mayor McNair as Public Safety Director in place of Ralph E. Smith, according to reports from well-informed sources at City Hall.

Since the Mayor prevented the firing of Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall by Director Smith, a strained relation has existed which was only partially dispelled by the Mayor's statement several days ago that Director Smith was to stay.

Dunlap, personal friend of the Mayor, was the one cabinet member to hold over from the Republican administration.

McNair seemed evasive today when asked directly whether Dunlap would replace Smith. He complained:

"I know of no reason why Director Smith should be dismissed. I am in his corner. If there is any move to dismiss him it will be in Council."

However, it was learned that friends of the Mayor have been polling Council to determine whether Dunlap would be confirmed as Safety Director.

Called in by Mayor Charles H. Kline after the disclosures in the city food scandal, Dunlap proceeded to thoroughly clean up the purchasing of city supplies.

Charles Wolff, North Side retail grocer, is being mentioned about City Hall as a probable successor to Col. Dunlap in the supplies department. Wolff was active for Councilman P. J. McArdle's candidacy for the Republican mayoralty nomination last fall.

U. S. PROMISES WEIRTON 'NEWS'

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—Attorney General Cummings told reporters today there will be "news in two or three days" on the Weirton steel case.

It was referred to the Department of Justice by the National Labor Board last week with a request that "immediate action be taken."

The department has been represented as seeking to decide whether it should ask for an injunction to restrain the company from interfering with a workers election or to attempt criminal proceedings for alleged violations of NRA codes.

Investigation of the situation was handled by the department before it was considered by the National Labor Board.

Youth Health Drive Begun by Mussolini

ROME, March 8.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini has taken steps to control scientifically the health of Italian youth.

He signed a decree providing a periodical medical check of boys and girls up to the age of 18 to discover abnormalities and diseases in early stages.

Woman Sheriff Posing for Picture With Dillinger Branded Disgraceful

SHERIFF LILLIAN HOLLEY PROSECUTOR ROBERT G. ESTILL JOHN DILLINGER

Prosecutor Estill with his arm around Bad Man Dillinger, America's Public Enemy No. 1, when Dillinger was turned over to the keeping of Sheriff Holley, her husband's successor, at Crown Point, Ind. This is the action that U. S. Attorney General Cummings today termed "one of the most disgraceful episodes I know anything about . . . lack of sense of responsibility."

VOTE OFFICIALS GET PRISON

Three more election board officers were sentenced to penitentiary terms in the vote fraud trials by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in Federal Court today.

Joseph S. Gagliardino, judge; Dominick Mastrianni and Ralph Scanga, inspectors, First District, Third Ward, found guilty of conspiracy to falsify ballots in the 1932 congressional election, were sentenced to one year and a day each in a federal penitentiary, and fined $1.

Ten election officers have now been given penitentiary or jail terms in the government's crusade against alleged vote cheaters.

Cummings Assails Act as Nation-Wide Hunt Goes On

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—The action of Sheriff Lillian Holley and Prosecutor Robert G. Estill, Indiana law officers, in posing for a picture with John Dillinger, alleged murderer and bank robber, was described by Attorney General Cummings today as "one of the most disgraceful episodes I know anything about."

The Attorney General showed newsmen the photograph and said:

"This shows a complete lack of a sense of responsibility or of propriety and common sense. "The negligence of these people may result in the death of some honest person who is trying to effect Dillinger's capture."

Dillinger is being hunted all over the country following his recent escape from the Crown Point (Ind.) Jail. He was reported seen today in various parts of the country, including New York and Chicago.

LIMA, O., March 8.—(AP.)—A threat of a jail delivery hung over a courtroom today as silent Harry Pierpont, pal of John Dillinger, faced a jury that will decide whether he shall live or die for the murder of Sheriff Jess L. Farber last October in a jail raid which liberated Dillinger.

Trial Judge E. E. Everett disclosed that a letter had been intercepted predicting mysteriously that Pierpont and two other Dillinger henchmen held for trial, Charles Makley and Russell Clark, would be freed before the trials are over.

Pierpont was brought to court manacled and National Guardsmen kept watch for suspicious persons.

DILLINGER HURT CHICAGO HEARS

CHICAGO, March 8.—(AP.)—The police radio flashed directions to all available squad cars this afternoon to speed to a South Side neighborhood where John Dillinger and a woman were reported to have been seen.

The police had been notified that the escaped killer was driving past the Southmoor Hotel at Stony Island avenue and Sixty-seventh street in a sedan with a woman.

This was the region in which a gasoline station attendant said he recognized Dillinger last night.

Shown several pictures of criminals, the attendant promptly picked out Dillinger's.

The man he thought was Dillinger dragged his foot as if hurt, he recalled, and asked:

Monarchist Plot Charged in France

PARIS, March 8. — (INS.)—Eugene Frot, minister of interior and dominant figure in the Daladier cabinet which was forced to resign during the recent Paris riots, plotted the overthrow of the French republic and the establishment of an empire, Jean Chiappe, former police prefect of Paris, told a Parliamentary investigating committee today.

Handwriting Expert Hits Strewl Defense

ALBANY, N. Y., March 8.—(AP.)—Elbridge W. Stein, handwriting expert, who has figured in several sensational trials, today testified that, in his opinion, Manny Strewl, kidnaping defendant, wrote the ransom notes in the John O'Connell, Jr., abduction last July.

INDUSTRIES ORDERED INTO LINE

Announcement on Cut In Hours Expected Shortly

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson took a new step today in his drive for re-employment. The NRA chief summoned two select industrial committees to help him work out a program for making more jobs.

This he did after closing the first code authority assembly with a sharp announcement that enforcement of Blue Eagle rules will be tightened up. He asserted:

SELECTIONS URGED

To draft his new plan, Johnson asked the code authorities of the heavy goods industries and of the consumer goods groups to select 12 men each today.

He aimed for something concrete to announce to the public by the week-end if possible. But he promised weeks of continuing effort to round out a complete scheme.

Johnson's warning on the union question caused a stir. He urged industrialists to work with the Federation of Labor or they might have Communists to deal with. It might seem unpleasant to talk about, he said, but added:

"We have got to accord labor the rights guaranteed by this act. There is no law prohibiting a company union as such if there is no interposition whatever by employers, and if the men freely choose it. But 99 times out of 100, you know and I know that this is not the case. Let's not kid ourselves. Let's act before congress acts."

WAGNER LABOR BILL

He clearly referred to the new Wagner labor board bill. He went on:

"I know what is coming in this country this spring — the worst epidemic of strikes in our history. Why suffer it? Here is a way out. Play the game. Submit to the law and get it over quickly.

"I want to tell you this for

DRIVE ON TO PUT U. S. IN LEAGUE

By JOHN A. KENNEDY

The most comprehensive propaganda machine ever set up in America is now engaged in an effort to force the United States into the League of Nations and its World Court, a survey discloses.

Backed by funds of approximately $15,000,000, it is reaching out in an effort to control public opinion through schools, libraries, colleges, churches and civic and professional organizations on the subject of American participation in interantional affairs.

Already it is having its effect in Washington, where a flood of petitions, seeking ratification of the League Court, are being received by the Senate.

SEEK SPEEDY ACTION

Internationalists in that body are seeking immediate action on the court at this session of Congress.

The major fountain heads of this huge propaganda machine are:

Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, headed by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University. It has total funds of $11,720,000, but for additional money it needs, can call on the parent Carnegie Corporation, of New York, which has a capital of $161,302,363.

ROOSEVELT URGES RETURN OF AIR MAIL TO PRIVATE LINES

DEBATE LOOMS AS CONGRESS SPEEDS BILL

'Honest Payment for Honest Service,' Basis Of President's Plan

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt proposes return of the air mail to commercial companies as soon as possible under new legislation providing for "honest payment for honest service."

He suggests new contracts be let for a period not exceeding three years under competitive bidding. The Interstate Commerce Commission would pass on the question of public convenience and necessity of air mail routes and fix maximum payments.

In a letter sent late yesterday to Chairmen McKellar and Meade, of the Senate and House Post-office committees, and Chairman Black, of the Senate Investigating Committee, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Enactment of legislation along the lines I have suggested will establish a sound, stable and permanent air mail policy."

DEBATE LOOMS

A warm debate over the President's call for a private air mail system on a radically revised basis was in prospect today.

There were indications that Republicans will have much to say when the legislation reaches the floor. Many in G. O. P. ranks have openly accepted the air mail situation as an issue.

Senate and House committees hastened to whip into bill form the President's suggestion for the return of the mails to private carriers.

The President proposed that future handling of air mail routes and pay be placed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, and that a ban be established against companies with subsidiary connections. He also would rule out the transfer or sale of contracts, and excessive salaries or contracts.

One suggestion appeared certain today to be surrounded by considerable debate. Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Obviously also no contract should be made with any companies, old or new, any of whose officers were party to the obtaining of former contracts under circumstances which were clearly contrary to good faith and public policy."

Republican opponents of the contract cancellation have contended private contractors had no hearings to establish their individual guilt or innocence on these points.

Loan to Ex-Postal Aide Bared at Air Mail Probe

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—Paul Henderson, vice president of United Aircraft and Transport Corporation, testified before the Senate Air Mail Investigating Committee today that he had loaned $10,000 in 1930 to Chase C. Grove, deputy second assistant postmaster general under W. Irving Glover.

Henderson previously had termed impractical President Roosevelt's proposals for return of the air mail to private carriers under new terms.

Henderson said in the last year or two he had destroyed the notes evidencing the loans totaling $10,000.

Gove, he said, was a close personal friend of long standing. Henderson said:

"He told me he had been gambling in the stock market with all the money he had in the world."

Meanwhile, the New York Curb Exchange agreed to furnish the Senate Banking Committee a list of sellers of air company stocks prior to cancellation of the air mail contracts, and Chairman McKellar, of the Senate Post-office Committee told newsmen private aviation companies whose mail contracts were cancelled would have to undergo a thorough housecleaning if they expected to receive any contracts under President Roosevelt's program.

Army Air Mail Flier Forced Down in Ohio

MARION, O., March 8.—(INS.)—Carburetor trouble was blamed today for the forced landing near here late yesterday of an Army airplane piloted by John L. McAlister, assigned to the Cleveland Army airmail headquarters from Langley Field, Va.

McAlister brought his ship down in a field after the motor stalled as the plane was soaring at an altitude of 1,000 feet. The plane, which ripped through a wire fence, was undamaged and McAlister escaped unhurt.

14 BANKS SOON TO REOPEN

Six banks in the Pittsburgh district and eight others in Western Pennsylvania now on a restricted basis have completed reorganization plans and will likely open without restriction in 30 days, releasing large sums to depositors.

Gov. Pinchot and the State Banking Department today extended until June 1 the time under which these and other restricted institutions may continue pending reorganization, according to the Associated Press.

Banks in Pittsburgh and vicinity, whose reorganization plans have been approved, are the Hazelwood Savings Bank and Trust Company, West End Savings Bank and Trust Company, Farmers and Mechanics Bank of Sharpsburg, Brentwood State Bank, McKees Rocks Trust Company and the Glassport Trust Company.

Others in Western Pennsylvania are the Brookville Title and Trust Company, First Savings and Trust Company, Derry; United States Savings and Trust Company of Conemaugh, First Bank and Trust Company, Jeannette; Citizens' Savings and Trust Company, Mt. Pleasant; Johnstown State Deposit Bank, Johnstown Trust Company and the Morrellville Deposit Bank, all of Johnstown.

The Ohio Valley Bank was listed as having reorganization plans under way. The Braddock Trust Company was described as awaiting approval of the State Banking Department of its reorganization plans.

MacArthur Called To Army Supply Quiz

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—The House Military Committee voted today to summon Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Army chief of staff, for testimony tomorrow about all Army purchases, including trucks.

Chairman Rogers, of the subcommittee investigating War Department expenditures, said MacArthur also had been asked to produce pertinent records.

U. S. Steel Mines Install 'Check-Off'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 8.—(AP.)—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America announced today that the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, had agreed to install the "check-off" in its captive coal mines.

SENATE HEARS HEARST VIEWS

Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—An editorial in yesterday's Hearst newspapers captioned "Government by Personal Whim is Despotism," was read on the floor of the Senate yesterday by Senator Arthur R. Robinson (Rep.), of Indiana.

Senator Robinson referred to the editorial in attacking President Roosevelt's recommendation to Congress for tariff-making powers.

Robinson contended the bill would give the President power to cancel the 12 billion dollars of war debts. He said:

"If the bill passes giving the President power to deal with foreign nations alone that is the end of the war debts.

"He would have power to cancel the war debts. Ninety per cent of the people are against cancellation. Congress has declared against it."

SPY REPORTED AT NAVAL QUIZ

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—Amid talk about a "British spy" a House Naval Affairs subcommittee decided today there had been no excessive profits made on or collusion involved in Navy airplane and engine contracts.

Representative McFarlane (Dem.), of Texas, objected to approving the report prepared by Chairman Delaney (Dem.), of New York, until "all the evidence is in." He contended the committee should not act until the printed hearings were available.

He asked to insert a statement by C. H. J. MacKeanzie-Kennedy holding that America's air forces are below those of other nations.

Delaney, however, objected, saying that MacKeanzie-Kennedy "is over here at the instance of the British government to find out what he can, and our government will not be a damn fool enough to tell him."

McFarlane, while not vouching for the accuracy of MacKeanzie-Kennedy's statement, urged that the committee hear him, adding that "if he's a British spy, gentlemen, we ought to know it."

The committee declined to accept MacKeanzie-Kennedy's statement and took no action as to whether it would hear him.

CWA WORKERS ASK PAY RAISE

A petition signed by more than 1,200 CWA employes in this district, asking a 30-hour week and a 50-cent an hour wage, was forwarded to President Roosevelt yesterday. Asking for immediate action, the petition charged the employes were unable to purchase the necessities of life with the wages of the prevailing 24-hour week.

The letter also stated that, owing to the rise in commodity prices, the signers were worse off than they were when they were receiving charity from welfare agencies.

Copies of the petition were forwarded to Gov. Pinchot, State Senator Frank J. Harris and Congressman Henry Ellenbogen.

Eager to raise the CWA payroll here to the approved limit, Civil Works officials today awaited sanction of 53 supplementary prdojects and 38 original jobs passed by the local office and now being scanned by state CWA authorities in Harrisburg.

'First Lady' Accepts Rum for President

International News Service.

ST. CROIX, Virgin Islands, March 8.—President Roosevelt is going to get a bottle of 37-year-old West Indian rum.

Mrs. Roosevelt, inspecting the site of a government distillery here today, was offered a bottle of rum of the vintage of 1897 as a gift for the President.

She accepted it.

Arriving here from St. Thomas this morning Mrs. Roosevelt was taken ashore in a rowboat. Ashore she walked through aisles of sugar cane. On her trip to the distillery being built by the government, she passed a leper colony.

At St. Thomas this morning the American "First Lady" surprised the natives by going for a swim before breakfast. The swimming party included Paul M. Pearson, governor general of the islands, and members of the group traveling with Mrs. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt demonstrated that she is an excellent rope-skipper, indulging for several minutes in this brisk exercise on the sandy beach.

Before leaving St. Thomas, Mrs. Roosevelt visited the famous pirate stronghold atop a mill which is known as "Bluebeard's Castle." Legend has it that Bluebeard rescued his twelfth wife there from burning at the stake because natives believed her a sorceress. The ancient castle is now being rebuilt as a tourists' hotel.

HULL SEES U. S. HIT BY WORLD DESPOTISM

Appeals for Tariff Bargaining Power For President

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, painting a dire picture of world conditions in arguing before the House Ways and Means Committee for the administration's tariff bargaining program, warned today that the United States may "easily become the victim of the reaction of world despotism and autocracy."

The United States, he said, must help the world and the unemployment of 30,000,000 people for its own good.

H esaid flatly thatt he Supreme Court of the United States will hold the tariff bargaining plan constitutional.

CITES DESPOTISM

Hull said:

"It is true that we have seen despotism and dictatorship in every part of the word. My observation is that the main spring to those revolutions has been people out of employment.

"We are not going to fall into that sion but we could easily be the victim of the reaction of world despotism and autocracy."

Representative Treadway (Rep.), of Massachusetts, interposed:

"Then you would sacrifice the constitution to look after 30,000,000 unemployed throughout the world?"

REACTIONARY EFFECT

Hull replied:

"I think four years' experience has demonstrated the truth of the reactionary effect of economic conditions of other countries on us."

Treadway asserted that the bill giving the President power to raise or lower tariff 50 per cent to make trade agreements is unconstitutional. He asked:

"Should not there be a constitutional amendment if we are going to do this?"

Hull retorted:

"That's what they said to Abraham Lincoln when he suspended one or two phases of the constitution."

By RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD

THE ADMINISTRATION recognizes no doubt, its principal, immediate problem. This problem is what to do to get rid of, or substitute for, the Civil Works Administration.

The CWA was a pretty baby in the intellectual cradle. Today it begins to look more like an overgrown and incorrigible child!

Hasty and peaceful was its birth. Now it appears that it will die hard and certainly demand the right to have a successor of some kind.

The Civil Works program seemed to be necessary when awakening came to the fact that much unemployment and the dangers of social unrest had not been cured by the NRA industrial oxygen tank.

On the other hand, the public works program released money slowly, failed to restore private initiative in the construction industry and put down perhaps an undue ratio of expenditures into large projects where the number of human hands to the number of dollars to spend was small. Everyone knows now that much of this was inevitable.

FAILURE to relieve unemployment created an emergency and CWA was the first answer. Instead of direct relief or dole, it wore the appearance of useful employment no matter how useless or wasteful such work might be.

Many an invention like that looks well on the blueprints. Many a good and wise adviser has designed a sound panacea and found when it grew up it was all angles and elbows, knots and spines.

The CWA developed some troubles of political pulling and hauling for appropriations. It often paid higher wages than workers were worth.

But above all, it mobilized the army of the unemployed. That army would be satisfied while the pay flowed on, dissatisfied and perhaps ugly when the funds ran out and the taxpayers could be tapped for no more.

Every community would howl that it was the very place where closing the CWA would cause a riot.

It is said by some of the advisers that the problem of absorbing the CWA workers in some program of more permanence and stability must take stock of the separate problems of the great incorrigible idle-by-nature, of urban unemployment, of rural relief, of redistribution where possible of misfit square pegs in round holes.

Of all domestic emergency problems, this one is the most pressing.

Today, the CWA army and its transplanting to something better consumes the attention of those in Washington who see in any undisciplined army whose pay must ultimately be cut off, the dangers of a breeding ground for Communism and the threat of restless men who may learn the power of organized minority in terms of votes or in terms of menace.

L. M. Manion Dies, Head of Barrel Firm

OIL CITY, Pa., March 8.—(AP.)—Lawrence M. Manion, head of the Manion Steel Barrel Company, died yesterday at the age of 55. He had been ill for five days.

Manion, well-known in eastern industrial circles, was president of a company that manufactures barrels chiefly for the oil trade. His wife, two daughters and three brothers survive.

DRAFT CHARGES IN STOCK BILL

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Responding to current hints from the White House, Senator Fletcher (Dem.), of Florida, and co-author of the Fletcher-Rayburn stock market bill, announced this afternoon that the measure probably would be modified by the Senate Banking Committee to eliminate a number of its harsher features.

Among the changes that probably will be made, according to Senator Fletcher are:

Margin requirements, now set flatly at 60 per cent, will be made more flexible.

Corporations will be required to submit reports less frequently.

Important changes will be made in the section segregating activities of brokers and investors.

Restrictions on over-the-counter sales will be made more definite.

NEW TAX URGED ON SECURITIES

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—A constitutional amendment to permit the federal government to tax income from future issues of federal, state and municipal securities was advocated today by Secretary Morgenthau.

Testifying before the House Judiciary Committee, Morgenthau also favored giving the states the right to tax income from federal securities.

The cabinet member added that if state and municipal securities only were exempt from taxation it "would be likely to react unfavorably on the market for federal securities, to increase the cost of the government's borrowing, and to complicate our financing operations."

Talks With Mother, Then Kills Himself

ERIE, Pa., March 8.—(AP.)—Bern Ternouth, 30, spent last evening in the living room of his home talking with his mother. Then he arose, picked up his 3-year-old daughter and carried her up to bed.

Two shots were heard. Ternouth was found dead on his bed with a bullet in his heart. The man had been out of work and despondent.

STRIKERS SEEK PROBE BY U. S.

Representatives of striking employes of the Aluminum Company of America today voted to send two delegates to Washington tonight to seek action from the Labor Department in their controversy with the company.

The executive council of the Aluminum Workers' Union local said the delegates would ask that a Labor Department representative be sent to the New Kensington district to investigate.

The company and union representatives failed to agree at a meeting yesterday on the checkoff system of collecting union dues. The company refused to enter negotiations on the checkoff until the strikers return to work. The employes refused to go back to the plants until their demands are met.

The company officials held that the workers should abide by an agreement of the national union officials to return to work with an 11 per cent wage increase based on August 1 schedules before seeking an agreement on the checkoff.

While the union executive council was meeting today, picket lines grew at the plants, which have been closed since last Thursday.

Aged Woman Injured In Fall on Steps

Suffering a possible skull fracture, Mrs. Mary Webb, 70, of 5610 Donson way, was in a serious condition in West Penn Hospital today as result of a fall on concrete steps at Penn avenue and Butler street last night.

She fell on the steps as she was changing street cars at that corner.

Roosevelt to Attend Press Club Jubilee

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(INS.)—President Roosevelt has accepted an invitation to attend the silver jubilee dinner of the National Press Club on Saturday night, March 24, it was announced today.

The club was organized in 1908 by 32 Washington correspondents.

your comfort. I know your problems. I would rather deal with Bill Green, John Lewis, Ed McGrady, Mike McDonough, George Berry (all these are A. F. of L. leaders) and a host of others I could name, than with any Frankenstein that you may build up under the guise of a company union."

JOHNSON APPEAL

The Blue Eagle chieftain closed the industrial gathering last night with a speech which coupled an energetic appeal to "play the game" with a declaration that in many industries "there is no excuse" for ducking his 10 per cent hour-shortening plan.

Then he paired a disclaimer of dictatorial intentions towards industry with this earning warning:

"Under specific orders from the President, we are reorganizing to enforce the penal sections of the act."

But the keynote of his address was a conciliatory exhortation for industry to rise to the opportunity given it by Presidnet Roosevelt.

EXEMPTION URGED

Meanwhile, a suggestion that "during the emergency all corporations' earnings which are reinvested in capital goods shall be exempt from federal taxation" was advanced today at the NRA durable goods code authority meeting.

Henry A. Wise Wood, president of the Wood Newspaper Machinery Corporation of New York and chairman of the Newspaper Press Builders' code authority, made the suggestion.

George Houston, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Company, told heavy goods authorities they now had been given their first real opportunity to work out a program to restore their industries to normal activity.

The authorities for capital goods and consumer goods industries assembled in separate groups.

The consumer goods session, made up of the industries which will have to bear the chief burden of any further shortening of hours, got together under the leadership of George Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, and selected 12 men to confer with Johnson. The committee included J. D. A. Morrow, of Pittsburgh, representing coal.

President Roosevelt, in a talk today to Secretary Ruka's Business Advisory Planning Council, called upon the group to study establishment of a permanent system based on the principles of NRA.

Mr. Roosevelt also congratulated the industrialists upon their co-operation and recommended broader studies for the immediate future.

HOTEL LABOR HEARINGS SET

Managers of the William Penn and Fort Pitt hotels will be arraigned next Wednesday afternoon before Alderman F. T. Halloran, 4205 Penn avenue, for alleged violations of a state labor law.

F. L. Andrews, manager of the William Penn, and W. E. Morris, of the Fort Pitt, yesterday posted $300 bond each pending the hearing, Halloran said. The informations were filed by an inspector of the State Department of Labor and Industry.

Department officials said women were employed more than six days and more than 54 hours a week at the hotels.

Managers of two other hotels and two apartment houses will be prosecuted on similar charges, it was announced.

'Drugstore Cowboys' Balked by Runaway

IOLA, Kan., March 8.—(AP.)—It seems they've turned soft—the young bloods of the plains—the home of yesteryear's conquering cowboys.

A horse, described as a docile beast, staged a runaway through the streets and defied all efforts of volunteer cowboys to lasso it. Not until a large number of citizens formed a circle around the animal was it stopped—and then to the accompaniment of boos from the crowd that had gathered.

Active and Well, Holmes Passes 93rd Milestone

The former justice of the United States Supreme Court who feels that such anniversaries come so frequently he should no longer regard them as significant nevertheless had scores of congratulatory messages as a reminder.

Holmes, who retired from the high court two years ago, is enjoying remarkably good health and vigor. He is as keenly interested as ever in all worthwhile affairs of life. Still a student at 93, he finds much time for reading, but is in no sense a hermit.

Since leaving the bench his health has improved. His face has the glow of health, his white hair remains luxuriant, and his military mustache has lost none of its fierceness.

Seated, he looks as he did 20 years ago. Lumbago, which caused his retirement, has given him a decided stoop and he usually walks with the assistance of his secretary.

Daily he drives in a hired automobile when weather will permit. His favorite excursion is to nearby Ball's Bluff, Va., where as a captain, he was wounded during the Civil War.

FORD POLICE, U. S. AGENTS TRAILING EDSEL PLOTTERS

2 RIVAL GANGS THREATEN AUTO MAGNATE

Son of Manufacturer Guarded Aboard Fishing Boat

Universal Service.

DETROIT, March 8. — Crack operatives of Henry Ford's private police agency were speeding from Detroit by rail, auto and airplane today, bound for the gangland haunts all over the country in a drive to break up purported plots to kidnap Edsel Ford.

This was admitted by a high city police official, who confirmed reports from Florida that Department of Justice agents had been assigned to guard the younger Ford, following definite underworld information that plots to "snatch" him were being made.

Ford operatives, working among the nation's gangsters, were told, it was reported, two rival Detroit gangs were jockeying for the first opportunity to seize the young auto billionaire.

Dispatches from Florida said Edsel Ford, advised of the reports, embarked on a fishing trip, where he would be safe aboard a heavily machine-gun armed boat.

A few years ago a Detroit band of kidnapers, all of them now either dead or in jail, evolved an elaborate plan to kidnap Edsel for a million dollars' ransom. If they could not get him they planned to try to seize one of his children.

It was reported today the guards on the four young children of Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford had been increased.

INVALID DIES AS PIPE FIRES MATTRESS

Forbidden Smoke in Charity Home Fatal

Fire from a forbidden smoke cost R. V. Spooner, 63, his life in the infirmary of the Improvement of the Poor, Duquesne way, early today, according to a Coroner's report.

He burned to death as an orderly and another patient fought frantically to smother his flaming dressing robe and undergarments, police were told.

Spooner's screams awakened Edward Finnegan, a fellow patient, who ran to an adjoining room for the assistance of the orderly, George Patterson. Patterson said he had been out of the room seven minutes.

Patterson and Finnegan wrapped Spooner in blankets, but he was dead, they said, before the flames were extinguished.

Homicide detectives said they found a pipe in his bed. Patterson told them smoking was forbidden in the infirmary.

Spooner had been confined to the hospital ward most of the four years he has been at the institution. He had heart trouble. His home is not known. His body was removed to the morgue.

Wife Seeking Papers Saved From Flames

The search of her burning bedroom for a box of valuable papers endangered the life of Mrs. Millie Rouzer when a two-alarm fire swept her residence, 1019 Faust street, early today.

Fire Chief John Heinz estimated the loss at $3,500. When Engine Company No. 40 arrived, the second and third stories of the home were in flames, and a second alarm was sounded when two streams of water failed to check them.

William H. Rouzer, Jr., a University of Pittsburgh student, ran from his bed to sound the alarm.

Awakened by the fire, Mrs. Rouzer began searching for a tin box in which she had secreted valuable papers. She found the box just as her husband, William H. Rouzer, ran from his room on the third floor to lead her to safety, police said.

'CURSE' WRITER DIES AS TUT DRAMA ENDS

International News Service.

DETROIT, March 8.—Does the "curse of Tutankhamen" extend to those who write about it?

Superstitious Detroiters turned this question over in their minds today, after the sudden death of Louis K. Siggins, 44, student of mysticism and radio dramatist.

Siggins was author of a play presented by a radio troupe under the direction of George Penman. The play dealt with the operation of the famous curse which is believed to lie against all those who had any part in the discovery and opening of the tomb of Tutankhamen, Pharaoh of Egypt.

DEATH "PREDICTED"

A week ago Penman received a mysterious telephone call. A voice said:

"Louis Siggins, author of your play dealing with the curse of Tutankhamen, will die of the curse himself."

Penman and Siggins laughed at the incident, believing it a practical joke. But last night, 24 hours before the last episode of the play was to be presented, Siggins dropped dead.

PLAY TO CLOSE

Penman and other members of the troupe today went about their preparations to close the play, and refused to comment on the "curse."

The tomb of the Pharaoh Tutankhamen was opened in 1923 and immediately a legend arose, claiming that all who aided in disturbing the mummied king's sleep, should die. Most of the scientists who took part in the opening of the tomb have since died suddenly. Critics of the "curse" superstition point out however that the men who opened the grave were nearly all of middle age and that it is not surprising a majority of them should die in a period of eleven years.

BERGDOLL ASKS ROOSEVELT AID

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, Philadelphia draft evader, exiled since he escaped from military authorities in 1920, has appealed to President Roosevelt for a pardon.

His letter to the President, it was made known today, was referred to the Department of Justice, as are all such requests.

Dated at Weinsberg, Germany, the letter said:

"I write this letter in the fond hope that your Christian spirit and your great sense of justice will overcome all doubts as to wisdom of granting me a pardon for offenses against the draft law and the military.

"In spite of the fact that I have been deprived of my citizenship all these years, I still feel myself an American and could never swear allegiance to any other country. I always preferred being a man without a country rather than become a citizen of a foreign nation. Naturally, feeling as I do, I would not like my children to be citizens of any other country than America.

"My mother is now almost 73 years of age. She is not in the best of health. She has not seen me for a long time. She has not had much joy out of life. A stroke of your pen, Mr. President, could give her a few years of happiness."

Weather Conditions.

High pressure central over the southern plains, the Central Rocky Mountains and the plateau (Dodge City, Kan., 30.68) extends in a ridge northward over the western plains into Canada, while there are disturbances over Western North Carolina (Asheville, N. C., 29.94); Southern Texas (Brownsville, 30.00); Western Ontario (Port Arthur, 30.18), and Montana (Helena, 30.38). This distribution of pressure is producing snow in Southern Ohio, Southern Indiana, West Virginia, Arkansas and Northern Texas, and rain in Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Louisiana and portions of Texas. Elkins, W. Va., reports five inches of snow on the ground this morning. It is colder over the southern plains, the Central Rocky Mountains, the lakes, New England and the Middle Mississippi Valley, with little change in temperature elsewhere.

WIFE NO. 1 AIDS NO. 2'S DIVORCE

Everything indicated that Henry, a barber, who lives in Brownsville road, married No. 2 wife without divorcing No. 1 wife, then went back to live with No. 1 wife.

Wife No. 2, Elizabeth Sears, of South St. Clair street, testified they were married in Cleveland seven years ago under the name of Sears. She testified they "went through" a marriage ceremony and lived together two weeks.

Her only witness was Wife No. 1, Mrs. Frona Sees. She testified she saw "something in the paper about it" and her husband had admitted the double marriage, explaining he didn't know what he was doing. Wife No. 1 said they had been married in 1919.

Judge William H. McNaugher asked Wife No. 1 if she was still living with her husband. She said yes.

M'Gowan and M'Nutt Trade Court Posts

Magistrate J. William McGowan moved into Central Police and Morals Court today, trading places with Magistrate Howard B. McNutt, who went to hold hearings on the South Side and North Side. McGowan will preside permanently in the downtown courts. He disposed of numerous minor cases today.

Nettie Gordon's Funeral Hidden From Public Gaze

To the end, Nettie Gordon remained concealed from the eyes of a curious public.

Pittsburgh's one-time famous "underworld queen," who died Saturday night, went to her grave yesterday behind curtains and barriers through which only her friends and relatives were admitted.

While hundreds of onlookers jostled in the street for a glimpse of the costly casket and those permitted to enter, services were held in her home, 12 East North avenue, North Side.

But the onlookers' wait was in vain.

Shielded by a canopy reaching from door to curb, the casket was not exposed to the public gaze, and mourners entered automobiles with drawn shades. A canopy stretched 100 feet from the roadway to the grave in Uniondale Cemetery No. 2. The grave itself was concealed from view.

There were 30 automobiles in the funeral cortege. The services were conducted, according to members of the family, by a North Side Lutheran minister.

Stork Brings Girl On Police Patrol

CHICAGO, March. 8.—(INS.)—The stork was a midnight passenger in the town hall police patrol wagon and today Mrs. Constance Wright and her seven-pound baby daughter were doing "very nicely" at County Hospital.

AMES MAY WED RAQUEL TORRES

International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, March 8.—Reports that Stephen Ames, New York broker, former husband of Adrien E. Ames, and Raquel Torres, beautiful screen actress, may soon wed were current in Hollywood today.

Said Miss Torres:

"See Mr. Ames."

And he replied.

"Nothing to say at present."

It was recalled that on a recent radio broadcast at a premier, Miss Torres virtually announced their engagement when called to the microphone by telling the whole world "how happy she was."

Ames was divorced in Minden, Nev., by Adrien E. Ames last October. A few days later Miss Ames married Bruce Cabot, film actor.

Drug Case Taken From Doctor's Car

Thieves broke into an automobile owned by Dr. Joseph Loughrey, Medical Arts Building, Oakland, while it was parked in front of the West Penn Hospital last night and stole a case containing instruments and narcotics, he reported to police.

DR. WYNEKOOP READS BIBLE

CHICAGO, March 8. — (AP.) — Once again Dr. Alice Wynekoop has turned to her Bible for consolation.

The 63-year-old woman physician, under a 25-year prison sentence for the "operating table" murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, read the Psalms of David all yesterday morning. She hoped this would aid her recovery from the shock of a jury's verdict that she is guilty of murder.

Navy Officer Dies; Wartime Commander

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP.)—Capt. Franck Taylor Evans, United States Navy, retired, one of the first naval officers to utilize the smoke screen in battle, died last night in the Naval Hospital at Brooklyn. He was 58 years old.

The son of the late Admiral R. D. (Fighting Bob) Evans, he served under his father at Santiago in the Spanish-American War, and during the World War commanded a destroyer division in Atlantic waters.

MILITARY BALL REVIVED AT PITT

University of Pittsburgh R. O. T. C. cadets polished brass buttons and a thousand co-eds shook the dust out of formal gowns as they heard today that there will be revival of the military ball, Pitt's biggest dance.

A student committee has announced that the entire seventeenth floor of the William Penn Hotel has been engaged for Friday, March 23. Plans call for four orchestras to play in four ball rooms at once.

The depression caused the cancellation of last year's ball. Discussing plans for this year's event, Lieut. Col. Edward J. Cullen, Pitt R. O. T. C. head, said today:

"We feel that times are better now. We expect more than 600 couples."

Orchestras signed for the dance include Irving Aaronson and his Commanders, Phil Spitalny's band, Will Ryshanek's orchestra and Jack Logan's band.

'PRINCE DENNIS,' MIDGET, BURIED

Tiny Dennis McCartney who once pitted his 38 inches of height against former world champion middleweight boxer Harry Greb's 70 inches to amuse a circus audience received the last rites of the Catholic Church this morning at old St. Patrick's. His child-size white casket, only four feet long, rested before the very altar at which 42 years ago he had been baptized.

Dennis, beter known as "Prince Dennis" when he traveled with the Barnum & Bailey Circus in his capacity as miniature boxer, had to wear a plain business suit to his grave in St. Mary's Cemetery at Forty-sixth street.

His prized full dress suit was in Cleveland, waiting for his arrival. He sent it there with the rest of his circus togs, for he expected to rejoin his circus friends in a few days.

While in town Prince Dennis stayed with his only brother, Steve, at his home at 618 Reedsdale street. When he left town, Steve went with him for he was his brother's manager. So this morning Steve took his last trip with the "little brother" whom he had proudly watched over all his life.

2 STABBED, MAN AND SON HELD

Two men are in Allegheny General Hospital sucering from stab wounds, as a result of a free-for-all fight in the home of Ernest Davies, 55, 110 West Stockton avenue, North Side, last night.

Davies and his son, Ray, 24, were held over at a hearing today before Magistrate Howard B. McNutt, to await developments in the condition of W. E. Young, 39, and Harry Morris, 39 both of 12 River avenue.

As alleged home brew was found in the Davies home, according to police, the elder Davies also was turned over to state authorities for questioning.

Joe Lorella, 23, of 249 Hays avenue, Washington, Pa., arrested following the fight, was fined $25 on a charge of drinking.

Dr. Turner Speaks Before Relief Group

Dr. Ralph E. Turner, of the University of Pittsburgh, tonight at 8 o'clock will address members of the newly-organized Association of Relief Workers of Allegheny County at their meeting in the H. C. Frick Teachers' Training School, Oakland.

Dr. Turner's subject will be "The Relief Worker's Opportunity."

Polo Association Dinner On Monday

The Allegheny County Polo Association will hold its first annual dinner and business meeting at the Hofbrau, Market street, at 6:30 p. m. Monday.

Schedules for the coming outdoor season will be discussed and officers elected. Col. James D. Milburn, former international polo player, will preside.

STRIKERS DEFY MENDIETA

HAVANA, March 8. — (AP.) — Labor struck another blow at President Mendieta's anti-strike decree today when 1,000 employes of the American-owned Cuban Telephone Company, which serves the entire island, walked out without warning.

The strike silenced 33,000 telephones in Havana and another 6,000 in the interior, as well as the $28,000,000 corporation's six Cuban radio broadcasting stations and wires serving brokers.

The strike gave a powerful impetus to labor disorders reported in the interior, it was feared.

Wealthy Californian Gets Death Threat

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—(INS.)—An anonymous extortion letter threatening Michael Miraglis, wealthy San Francisco manufacturer, and his entire family of five with death if he did not pay $15,000 when demanded, spurred an intensive police search today for the writer.

Scribbled in pencil and unsigned, the letter was mailed here and received by Miraglis from a special delivery messenger boy. A police guard was stationed at the home.

Little Women Win Vote For Greatest Charm

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 8.—(AP.)—Even such old standbys of classical love affairs as Helen of Troy and Cleopatra failed to convince the judges of a campus debate here that a woman's charms do not vary inversely as to her size.

Two of the three judges last night gave their decision to the men of the Alpha Nu Debating Society of the University of Michigan after listening intently but skeptically to the arguments of the co-ed debaters from the university's Athena Literary Society.

"Look at Helen of Troy; her face launched a thousand ships and it must have been la ge to do that. Cleopatra was buxom."

DEEP SEA DIVER GOES ON SPREE FAR DOWN

LONDON, March 8.—(AP)—Elbow-benders may well doff hats to Tom, the man who sat at the bottom of the ocean and drank whisky, with water under his chin and 60 feet of it on top of him—drinking when a slip would have drowned him like a rat in a trap.

The story of Tom was told to the Royal Society of Arts and Sir Robert Davis, noted authority on deep-sea diving, and here it is:

"Tom, a diver working on a wreck, had sent up no cargo for the last couple of hours and everybody became anxious about him. At last he shot to the surface and was dragged to the ladder. Then it was seen that [illegible] unk. Yet he went [illegible] ber as a horse at a [illegible] d the chief salvage officer set about clearing up the mystery.

AIR IN HOLD

"This is how Tom did it. As the ship sank she had heeled over slightly to one side. Some air in the hold, instead of escaping out of the hatch when the water poured in, had been trapped in the angle formed by the side of the ship and the 'tween deck.

"When the cargo was worked out of this side more air was released. Some of this, instead of making its way up the hatch in bubbles, was also trapped under the 'tween deck. This was supplemented by the air from the escape valve of the diver's helmet, until a pocket of air, perhaps 18 inches deep, was formed in the angle.

"The diver, working under the 'tween deck, suddenly discovered that his hands were out of water. Not long afterward he discovered cases of whisky. Having carried up a case and broached it, he sat on top of the cargo and, with water within an inch of the bottom of his mouthpiece and 60 feet of water over his head, unscrewed the mouthpiece and knocked the neck off the bottle.

'RAT IN A TRAP'

"To avoid interruption from the surface and to defeat any attempt made from the diving-boat to pull him up unexpectedly, he took a turn with his life-line round a convenient stanchion. He was there free to enjoy himself—with the knowledge that if he slipped if there was any sudden movement in the water, if for any reason the air should escape from under the 'tween deck, or if he had miscalculated his own capacity and failed to screw his mouthpiece on again, he would be drowned like a rat in a trap."

Sir Robert surveyed his audience and added:

ROMANO SCORES IN DEFENSE

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 8.—(AP.)—Testimony as to tire marks was given yesterday in the trial of Frank Romano, of Pittsburgh charged with first-degree murder in the death of Benjamin Oliver, former Yorkville Mayor.

H. A. Britten, Akron (O.) tire expert, testified that tire marks near the scene of the slaying were not made by tires alleged to have been on the death car.

In an attempt to establish an alibi, the defense introduced Dr. Samuel P. Radin, Pittsburgh, who testified he treated Romano two nights before the Oliver killing, when state witnesses had testified Romano was in Yorkville. Chief of Police Lee Chambers, Follansbee, W. Va., declared he played cards with Romano at 7:30 p. m. on the night of the murder, which authorities said occurred about 8:20 p. m.

Jobless Man Dies In Fall on Stairs

William Burke, 54, was killed last night when he fell down the cellar steps in the home of A. J. Stugan, rear 1214 Metropolitan street, according to a coroner's report. He suffered a broken neck.

Stugan told Deputy Coroner Stanley Guzenski that Burke, an unemployed railroader, formerly of Second avenue, Glenwood, had been living at his home since December.

'CLEARED' VOTE BOXES AID IN CONVICTIONS

Three of the Allegheny County ballot boxes in which Common Pleas Court Judge Heber Dithrich could find no fraud or error following the election of 1932 helped provide the evidence which resulted in the conviction of members of three vote boards in Federal Court.

This developed today through a comparison of election districts in which the elections committee of the Bar Association procured the opening of boxes before Judge Dithrich on allegations of fraud or error and the districts in which convictions have been secured in the series of trials held in Federal Court following indictments growing out of the 1932 Congressional elections.

DISTRICTS NAMED

The ballot boxes of the First, Second and Ninth districts of the Third Ward were among those for which the Bar Association committee put up deposits of $50 each in order to secure their opening and an examination of the ballots. After the examination, during which he was advised by County Detective David Drexler, District Attorney Andrew T. Park's expert on election frauds, Judge Dithrich held no irregularities had been proven and forfeited the deposits.

Three members of the board of the First District were convicted in Federal Court of fraud November 29, 1933; three members of the board of the Ninth District were convicted on similar charges December 21, 1933, and six members of the board of the Second District on February 28 of this year.

MARKINGS ALTERED

In each case it was charged by federal attorneys, and found by a jury, that the markings on ballots had been altered.

In four other districts where Federal Court convictions have been secured Judge Dithrich ruled fraud or error had been shown, and returned the forfeits put up by the Bar Association committee, of which Maj. E. Lowrey Humes was chairman. These were the Eighth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth districts of the Fourth Ward and the Seventh of the Fifteenth.

In all 27 boxes were opened by the Bar Association petitions, with the $50 forfeits required by law put up in each case. In 10 of these instances Judge Dithrich found fraud or error and returned the forfeits. In 17 he could find nothing irregular and held the money for the county treasury, as provided by the mandatory ballot box opening law of 1927. Several of the boxes involved in the state court proceedings have played no part in the federal investigation and trials of alleged fraud in the 1932 election.

HANDWRITING EXPERTS

Judge Dithrich, questioned about his inability to detect fraud or error in boxes out of which came evidence which resulted in Federal court convictions, said that the Federal court had had the advantage of the testimony of handwriting experts on "phantom" markings and the evidence of witnesses.

He said that phantom markings had entered into the protests of the Bar Association committee but that in many instances he had not been impressed by allegations that there were appearances that ballots had been laid in piles, after the close of the election, and that marks then had been placed after the names of certain candidates.

The state court judge said he had no finding which was contrary to the advice of Drexler, who is relied upon by District Attorney Park in election cases.

Judge Dithrich said that upon petition by the Bar Association Committee he would return the forfeit for the three boxes out of which Federal court convictions grew, and would reopen hearings on other boxes in which he had impounded forfeit money if requested.

that all three were married men with families.

Judge Schoonmaker, in pronouncing the same sentence on the three, said:

"I see no reason for making any distinction among them, as they occupied a position of almost equal responsibility and all seemed to have intelligence enough to know better."

Attorney Pugliese was granted permission to file appeals for the three. They were to be realesed in $2,500 bail each.

ONE STILL SOUGHT

They were found guilty November 29. Ralph Gentile, a clerk on the board, was acquitted. Another clerk, Mike Spada, named in the indictment, was never apprehended. The trial of this case took place after juries had disagreed in two other election trials, which were later retired and convictions obtained by the government.

Friday morning four others convicted in the Sixth District, Third Ward, case will be sentenced. They are Anthony Sibilia, judge, and Jack Frankel and Henry Silverstein, inspectors, of the election board in that district, and Constable Harry Kart.

In this case two clerks on the board, Dewey Slutzky and Harry Kalson, were acquitted. The verdict was rendered December 13.

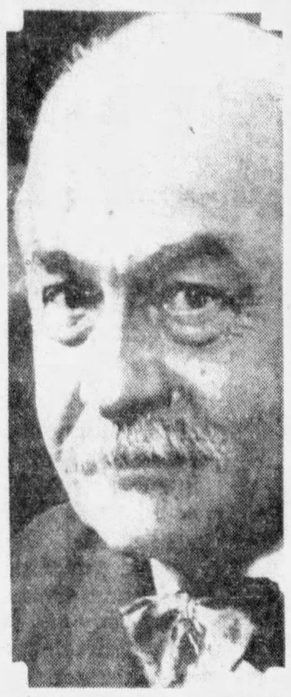
Drive to Force U. S. Into League and Court Revealed by Survey

MISS ESTHER LAPE . . . OPERATING AMERICAN FOUNDATION

RAYMOND B. FOSDICK



NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER

ated largely by Miss Esther Lape. It was originally financed by a $2,000,000 grant from Bok, but is reported to have received additional funds from the Bok estate. Its heads have declined to make public its expenditures.

The League of Nations Association, headed by Raymond B. Fosdick, who also is associated with the Rockefeller interests, which have expended large sums to finance the League of Nations.

Several other pacifiist and international organizations are functioning with the same purpose in mind, but the triumvirate, headed by Fosdick, Butler and Miss Lape, are the most active and able. They have directed the expenditure of millions during the past five years, to educate Americans, to quote their own words, "TO ACHIEVE AN INTERNATIONAL MIND."

WIDE SCOPE EXPOSED

Their loosely-knit, but effectively operated propaganda machine subsidizes college professors, libraries, both public and private, in schools and colleges, and, at present, is flooding the populace with pleas to sign petitions urging that the United States Senate state the conditions under which this country will join the League of Nations, and also pleading for immediate ratification of the League of Nations-world court membership.

It was one of these groups, the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, that helped finance the Elihu Root mission to the League of Nations seat at Geneva in 1929, where the League Court formula, upon which we are now being asked to join the court, was devised.

Each of the groups mentioned have on their executive committees and boards of directors the most outstanding American internationalists and pacifists, including many representatives of international bankers and their lawyers and negotiators.

These propagandists are asking the average American citizen to sign petitions in the sweet name of peace. They ask prospective signers: "Are you against war? Then if you are, won't you sign this petition so that we can tell Congress the American people don't want war."

PETITIONS SIMILAR

Secure in their knowledge that there are few, if any, of the country's populace who favor war, the propagandists and their multitude of workers obtain the names, and the petitions are mailed to Washington.

Examination of the files of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and those of individual senators reveal a striking similarity in the wording of the petitions. Each organization has a particular type of plea, and works generally through a different segment of the population. Some of the petitions are printed and merely carry signatures, others give a form of a letter, while a third kind carry a typewritten plea on the top of the sheet.

(Editor's Note — This is the first of a series of articles exposing the huge propaganda machine, financed by untold millions and seeking to wreck the Army and Navy, cancel war debts, and bring about immediately entrance by the United States into the League of Nations and its so-called world court. A second article, exposing the operations of the huge Carnegie Endowments, will follow shortly.)

LEAGUE COURT HEARING SET

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Reviving the League Court issue, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has decided to hold public hearings March 23 on American entry into the tribunal.

Eight members of the committee, less than a quorum, were present yesterday when Chairman Pittman (Dem.), of Nevada, raised the question. He polled the committee and said a majority favored holding brief public hearings.

A two-hour hearing will be given to proponents of American adherence on the date fixed. At a later date opponents will be heard.

H. Ralph Burton, vice president of the American Coalition of Patriotic, Civil and Fraternal Societies, asked to be heard in opposition. Representing organizations having approximately three million members, he said:

"At no time should the United States join the League of Nations or its creature, the misnamed World Court. But of all times the present is most inopportune to join."

Prowlers Knife Maid In Attorney's Home

SHARPSVILLE, Pa., March 8.—Search is under way in an effort to round up two men who entered the home of Attorney Glen R. Law, former Sharpsville borough solicitor, and attacked Miss Mary Maro, a maid, with a knife when she surprised them in the cellar.

Miss Maro was cut on the arms after the men told her they would disfigure her face unless she told them where Attorney Law kept valuable papers.

WAGNER LAUDS RUM SYSTEM

HARRISBURG, March 8.—(AP.)—W. Worrell Wagner, new member of Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, says that putting the government into the liquor business is "the most painless method that anyone could devise" for supporting the unemployed, the blind and the aged poor.

He issued a statement upholding the state stores system after taking the oath of office yesterday as third member of the board.

He said he might be described as a "wet." His associates, Robert S. Gawthrop, chairman and former superior court judge, and A. Marshall Thompson, former dean of the University of Pittsburgh Law School, were known during prohibition as "drys." Wagner, a wine merchant, said:

"I have been in the liquor business all my life. I believe I know something about it, and whatever I know about the buying and selling of liquor is at the service of the board and the people of Pennsylvania."

Bank Stockholders To Pay $35,000,000

DETROIT, March 8.—(INS.)—Eighteen thousand stockholders in the Detroit Bankers Company and the Union Guardian Group must pay $35,000,000 in stock assessments, due to the crash a year ago of the banks controlled by the two holding companies.

This was the decision handed down in Federal Court today by Judge Johnson J. Hayes, of North Carolina, who has been hearing testimony for three weeks. The case was the biggest of its kind ever tried in an American court.

Will Benefits Wife, Opposes Remarriage

Mrs. Bella Levy, of Cherokee street, is to receive the income from the bulk of the $35,000 estate of her husband, William Levy, as long as she remains unmarried, he provides in his will filed for probate today. At her death the estate goes to their nine children. The will sets aside $200 each to four Jewish charities and $1,000 each to granddaughters. Two sons, Meyer and Isadore, are named executors.

WASTE CHARGED IN COUNTY'S COAL RELIEF

Assemblyman Joseph R. Lynch, of the First Legislative District, today charged that the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Board is wasting $25,000 a month in excessive charges for delivery of coal to needy families.

Lynch, who was author of a resolution for an investigation of the Allegheny County Relief Board, made his charges before Doughlas P. Falconer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., appointed investigator under the resolution.

According to Lynch, who is president of the Joseph R. Lynch Coal Company, the County Relief Board pays $1.25 a ton for delivery of coal to destitute families. From 30,000 to 38,000 tons are delivered monthly, he asserted. This cost, he declared, is excessive.

He added:

"The board arrived at this price for hauling by taking an average of bids submitted. It is altogether too high. The City of Pittsburgh is today buying coal for $2.99 delivered to city pumping stations. The same grade costs the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Board between $4 and $4.75."

Relief orders for coal are divided among the Retail Coal Dealers' Association, the County Coal Code Authority and the truckers' association, Lynch said. He himself is not a member of the retail association and gets very little business, he said.

BONUS PAYMENT BEGINS MONDAY

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, March 8.—Payment of the state soldier bonus to more than 5,300 veterans whose applications were the first approved will begin as quickly after next Monday when the funds become available as the checks can be drawn by the Treasury Department, it was learned today.

The first $30,000,000 of the $50,000,000 bond issue for the bonus is to be paid over next Monday by the National City Company, Inc., New York, successful bidder on the first issue.

Between $150 and $160 is the average payment due veterans whose applications have reached the treasury to date. The maximum payment is $200, based on $10 a month for each month of active service in wars since the Spanish-American.

750 SEEK STATE HOME SITES

Twenty-five families will be selected by March 20 for the government's homestead project in Mt. Pleasant Township, Westmoreland County, David W. Day, manager of the Westmoreland Homesteads announced today at his office in Greensburg.

Options have been taken on 1,395 acres, Day said, by the Federal Subsistence Homesteads Corporation. This acreage is being surveyed and sub-divided for use of the prospective tenants who will earn their livelihood from the soil insofar as possible.

In connection with the project the government expects to locate light industries on the site so that the workers may be employed in factories part time.

Applications for homesteads have been received from 750 families, Day said, from which 100 will be chosen.

Woman Real Estate Dealer Admits Fraud

PHILADELPHIA, March 8.—(AP.)—Miss Ethyl Z. Smith, 27, former owner of a real estate investment business, yesterday pleaded guilty to 18 charges of embezzlement, fraudulent conversion, forgery and procuring and falsification of public records.

She was committed to jail to await sentence. Miss Smith had been at liberty under $3,500 bond since her arrest in August, 1932.

Stubborn Mule Balks Traffic And Police

CHICAGO, March 8.—(AP.)—Sooky, a mule, is no respecter of big city traffic.

Having planted itself squarely on the street car tracks, Sooky refused to budge and police were called. Said a policeman to the motorman:

"You push from behind and we'll turn our car sideways and shove this animal clear."

The result:

Sooky kicked out the glass of the street car, then the glass out of the headlights of the police automobile.

It took the combined efforts of neighborhood volunteers, and the police to pull Sooky away—some thirty minutes later—with a rope.

DRYS TO REVIVE OLD PARTY

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., March 8.—(AP.)—Illinois prohibitionists will seek to reform their political ranks at a convention Saturday in Bloomington, where the country's first prohibition party was organizbed. December 9, 1868.

Leo J. Jeanmene, of Chicago, state chairman, said the convention would be asked to nominate a full ticket of candidates for state offices. He said:

"The prohibition party is not a legal party at this time and will not take part in the primaries. With the adoption of national prohibition the party practically went out of existence in this state and it is only during the last two years that it has been operating to re-establish itself."

CONTEST GIVEN AID OF FAMED EDUCATORS

By KENNETH M. ELLIS

The roster of university, college and school presidents who have enlisted in the difficult task of judging America's stupendous effort to write its own epic reads like a Who's Who of educational leaders.

Already—from coast to coast—tremendous interest has been shown, with hundreds of inquiries reaching local headquarters on all the Hearst newspapers:

"How can we register for the competition?

"What do we have to do?"

It is not necessary to register for the competition—and what you are asked to do is to write—in not more than 600 words—your interpretation of the nine principal historical events which made this nation territorially and spiritually what it is today.

RULES FOR STUDENTS

You may send your text to the Mount Rushmore Memorial competition committee, in care of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, unless you are a college, university or grade school student. In that case there are special rules governing your entry, which will be announced in detail in a few days.

The local committee will pass on it, and, if in their opinion it is the kind of thought which is worthy of preservation in immemorial living granite, it will be sent to the national committee for final judgment.

Remember that in addition to the very great and enduring honor of influencing that final, permanent inscription, there are cash and scholarship prizes being offered by the Sun-Telegraph with a first prize of $1,000—which may be yours!

SPECIAL ARTICLES

The Sun-Telegraph will reprint the rules and prize lists from time to time, so that you may be thoroughly apprised of every detail of the competition. In addition special articles dealing with the complete history of each episode will be published, to enable you to better picture the significance and effect on American life of each of the nine divisions.

As an example of the carefully trained minds who will pass judgment on your proposed text there are already on local committees throughout the United States such leaders as Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University; Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern University; the Very Rev. Francis Corcoran, S. J., president of De Paul University; Dr. Hugo Winkenwerder, president of the University of Washington; Dr. George J. Ryan, president of the Board of Education of New York City; Dr. Walter Hullihen, president of the University of Delaware; Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Tech; the Very Rev. J. J. Callahan, president of Duquesne University; Dr. Edward Ellery, president of Union College, Schenectady; Dr. Islay McCormick, headmaster of Albany Academy, and Dr. John G. Bowman, president of University of Pittsburgh.

These are only a few of the great educators whose enthusiastic vision of the Mount Rushmore Memorial has led them to give active aid to the commission in its search for an adequate, permanent and beautiful expression.

WRITTEN FOR FUTURE

Remember that no fancy writing is necessary. Read thoroughly—think clearly—and write simply. Write so that thousands of years from now—long after our civilization has vanished—people then living may read, and understand what we, as a nation, stood for.

And write it so they will feel that they would like to continue this great tradition of liberty which our forefathers wrought from the past and which we are perpetually fighting to preserve!

The Sun-Telegraph will keep you informed as to closing dates for your entries.

Societies Make Plans For Rushmore Contest

Patriotic, Educational Groups to Seek Inscriptions

Educational and patriotic groups, expressing praise for the Mount Rushmore National Memorial competition sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph and associated Hearst newspapers, today were planning to inaugurate the contest within their individual organizations.

Interest aroused in the opportunity for every man, woman and child to participate by contributing to the historical monument in the Black Hills of South Dakota was being expressed in inquiries to the Sun-Telegraph.

Every individual throughout the tri-state district has been invited to contribute his or her entry of 600 words that will tell the history of the nation, based upon the nine points outlined by the national committee.

Realizing the educational value of the competition, aside from the opportunity of winning cash or scholarships, Mrs. John E. Winner, president of the Allegheny County Parent-Teacher Association, today announced she was preparing to bring the event to the attention of her group. Citing the educational value, she said:

"It is a very splendid campaign. I think that such an event of historical emphasis should interest the school children and give them a greater interest in our country. It is especially valuable at this time."

Expressing the interest of one patriotic group, Mrs. Arch C. Perry, president of the Pittsburgh Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, commented:

"I think that it is an inspiring and splendid project. It will create much interest in our historical background. I don't doubt that many members of our organization will take a part in it."

Each organization is invited to appoint a committee which will serve as judges on entries submitted by its membership. The best entries from the members will be submitted for consideration of the Pittsburgh Memorial Committee in its selection of inscriptions to be submitted for the national commission.

LAUDS ETERNAL MONUMENT

By CHARLES M. DAY

Member of the Mount Rushmore National Memorial Commission.

The Hearst papers are doing a work of great importance in sponsoring the nation-wide competition for a suitable text for the Rushmore entablature. It will be a big aid to a patriotic monument that will be eternal.

The carving of the figures of our devoted leaders and their high principles on the eternal granite of Rushmore will make a strong and permanent appeal to all Americans. It will be dramatization of stability, loyalty and greatness of purpose for all peoples everywhere. It must win full fruition.

IN SEA 13 HOURS, FIVE RESCUED

MIAMI, Fla., March 8.—(AP.)—Four passengers and the skipper of the fishing boat Sea Spirit were rescued off Elliott Key, near here, by the crew of the Coast Guard seaplane Sirius today after they had hung in the water from the side of their almost completely submerged craft for 13 hours.

The passengers were:

Earl H. Hafer, of Canton, O.; Paul Oschwald, of Rumson, N. J.; Edward Clark, of Red Bank, N. J., and H. T. Ormandy, of Toronto, Canada.

County Opens War On Dog Owners; 23 Fined

If your dog does not have a license, be careful.

Twenty-three owners of dogs in Bellevue were fined $5 and costs last night by Justice of the Peace Elmer T. Greiner, of Bellevue, for not having licenses for their pets.

The cases were prosecuted by Veryl D. Johnson, dog law agent of Allegheny County, who warned all dog owners to see that their dogs are licensed.

A few days ago 26 persons in Brentwood were fined for violation of the dog license law.

BELLEVUE GIRL CITED IN RESCUE

The Bellevue School Board has called attention of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission to the heroism of Angie Holman, 16, Bellevue High School Senior in saving 4-year-old Dorothy Silverberg from drowning in the ice-filled Ohio River, February 18.

In a resolution the school board praised her heroic action and ordered a copy sent to the Carnegie commission. She leaped into the river fully clothed and rescued the little girl who had fallen from an old lock wall at West Bellevue station.

PENNA. WARNED TO CONSERVE ON COAL

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, March 8.—Coal, vulnerable king of Pennsylvania's industries, is destined to wear his glistening crown of black diamonds but two centuries more in this state unless steps are taken to further his reign by means of conservation.

Our coal supply will be exhausted in about 200 years, Dr. George H. Ashley, state geologist in the Department of Internal Affairs, told International News Service yesterday.

He estimated that only 8,000,000,000 tons of workable anthracite and 50,000,000,000 tons of bituminous remain of the state's once vast deposits.

The state does not lead all others from the standpoint of general coal deposits as is popularly believed, Dr. Ashley said. Instead, he asserted, it ranks about eighth or ninth.

In peak years, the annual output has approximated 250,000,000 tons, the state geologist revealed. But, should the present rate of slow production, exclusive of the boom in orders enjoyed this winter, continue, the deposits might last more than double the 200 years' time he alloted for the supply to become exhausted, Dr. Ashley pointed out. He added:

"Pennsylvania has the bulk of the anthracite but the industry is facing an uphill fight to retain its markets. A large amount of the present supply is in thin deposits that we don't class as workable because it would be unprofitable to mine it."

Describing the industry as "on the rocks" at present, Dr. Ashley, however, graphically painted a brighter picture for it within the next generation. He explained:

"At present, the coal industry is down because of competition from oil and natural gas. That condition will remedy itself in 10 or 15 years when these liquid fuels will become more scarce. Their prices will go up with the people turning back to coal."

RECIPE IN FAMILY FOR 56 YEARS AWARDED PRIZE

Formula Brought From London By Early Settler

When a recipe has been used for over half a century in one family alone, you can be sure it is a good one. Recipes that last that long must be truly worth while. Such a one is offered you today in Prudence Penny's prize list. Mrs. M. J. Hussey, of 2667 Stafford street, Sheraden, writes of her English cup pie:

"This recipe was brought from London over 100 years ago by Dr. Sarah A. Reid when she settled in West Virginia. I, myself, have been using it for over 56 years."

What about your pet recipes? Have you sent them in to Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph? She will pay you for the recipes used, either a $5 first prize or one of ten $1 prizes. No recipes are returned.

Five Dollar Prize Winner

MISS EDITH CAPOZZI,
40 Carver street,
DRESSED CRAB

One good-sized heavy crab.
Six tablespoonfuls butter.
Two tablespoonfuls bread crumbs.
Three tablespoonfuls olive oil.
Two tablespoonfuls vinegar.
One tablespoon chopped parsley.
Crisp lettuce leaves.
Salt and pepper to taste.

If possible choose a crab with large claws. Boil crab in boiling salted water for 30 minutes; break off large and small claws. Lay crab on its back, pull back the flap under its body, pull it right out and commence to remove flesh from shell. Take care that the little bag near head, usually full of sand, is taken out. Throw away all the shell and fibrous tissue. The flesh is of two kinds, some firm and white, some soft and dark. Separate former into little shreds with a fork, also the white meat from claws, which must be cracked in order to obtain it. Mix dark soft substance with crumbs, add oil, vinegar and seasonings to taste. Toss shredded white meat also in a little seasoning, but keep the two kinds separate. When shell is empty wash and dry well. Fill shell with the two mixtures arranging them alternately so that they appear in dark and white stripes. Have it heaped a little higher in the center. Decorate meat with lines of finely chopped parsley, and force the butter round edge with a forcing bag and tube. Place crab on some crisp lettuce leaves. Arrange some of the small claws in a circle round shell.

Ten $1 Prize Winners

646 Curtis street,
ORANGE CHOCOLATE DELIGHT

One-quarter cup butter.
Three-quarters cup brown sugar.
One egg.
One cup flour.
One-half teaspoon baking powder.
One-half teaspoon soda.
One-quarter cup sour milk.
One-third cup cocoa.
One-quarter cup hot water.
One-half teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar. Add well-beaten egg. Sift flour once and measure. Mix and sift flour, salt, soda and baking powder together and add alternately with the sour milk. Add cocoa which has been thoroughly mixed with the hot water and thoroughly cooled. Stir in vanilla. Place in well greased loaf tin and bake. When cool, cover with orange filling, spread meringue over filling and return to oven for 15 minutes.

ORANGE FILLING

Mix five tablespoons of flour with three-quarter cup of sugar. Stir in three-quarter cup orange juice and one tablespoon of lemon juice and cook until thick and clear. Add two tablespoons of grated orange rind and three slightly beaten egg yolks and cook two minutes over hot water. Stir in two teaspoons of butter and cool before spreading on cake. Make meringue with three egg whites and six tablespoons of sugar. Spread on top and sides of cake.

MISS CAROLYN CHUTE,
CREAMED SHRIMPS IN POTATO WALL

Use two pounds of fresh shrimps cooked and shelled or one pint of canned ones. Remove the viscera from either before using. Boil one and a half pounds of potatoes in salted water until tender, and drain. Force them through a potato ricer and add half a teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, four tablespoons butter and the yolk of one egg. Beat well. When the puree is very smooth form it into a high wall in a fireproof dish. Brush the wall with melted butter, sprinkle liberally with grated cheese and brown in a quick oven. Meanwhile make a cupful of medium thick white sauce in a double boiler. Place the shrimps, cut in halves, in this and let all get very hot. Withdraw the pan, stir in three-fourths cup of grated cheese, a little at a time, stirring constantly. When all the cheese is added beat in the yolk of an egg. Return to the fire and reheat over hot water. Pour into the potato wall and serve very hot.

MARTHA Z. FULLER,
535 Gettysburg street.
COIN PICKLES

One pint mild vinegar.
One-half cup brown sugar.
One teaspoon celery seed.

Let these ingredients come to boil, then add as many dill pickles as desired, sliced crosswise, making them the size and shape of a coin. Let stand until cool.

MRS. JOSEPH CUMER, SR.,
Washington, R. D. 1.
A NEW SALAD DRESSING

One pint vinegar.
Sugar to taste.
Butter the size of an egg.
Two level teaspoons of salt.
One teaspoon mixed mustard, pepper and celery salt.

Heat together. Beat three eggs lights with one cup sour cream. Pour into the hot vinegar the eggs and cream and let mixture slowly thicken. This should be cooked in a double boiler. Makes a quart and will keep any length of time if kept covered.

BULA R. MALONE,
5534 Center avenue.
YALE BEETS

One dozen medium size beets.
Two tablespoons flour.
One-half cup sugar.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-half cup orange juice.
Two tablespoons butter.

Wash, pare and thinly slice beets. Place them, uncooked, in baking dish. Mix together flour, sugar and salt. Add orange juice to dry mixture. Pour over beets. Dot with bits of butter. Bake with cover on until beets are tender.

MISS AGNES LABANZ,
3036 Wadlow street.
CREAM OF ALMOND SOUP

Half pound almonds, blanched and chopped.
Four cups well seasoned soup stock.
Two tablespoons onion juice.
One cup shredded celery.

Cook very slowly for one hour. Rub through a sieve. Make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour and one cup milk. Add to soup just before serving. Another half teaspoon salt may be needed, depending on how highly the stock is seasoned.

MISS VIOLET HORNBERGER,
4618 Oakwood avenue, Homestead,
SPAGHETTI ALA OHIO.

One package spaghetti.
One cup mushrooms.
Four slices lean bacon.
Two medium-sized onions.
Three-quarter pound round steak (ground).
Two cans tomato soup.
Two pieces chopped pimento.
Half teaspoon salt.
One-quarter teaspoon pepper.
One tablespoon butter.

Parboil spaghetti for seven minutes in four quarts of boiling water to which one tablespoon of salt has been added. Drain. Peel and stew mushrooms for 15 minutes. Cut bacon in small pieces and fry. Add chopped onions and ground steak and cook for five minutes. Then add spaghetti, mushrooms, soup and the pimento seasonings into a baking dish, which has been well buttered. Bake in a slow oven half hour (325 degrees F).

MRS. JOHN BARRY
272 Lelia street, Mt. Washington.
MOTHER'S MEAT LOAF

Two pound ground beef.
Three-fourths cup suet.
Two small onions.
Two cups soft bread crumbs.
Two teaspoons salt.
Two eggs.
Four tablespoons horseradish.
Four tablespoons minced green peppers.
Three-fourths cup tomatoe catsup.
One teaspoon dry mustard.

Mix well all ingredients except catsup. Pack in a greased bread pan. Cover top of loaf with tomatoe catsup and bake at 400 degrees for 45 minutes. This may be made of left over meat and is delicious hot or cold. Serves six.

MRS. M. J. HUSSEY,
2667 Stafford street, Sheridan.
ENGLISH CUP PIE

Place a cup upside down without a handle in the middle of a deep baking dish, then fill the remaining area with cherries or other fruit sweetened to taste. Put a rich pastry over sides and top. Bake at 425 degrees from 30 to 40 minutes. When baked the cup in center will be full of juice. When serving lift the edge of the cup a little with each cutting to allow some of the juice to escape.

LULU ERRETT,
418 Oakland avenue, Greensburg.
VINEGAR TAFFY

Two cups sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon cream of tartar.
One-half cup vinegar.
Two tablespoons butter.
Two grains salt.

Combine ingredients. Boil to hard ball stage (265 to 270 degrees Fahrenheit). Pour into well buttered pan. Cool. Pull until white and porous. Cut into one-inch pieces.

WOOL PICTURE — PATTERN 641

Gay Flowers Embroidered in Wool

Somehow as winter draws to a close, we long for color in our homes. This lovely basket of flowers that lends itself to a variety of colors would add a decorative note to any room. Besides being attractive as a picture it also would make a lovely cushion. The picture measures 9½x12 inches.

Pattern 641 comes to you with a transfer pattern of the picture; detailed directions for making it with the stitches illustrated, and color suggestions.

Send 10 cents for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

McIntyre to Direct Tourists to Schenley

In anticipation of a flood of summer visitors to Pittsburgh, Lewis W. McIntyre, city traffic manager, will undertake a survey of state and national route markings and of guide signs to the Schenley Park tourist camp, he announced today. McIntyre said he based his expectations on requests from out-of-town organizations for tourist maps and guide books.

BALDWIN FIGHT HEARING SET

That battle between the four new and the four old Commissioners of Baldwin Township, is to come before Judge George V. Moore for a hearing in Quarter Sessions Court next Tuesday.

When the Commissioners tried to organize at the first of the year they deadlocked. After several attempts to break the tie, the new members filed a court petition asking that the old members be ousted from office. They claimed the old members failed to attend adjourned meetings and obstructed business by failure to effect an election of officers.

The old members asked the court to dismiss the ouster proceedings. Judge Moore late yesterday filed an opinion refusing to dismiss the case and setting next Tuesday for a hearing.

The holdover members are W. E. Armstrong, A. F. Dryer, John Nurnberger and Alice Linnert. The new members are John McGinnis, Peter A. Kuenzig, Clarence Kirsch and John S. Wheaton.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

Needs No Cooking! Big Saving!

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle, yet it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water for a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, put it into a pint bottle, and fill up with your sugar syrup. The pint thus made gives you four times as much cough remedy for your money, yet it is far more effective than ready-made medicine. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and clears the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous as a healing agent for throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

ARE YOU A Phone Booth Artist?

Those penciled scrawls are a sign of jangled nerves

If you're the stolid, phlegmatic sort of person who doesn't feel things very deeply, you'll probably never have to worry about nerves. But if you're high-strung, alive, sensitive—watch out.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand of cigarettes!

How are YOUR nerves?

'SEA MONSTER' JUST A BIG DOGFISH

PARIS, March 8.—(AP.)—A scientist apparently has exploded the hopes of those who like to see their fairy tales come true. His verdict is that at least one of the "sea monsters" found near Cherbourg is—well, if the truth must be told, just a glorified dogfish.

A huge dogfish, granted Prof. Petit, of the Museum of Paris, but a dogfish—or squali, to get technical—all the same.

Petit made his announcement after a microscopic examination of a mysterious marine animal washed ashore last week on the Querqueville rocks, near Cherbourg.

SECOND 'MONSTER'

After the remains of this find had been shipped to Paris, another creature of the same type was found by excited Norman coastal folk 13 miles from the scene of the first discovery—at Greville.

Fast upon the news of this new wonder came word from Urville that the remains of a monster 15 feet long and boasting neither head nor tail had been found.

Then, with crowds pouring to the centers of excitement to view the washed-up strangers, tales began trickling in of other similar finds at various points along the coast.

The first curiosity—that examined by he bubble-bursting professor — was described as a white-haired something-or-other, about 25 feet long, with a body four and one-half feet in diameter, a neck like a horse and a head like a camel.

NO SEA SERPENT

The scientist said he was convinced it was not the "sea serpent" its backers 'round Cherbourg at first believed.

The beast's principal claim to fame, he said, were floating masses of tissue—like capes—on either side of the head. These gave an unusual appearance.

Prof. Petit said it's teeth gave it away and enabled a clear identification as a squali. He added that "it must have been sick, for I failed to find anything in its stomach."

COUNTY BUREAU PAY HELD UP

Failure of County Commissioners to sign the Registration Bureau payroll has held up salaries in that office since February 8, it was revealed today.

Taking office on that date, Registration Commissioners Thomas Joyce and Jacob Frank have received no pay. Six other employes of the bureau were paid last February 7.

County Commissioner McGovern recently objected to signing for the payroll until the matter was further discussed with the Salary Board, although the board had previously acted on the pay rates.

Including temporary employes and registrars, the registration payroll for the year will reach about $100,000. A large force will be used to install permanent registration here.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth— a lazy, no-good feeling—you should try Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after-effects.

They start the bile and help overcome constipation. Take nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes sold yearly. 15c, 30c, 60c.

DANDRUFF
A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it. Then, you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get some plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (it won't cost you more than thirty-five cents, 35c), apply it at night when retiring, using enough to moisten the scalp and rubbing it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Junior Patrol

So if you are looking for your letter, have patience. We will get around to yours just as quickly as we can. And we want all captains and members who write to know that we appreciate getting their letters.

Most letters come with pledges, and we are getting hundreds of new members every week. Keep up the good work, fellows. And you captains, keep trying to make your clubs bigger and stronger.

JUNIOR PATROL PLEDGE

I promise to help children less fortunate than I am.
I promise to do my best to make my parents proud of me.
I promise to watch carefully when crossing streets and to aid other children in keeping out of danger.
I promise to study hard and do errands willingly.

Date of Birth.....Address.....

School .....

Address this pledge to the JUNIOR PATROL, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Upon its recipt you will be registered as a member of the JUNIOR PATROL and will be forwarded a membership card and an official emblem.

We have a note from Billy Zillweger, of R. D. No. 2, Glenshaw. He listens to Grandpa's stories.

A new captain today is Jack Mesherter, of 217 South Third avenue, Youngwood. He sends 11 pledges.

"Snuggins sure does like the chocolate cake that Claire gives him. I'll bet its pretty cold at the North Pole. Snuggins was trying to show Elmer the North Pole on the top of his cap. I guess Snuggins doesn't know as much as me because I am in the sixth grade."

Another new member today is Letitia Emily Rieck, of 216 Gladstone road. She is in the third grade at Winchester School.

Pledges came today from a lot of fellows who live in Murrayville—Milton Stuck, Herbert Stuck and Lois Stuck. We hope they can get enough new members to join them to have a big club.

"I read the Junior Patrol every night and I think you had a very good article about Washington."

Jane and her friend, Betty Zatkovich, have a club and they take turns being captain.

Also today we have three pledges from the Gordon family, of 1211 Louise street, Munhall, with a note from Lester S. Rubenstein. They are trying to start a patrol.

Rumania's Oil Fields Coveted by France, Germany

Both Nations Lack Fuel Supply for Motorized Army

(Editor's Note—Rumania's rich oil fields make that country's alliances a matter of deep concern to all Europe. H. R. Knickerbocker writes in the twenty-second article of his series, "Will War Come?" Neither France nor Germany has any significant supply of oil and with motorized armies the matter of oil looms large in connection with war.)

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service.

BUCHAREST, March 8.—This is the deep Balkans. The stamp of Turkey is on it. You count your change, watch your luggage. You also watch your political treaties. Every year you go back and make the same treaty over again and every few months your foreign minister visits all the other foreign ministers to find out if they still mean what they said.

In the deep Balkans policemen go in threes. The secret service, siguranza, is almost as good as Russia's GPU. The food is good, the beer undrinkable, tablecloths soiled. Rumania is far away from Europe.

But Europe has its eye on Rumania. Because Europe is war-scared, and modern armies are motorized, and motors need oil and Rumania has oil.

A column of flame 50 yards high and three yards thick flares against the morning sky as the Orient express from Vienna to Bucharest speeds past the mid-Rumanian oil fields. The conductor calls the passengers to look. "Been burning for months," he says. "There's another one been burning for years."

Rumania Literally Has Oil to Burn

Rumania has oil literally to burn. So much that they don't bother to put the fire out. Rumania's oil could turn the tide in war time. Neither France nor Germany has any significant supplies of oil. The two chief rivals on the Continent are equally dependent on oil from abroad. But France has a fleet and in war time can protect her imports from overseas. Germany has next to no fleet, and reckons on being blockaded in case of war. Germany logically has the greatest interest in securing a safe source of oil.

To get it she will have to play Balkan politics. But Hitler has proven he knows how to play every kind of politics. Today, since the signing of the Polish-German non-aggression pact nobody in Europe will venture to put a limit on what the Third Reich may accomplish in breaking up the French system of alliances.

For the Polish pact knocked the first large hole in that system. To understand the background for the question, "Will War Come in Europe?" and especially to understand the significance of the Balkans it is necessary to recall how the hostile alliances are lined up.

The French system consists of straight military pacts of mutual defense between France and Poland, France and Czechoslovakia, France and Rumania, France and Jugoslavia, France and Belgium. The succession of states formed out of the wreckage of the Austro-Hungarian empire, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Rumania, are in turn united in the Little Entente, Rumania and Poland, back in 1922 when both were frightened of invasion by Russia, signed a military alliance.

France's System Rivaled By Italy

This is the French system. The Italian has been its principal rival. The basis of that system has been the Italian-Hungarian, Italian-Bulgarian, Italian-Albanian treaties of varying degrees of friendship. Most important was the Italian-Hungarian treaty of 1926, announced as a treaty of friendship but believed to be really a military treaty.

One of its clauses was believed to provide that in case of an Italian-Jugoslav war,

KING CAROL

while Italian troops drove for Zagreb, Hungary would put two army corps into the so-called Mur Island, the triangle between the Mur and the Drau rivers in the northeast corner of Jugoslavia next to the Hungarian border, which would be the most effective way to divide the Jugoslav forces.

In the Balkans, it may be further recalled, they are realists.

Italy in return was believed to have promised to support Hungary's claims for revision against Czechoslovakia but also against Rumania, it happened however that Italy also was trying to make friends with Rumania, since she could be very useful to Italy in case of a Jugoslav-Italian war.

Early in 1933 it was reported that Italy in pursuit of this aim had secretly promised Rumania territorial integrity. Coming to the ears of the Hungarians, this so angered them that although they maintain correct relations with Italy, the old friendship has cooled, and Hungary has secretly turned her thoughts to Germany as the knight who will break her chains.

Italy Fails to Lure Rumania From Pact

Italy wanted to lure Rumania out of the Little Entente. She failed in that and at the same time, by the attempt, lost Hungary. That left Italy with only Bulgaria and Albania.

The Albanian-Italian alliance is vital for Italy. Albania controls the mouth of the Adriatic. In Jugoslavia hands Albania could blockade the Adriatic and stop up every Italian port on her east coast from Trieste to Bari. It was therefore natural that when King Zog came to power in Tirana in 1924, Italy should lend him money. She lent him as a starter $10,000,000 gold in 1925.

In return, Italy got military control of Albania. When the time came to renew the pact, Italy promised another $4,000,000, but times grew hard, money scarce and until today she is believed to have paid no more than $1,750,000. In Albania gifts keep friendship warm and when gifts fail, friendship cools. King Zog was annoyed. He sent his best diplomat, Mehemet Konitze, to Belgrade to negotiate a "trade treaty." The net result has been a decided loosening of the Italian hold on Albania.

All that Italy has retained undamaged is the friendship with Bulgaria. King Boris married the daughter of the King of Italy. Bulgaria also could be very useful to Italy in case of a Jugoslavia-Italian war.

France Maintains Upper Hand Now

It is obvious that for the time being France has the upper hand in the Balkans. How long will that last when Germany comes back into the game? Ever since the war, until Hitler came to power, Germany has played no role down here. Before the war the Central Powers of course dominated the Balkans, although Rumania, waiting to spot the band wagon, finally leaped on the French car, missed her hold, and was crushed by the German steam roller.

Will Rumania do that again? She has an immense respect for the German military machine. When and if Germany and Austria are united, and Hungary joins the German bloc, the Germans will be to all intents and purposes neighbors of Rumania. King Carol is a Hohenzollern. The Iron Guard is pro-German.

The chief thing that stands between Rumania and Germany under these circumstances is the fact that Rumania possesses in Transylvania 62,222 square kilometers of territory she took from Hungary. But a prominent Rumanian politician told me he considered it perfectly possible that Rumania and Hungary might one day come to an agreement over Transylvania.

The forces that play in international politics are much like the forces that move the heavenly bodies. The larger the planet the more attractive force it has. As Germany grows from month to month in strength, and especially if she gets Austria and more especially after she is completely rearmed, her attractive force toward the smaller powers grows perceptibly, France today still has her guns and her gold. But the discount value of her treaty system has already fallen below par.

Germany's mere intention of acquiring a big army has already changed the constellation of European politics considerably. When she actually has it they will change still more, and who knows but that Regent Horthy may be right when he opined Germany would get what she wanted without fighting for it.

NAZIS MAY JOIN ROME PARLEY

VIENNA, March 8.—(AP.)—Keen interest was aroused today by a dispatch from Rome that Germany may have a finger in the conference there next week between Italy, Austria and Hungary.

The dispatch said the German vice-chancellor, Franz Von Papen, was arriving in Rome March 14, the same day that Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and Julius Goemboes, premier of Hungary, are to confer with Mussolini.

The ostensible reason for Von Papen's visit is the holy year pilgrimage of the Knights of Malta. But Vienna has not forgotten that Von Papen is not only a Catholic but a Catholic leader who has been repeatedly mentioned whenever rumors of Austro-German peace negotations have been heard.

In some quarters there is confidence that the meeting will be the turning point in Austro-German relations.

FRENCH STUDY ARMS PACT

PARIS, March 8.—(AP.)—Means of halting rearmament in Germany and to maintain the independence of Austria were sought by the French cabinet today.

Disturbed by the statement of Count de Broqueville, premier of Belgium, that rearming of the reich could only be prevented by war, colleagues quizzed Louis Barthou, foreign minister, for more than two hours.

After the meeting, Premier Gaston Doumergue and Barthou summoned the superior council of national defense, including army, navy and air chiefs, to study the latest British disarmament suggestions with a view of rejection unless France's protection against Hitler is guaranteed.

The French are also holding out for provisions to punish violators of any arms limitations treaties.

NAZIS PROTEST N. Y. 'TRIAL' OF HITLER

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—A protest was made by the German embassy against the mock trial held in New York City last night in which Adolph Hitler, German chancellor, was found guilty of "crimes against civilization," but the State Department declined to interfere.

Ambassador Hans Luther called at the State Department when the trial was first announced and protested it as an attack on the head of a friendly government.

The State Department declined to interfere because of the purely private character of the trial and because it considered any interference would be against traditional American freedom of speech.

William Phillips, undersecretary of state, said today neither the United States government nor any responsible government official was in any way connected with the trial.

Individuals and organizations with no official connections were the sponsor, he added.

"The case of civilization against Hitlerism" was prosecuted by 20 witness-prosecutors, including former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and Samuel Seabury.

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP.)—Hitlerism has had its hour in "court," and the verdict of a 20,000-person jury is:

"Guilty!"

Twenty witnesses testified last night in "the case of civilization against Hitlerism" at the Madison Square Garden rally, and their testimony was a blistering denunciation of Nazism and Hitlerism. At the end, the "verdict," read by Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland and loudly cheered by the crowd that packed the Garden, was:

"We declare that the Hitler government is compelling the German people to turn back from civilization to an antiquated and barbarous despotism which menaces the progress of mankind toward peace and freedom, and is a present threat against civilized life throughout the world."

It was not in a true sense a trial, for the defense was not represented. The rally functioned more as a grand jury, the audience listening to a score of speakers ("witnesses"), including Senator Tydings, Mayor LaGuardia, Alfred E. Smith and others, with Samuel Seabury summing up the case "for civilization."

SPONSORED BY JEWS

The meeting was sponsored by about 50 Jewish organizations, one purpose of which was to raise funds for relief of Jews driven from Germany. It was explained that the absence of a defense for Hitlerism was due to the failure of the German ambassador, Hans Luther, to acknowledge their invitation to address the meeting.

A point that most speakers stressed was that the indictment was against Adolf Hitler and Hitlerism, and not against the German people.

PLEAD FOR TOLERANCE

Said Senator Tydings:

"Those who attend this gathering symbolize the thoughts and impulses of milions of our countrymen who are absent in body but with us in spirit. They, like ourselves, seek to raise before the eyes of the world the torch of tolerance to guide a world already sick from the excesses, the greed and the blindness of mankind."

Former Gov. Al Smith warned that intolerance is not peculiar to Germany. He said:

"We, too, have people who don't like Jews or Catholics—and some who don't like anybody."

BUY MORE AUTOS HITLER URGES

BERLIN, March 8.—(AP.)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler turned a regular go-getter auto salesman for an hour today, telling the nation to become as motor-minded as the United States "with its 25,000,000 cars."

Opening the International German Automobile Show, he accused the nation of backwardness in regard to cars and invoked all his spell-binding ability in behalf of the German motor car industry. He said:

"Let's get over the idea that cars are luxuries. In comparison with other countries we ought to have 6,000,000 cars—not a mere 500,000. Only when the German auto industry achieves mass sales at home can it compete abroad."

Then, vehemently, he added:

German Beheaded For Killing of Nazi

LUEBECK, Germany, March 8—(INS)—Johannes Fick, 30, former member of the Reichsbanner, the now non-existent Republican armed guards organization, was executed by the axman today for stabbing to death a Nazi in July, 1932.

WHY...?

Such Becoming, Young-Looking Lines in These

HALF-SIZE DRESSES

We say . . . because they're designed by a man! And there's no denying—smallish women have a charm all their own! Stands to reason, doesn't it, that when a clever young man turns his hand to designing . . . and makes dresses for women who are five feet, or about five-feet-four, he's going to turn out something pretty special! Whatever the reason, these dresses DO bring out the special charm of small women.

AND because they're especially proportioned they rarely have to be altered. The sizes—16½ to 24½.

VARIETY SHOW -:- Eddie Craven -:- ON AIR

Miss Parker Vallee's Guest

Dorothy Parker, who made a decided hit when she appeared with Alexander Woollcott some weeks ago, returns to the air tonight, over WCAE at 8 o'clock, as guest of Rudy Vallee.

Eddie Craven, Elizabeth Love and Millard Mitchell are among the young Broadway stars appearing on the Vallee program. Lee Wiley, the Avon Comedy Four and the Hall Johnson Singers complete the list of guests.

* * *

Admiral William H. Standley, chief of Bureau of Operations, U. S. N., discusses "The Navy and the New Deal," in a special broadcast over WJAS at 4:30 this afternoon.

* * *

"Butter Fingers," Irving Berlin's first 1934 song hit, is introduced by Rosemary Lane and Tom Waring during the Pennsylvanians' program on WJAS at 10 tonight.

* * *

HUGHES, FARLEY

Rupert Hughes is heard over WJAS at 8:30 this evening, as a feature of the Voice of America program.

* * *

Postmaster James A. Farley, speaking before the assembly of druggists in New York, is heard over KDKA at 10 p. m.

* * *

Lois Miller, organist, playing over KDKA this evening at 7:15, from the T. A. McGinley residence on Sewickley Heights, features "O, That We Two Were Maying," a composition of the Sewickley composer, Ethelbert Nevin.

* * *

Adele Starr, young radio contralto, sings on the Romantic Melodies program, heard over KDKA at 7:30 p. m.

* * *

WAR WHOOPS

Indian war whoops resound over WJAS at 5:45 this afternoon, during the dramatization of "Hidden Treasure," a Stamp Adventurers' program.

* * *

The South Hills Mask and Wig Club stage a radio play over KQV at 9 o'clock tonight.

* * *

How the local organization of Parent-Teacher Association functions, is revealed over KDKA at 4:15 this afternoon, when Mrs. C. D. Harnack interviews Mrs. B. F. Handloser.

* * *

According to Jess Kaufman, who ought to know (he's general manager of WCAE) Eddie Cantor and Rubinoff will not feed their Sunday night program to the network from Pittsburgh, during their sojourn here.

They will go back to New York for the broadcast.

Tattooed Lady

Latest photo of Dorothy Parker, America's "Smartest" poet, who has started a new fad for tattooing among our intellectuals. Miss Parker is heard over WCAE tonight at 8, with Rudy Vallee.

What Makes Air Waves Salty?

By AIRCASTER

Tuesday night, a KDKA drama had her standing at the deep-water end of a pirate ship plank, in a 15-minute speech, then a plunge into briny oblivion.

Try balancing yourself on the far end of a narrow plank extending out over the rail of a lurching pirate lugger for 15 seconds!

On second thought, YON try it, Lyn Morrow. Then you'll know the answer to that question.

* * *

"That question" is the one with which Lyn invariably greets me when he phones me from his publicity office at the pie-and-ear station:

"Hello, Sailor! What makes the sea salty?"

Well, according to Grimm or Hans Andersen or sump'n, an old man who lived beside the beautiful, blue, fresh-water sea, invented a salt-making machine.

He got it to working, all right, but he couldn't get it stopped. And it kept on grinding out salt until it made the whole sea briny.

And even legendary history repeats itself.

Not one man, but many, advertised salts over the radio until the whole air became salt-saturated.

* * *

NONSENSE RELISHED

Ford Miller's noonday program of nonsense at WCAE would be even more hilarious if the performers laughed a little less, themselves. Straight-face comedy would make a good program much better.

The smaller stations have the edge on the big ones in scheduling organ music several times a day. Never offensive, almost always delightful, it draws the listeners away from tin-can jazz and droning small-talk.

If organs aren't available, the best organ music is, on phonograph records.

* * *

"The stations have been mighty good to me since I've been in the Smoky City. They've sent me some of the best talent, for these hyah shows, it's ever been my pleasure to meet up with.

"Yowsa, even (naming a station that uses a flock of phonograph records) even XYZ sent me down its best record." And the Maestro held a record up for the audience to see.

Martial Law Looms In Spanish Strike

MADRID, March 8.—(INS.)—Already under a "state of alarm," Spain today faced the possibility of being placed under martial law tomorrow when newspaper workers and those of other industries are scheduled to go on strike, augmenting the present critical situation.

The "state of alarm," only slightly less stringent than martial law itself, was decreed as 40,000 building industry workers walked out in Madrid.

Film Director Sued By Writer-Wife

LOS ANGELES, March 8.—(AP.)—Frances Phillips Tansey, writer, had filed suit for divorce here today against John Tansey, film director, charging his cruelty so impaired her health she was unable to continue to earn a living by writing.

Man's Will Leaves Estate to Wife

Air Pilot Rescues Injured Trapper

TELEGRAPH CREEK, B. C., March 8.—(AP.)—Using a telegraph code he learned in the World War, Williams Scott, a trapper, brought an airplane party to his relief and was recovering in a hospital here today from loss of blood resulting from a cut foot.

Scott cut his foot while chopping firewood near his cabin in Northern British Columbia. He painfully made his way through rain and slush to a refuge cabin five miles distant on the Yukon Telegraph Line.

Sally Lands Her Man

I KNOW WHY JIM DOESN'T CALL BUT I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT.
MY DEAR, IT'S EASY TO KEEP BREATH SWEET. JUST DO WHAT MY DOCTOR HAD ME DO.
BiSoDoL PLEASE
HELLO, SALLY... STILL LOVELY. HOW ABOUT DINNER AND A DANCE TONIGHT?
WONDER HOW SHE GOT RID OF THAT AWFUL BREATH!
JUST ONE MORE KISS - DARLING

Get Rid of Bad Breath at Its Source . . . Keep Breath Sweet 24 Hours a Day . . . Way Doctors Advise

Don't fool yourself into believing that you are secure simply because a rinse or gargle with a mouthwash leaves your mouth tingling with a clean, pleasant taste.

To get rid of bad breath and taste you must get at the root of the trouble. That's in your stomach if you're an average person. Excess acids ferment foods, form obnoxious gases that rise up into the mouth and cause embarrassment.

So naturally the easiest, surest way to get relief is to get at the root of the trouble. Doctors advise a teaspoonful of BiSoDoL in water morning and night.

This pleasant-tasting blend of six valuable digestive remedies works wonders. It swiftly neutralizes excess acids, soothes and heals the inflamed mucous membranes. And keeps your stomach so settled and sweet that you are sure of waking up in the morning with a clean, pleasant taste and certain of having a sweet, inconspicuous breath all day!

Don't forget that your breath is only as sweet as your stomach and nothing can keep the stomach any sweeter than BiSoDoL. Try it. Also when you have indigestion, gas, heartburn or any other distressing acid trouble take BiSoDoL. It's the improved, quicker acting way to get rid of pain and discomfort that doctors have used for many years with remarkable success. All druggists sell it for only 25c a package.

MEN, TOO, TALK ABOUT CLOTHES AND Fintex GIVES MEN CLOTHES TO TALK ABOUT!

Every man knows women are not the only Americans alive to fashion. You can tell by your own feeling of well-being—when you put on a becoming, well-cut Suit or Topcoat—that it pays to be "clothes-conscious" these days.

ESPECIALLY now that Fintex gives you Suits and Topcoats styled by the great international Style Authority—Major Charles Hugh Tebay—you'll find it worth while to look into these values.

Almost every hour our Salesmen are being asked—"How can Fintex do it?" And you are likely to ask the same question yourself, when you see Fintex styles and materials for Spring! Compare the tailoring—the superb finish, the linings and other details!

And—if you believe some woman is a better judge of style than you are — invite her to come with you to see these new Fintex Clothes. We're proud to show them to the best clothes judges!

THE FINTEX "DUO"—DOUBLE-BREASTED SUIT in handsome new weaves. Styled by Tebay—in the new Spring greys, browns, and the always correct navy and oxford.

THE FINTEX BALCOTE—A raglan-shouldered Topcoat with easy swing and smart proportions—Tebay-styled in effective rough fabrics, including homespuns, and cricket cloths.

FINTEX artists, designers, cutters, tailors . . . have cooperated with Major Tebay to make sure that the smart "London look" carries through all Fintex models. A man may be short or tall, slim or stout, and still find plenty of well-proportioned clothes for choice, in any of the Fintex styles.

Since Fintex style starts with the fabric, we had the Major specify materials, as well as designs.

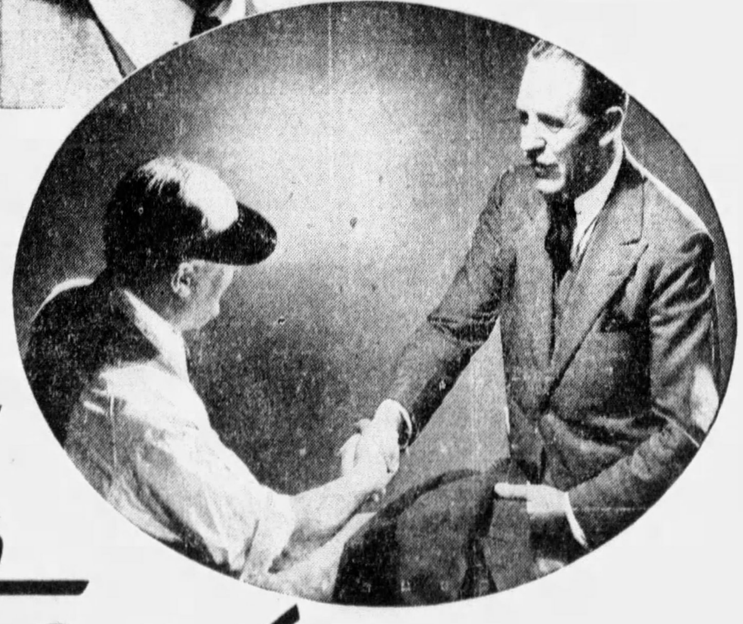
MEN'S STYLE EXPERT—Major Charles Hugh Tebay, former British Soldier, sportsman, traveller, is now creating Fintex styles. Major Tebay comes to Fintex after seven years with the famous London tailoring establishment of Burberry, Ltd. The Major's background and training enable him to design men's clothes that look well, fit well, wear well.



"CONGRATULATIONS!" exclaimed the Major to John Sanborn in the Fintex plant "I know that men will like the way each detail has been carried out to improve fit and finish in these new Fintex Suits and Topcoats for Spring."

GLOBE TROTTING

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

The weatherman's indecision will drive him to distraction. Maybe he's there already and hence the following:

But I just took another look—
The orchard's full of snow.

"Do we still take jig saw puzzles for the hospitals?" asks Mrs. Helen Leach, Columbus avenue.

Do we? I'll say we do. That Sun-Telegraph truck will be over for them and deliver them to the Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall.

Any more customers?

Ila Townsend has a story about a butterfly. She found it in the basement of her home in Lawrenceville. She keeps it in a box, but regularly releases it to stretch its wings. She hopes to keep it alive until warmweather definitely is here, but doesn't know what to feed it.

Well, what do you feed butterflies?

* * *

You can't just take a letter that describes the pitiful plight of some human and toss it in a waste basket. On the other hand it is so impossible many times to do anything to alleviate the suffering.

When it comes to crutches, artificial limbs and eyes and the like, relief can, and is, granted, but when it comes to money—well, that's a different thing.

Someone writes that he needs a hundred dollars right away. I don't know what can be done about it.

Frail, Delicate Girls

NO need for girls or women to suffer every month from periodic pains, drains, headache or sideache. In girlhood nothing is so good to build up and sustain as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is what Miss Edna Hertig of 1217 Silliman Ave., Erie, Pa., says: "I became so rundown from periodic suffering, mother advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Pains in my back were unbearable followed by cramps and bearing pains, and I felt weak and lifeless. This misery soon disappeared after I started to take the 'Prescription.'"

STOP THAT COLD TODAY!
Tomorrow May Make It Twice as Difficult to Relieve!
The time to stop a cold is before it gets started! A cold once rooted is a cold of danger! Don't waste your time and run the risk of serious complications by using makeshift methods.
Remember, a cold is an internal infection and, as such, calls for internal treatment. A cold also calls for a COLD remedy and not a preparation good for a number of other things besides colds.
Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct. It is complete in effect, it does the four things necessary. First, it opens the bowels, gently but thoroughly. Second, it combats the cold germs in the system and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack. Anything less than that is taking chances.
Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is absolutely safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula always keeping pace with Modern Medicine.
Every druggist sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, 30c and 50c. Good druggists won't try to talk you into a substitute for the sake of a few pennies extra profit.
When you feel a cold coming on, get busy at once. Go right to your druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L B Q stamped on every tablet.

Walter Winchell + ON BROADWAY +

If I Were Walter Winchell

(A symposium written by many readers)

I would continue to defend the victims of dirty deals—using printer's ink to blacken the eyes of sneak thieves who operate just within the law (but not the law of averages)—and I'd point the finger of scorn and ridicule a little oftener at those monopolistic utilities that have the Indian sign on John Citizen—because they control necessities.

I wouldn't stay up so late on Saturday nights and I'd sleep longer Sunday mornings—so that when I went to the microphones—I'd feel brisk . . . And by having more rest I wouldn't risk laryngitis—which may be hard on the speaker—but it is harder on the listeners, who suffers with you on every rasp. And I'd do more kidding on the air—although very few others are like Bernie, who can be kidded.

And when unimportant detractors yap at my heels, I wouldn't Take It So Big . . . I would remember how much type I have flung at people and how little harm it has done those who didn't deserve it . . . I wouldn't Ouch so loud when a slug of printer's ink came my way—but I'd roll with every punch . . . For, after all—all they're after—is that mention in your column, no matter whether it's a kick or a kiss.

I wouldn't pay that much attention to imitators, either. The average reader is no dope—he knows an imitation when he comes across it. Besides you come out almost daily barking for the unemployed and help them get work—so—live and let live!

Once a year I'd pick out the most helpful contributor and treat him to a week in New York (if he's from out of town, that is) or take him to Hollywood, if he's from here, and show him the fascinating night places and other spots and then let him write a column on his adventures.

I'd give the females a treat occasionally, and try to be as far ahead on fashions as on the news. (All right, let your Girl Friday do it!)

And while I was about it—I'd do something about the United States wineries, that are shooting so much carbonated water into light still wines and labeling it "champagne"—because "Americans won't know the difference!"

I wouldn't brag about my scoops—because readers know when you have them—but I wouldn't stop pointing out constructive reforms.

I'd write more about Walda—and I wouldn't be so sensitive about what my critics said because I did so. Most of your critics are childless and wouldn't understand, anyway. Besides, you've written about her so much—many men and women are anxious to know how she is developing; and how she is growing up—and if she still is wearing little coats with "pussy feathers"—and all those tender baby things.

But I wouldn't publish a double-meaning gag—no matter how funny it is! . . . And I'd settle many an argument and publish a photo of "Izzy" Elinson, who certainly has served you well. And I would raise My Girl Friday's wages every week.

I wouldn't try to pose as the "bad boy" all the time—because even being bad is monotonous . . . I know it gives you what is supposed to be prestige by appearing hard-boiled—but the orchids are always more interesting than the scallions, any time. Because, I suppose, there are so few orchids given away in this or any world.

I'd continue helping obscure and unknown people—but I wouldn't be a sucker to fall for "professional" moochers . . . Once or twice you did so—and it made you look a little silly . . . On the radio I wouldn't go in for hot news so much as I'd play up human interest stories—about people . . . And when the President is criticized by Col. Lindbergh I wouldn't straddle the fence—I'd come out for the President.

I'd revive the "Recommended to Diversion Seekers" paragraph now and then—for it was a good stunt. You're an authority on show business and Broadway and the public believes you when you recommend the better plays, movies, books, recordings and current diversions. Besides it must help sell the products—so why don't you?

I'd do that "Night Press Rate" column more often. That's the trouble with you, anyway. You start something that has a breeze to it—and then drop it because YOU don't like it! Don't be like that!

I wouldn't take all the jobs I could get. Such as personal appearances. Or movies, etc. Too much labor is bound to lay anybody low—and a guy like you shouldn't think of himself first, anyhow. He should think of his wife and family and other dependents. And you'll never scoop the Man With the Scythe. So face your age—don't age your face!

I'd keep on ignoring Hollywood parties and New York cocktail affairs and teas—because the hosts merely want you there to curry favors—and they really don't want you or any reporter who prints what he likes—and what he dislikes.

I'd always kid the items in the "Things I Never Knew" column because that's what makes it readable to those who knew all along.

I'd do more of those "If I Had Aladdin's Lamp" columns. Because it reveals considerable about you—that is bound to win favor. Gossip and even news wins circulation, but hardly friends.

And every now and then when I felt my hat was getting too tight I'd go to the top of the Empire State edifice and look at the stars—just to remind myself that I wasn't important, at all—and that nothing down here is as important as up there.

Of course, if I were Walter Winchell, I wouldn't be wasting all this time. Instead I would remember that free advice like the above is the easiest thing in the world to give and the hardest to take.

Bridal Pair Get Jobs in Same Film

HOLLYWOOD, March 6.—Charles Boyer and Pat Patterson, whose spectacular marriage recently surprised Hollywood, will have a nice opportunity to get better acquainted. The French star and the pretty English girl, under contract to Fox, had known each other only three weeks before they married.

Now they will work together and be exhibited as the movies' most impetuous marriers in "By Royal Command." Boyer already had been assigned to the film, a gypsy romance to be produced by the newly imported Erik Charel. His wedding scene suggested an interesting leading woman. Especially since Mrs. Boyer has made such a favorable impression in previews of her first picture, "Bottoms Up."

* * *

Dolores Del Rio finally is coming into her own. Warners have signed her to make three pictures a year. The first will be "Du Barry," film originally scheduled for Kay Francis. Dolores, who used to play nothing but tormented daughters of the backwoods, suddenly has changed her type, and with it, her luck. "Flying Down to Rio" made for Radio, and more recently "Wonder Bar" revealed a new Del Rio. Warners will feature her stunnning personality and her ability to carry clothes. "Madame Du Barry," re-

Adolphe Menjou and Miriam season of queens and royal pets, will be described in a play by Edward Chodorov. William Dieterle will direct it.

Adophe Menjou and Miriam Hopkins are expected to play the leading roles in Gregory Ratoff's "I Loved an Actress," which will be produced by Charles Rogers. Ratoff wrote the story with authority, being the loving husband of Actress Eugenie Leontovich. He had hoped to play in it, just as a relief from the routine of impersonating producers.

James Dunn and Sally Eilers are to be reunited. Since Sally grew peevish over the greater prominence of Jimmy's roles, that young Irish hero has been devoting himself to little Claire Trevor, while Sally sulked in the modest Westerns. Her little spanking having been administered and having had its effect, Miss Eilers graciously returns to her old spot opposite Jimmy in "Going Straight." The story is being written especially for them, and Harry Lachman will direct.

The movies' dizzy system of putting singers in non-musical melodrama and dramatic actors in musical comedy is about to be jolted. Radio Pictures will feature its gifted singer, Irene Dunn, as an actual singing star. Irene, who first won fame in Broadway operetta, sang in "Stingaree." The studio remembered she was a singer. She will be starred, henceforth, in stories which feature her stunning voice. Max Steiner has written an operetta for her which will be tried out in New York before Radio films it.

Ann Sothern, who was called Harriet Lake when she decorated the Broadway stage, will play the lead in Columbia's film version of "The Party's Over." This comedy of suburban life also will feature Stuart Erwin and William Bakewell. Miss Sothern recently made her movie debut in "Let's Fall in Love," you remember, accomplishing in the remarkable feat of speaking in several accents and dancing a Swedish dance in six petticoats. "The Party's Over" will provide her with a different type role. Columbia expects her to develop a big following.

* * *

While scouts frantically scurry around looking for a man thin enough to appear in "The Thin Man," that Dashiel Hammett best-seller is being delayed. Director W. S. Van Dyke is shifting his schedule and will make "Manhattan Melodrama" first. William Powell and Myrna Loy will support the great Gable in the later feature, his first since he returned from a personal appearance tour.

Canyon Trail Narrow

Harold Lloyd was telling about a recent trip to the Grand Canyon. The comedian and Roy Brooks, one of his staff, were making the trip by mule-back to the floor of the Canyon. Harold's mount hugged the wall of the precipice, but Roy's teetered casually along on the outer edge.

As they rounded a sharp bend, there came a clear view of the awesome chasm, a sheer drop of thousands of feet. Harold, who was riding ahead, exclaimed at the beauty of the scene.

Interpretation of Poem Event Tomorrow

An interpretation in choral verse speaking and eurhythmic movement of "The Land," a poem by Virginia Sackville West, will be given in the Byron King School of Oratory, Grimes avenue and Zara street, Knoxville, at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night. The choral verse speaking is under the direction of Mrs. Byron King and the eurhythmic movement under the direction of F. Karen Dillig.

Woodman Thompson Drops In From Broadway

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Woodman Thompson has been in town, flitting to and fro, and trying to get his business done before he is drowned in a torrent of teas. Woodman Thompson is one of the best-known figures on Broadway, just as the Thompson family was one of the best-known in early Pittsburgh history—there is even a run named in their honor! Since Woodman Thompson left Tech Drama School, where he was instructor in design for seven or eight years, he has built and supervised 45 major productions put on by the best-known New York managers beginning with David Belasco and Winthrop Ames. His last important work was the "Romeo and Juliet" settings for Katharine Cornell—and I believe he also built her "Candida." Before that, his designs for "The Warrior's Husband" were acclaimed as distinctive and impressive, and it is worth while remembering that this production furnished the background from which Katherine Hepburn emerged into stardom.

Mr. Seibel

Woodman Thompson has ideas of his own about stage and drama. If there were any designers from whom he caught inspiration, they were Appia and Gordon Craig. But Thompson is not a faddist—not a man of one idea. He reaches over into the wider ranges of production in which Reinhardt and Stanislavski are supreme.

FIRST GLIMPSE OF W. T.

My first glimpse of Woodman Thompson came under somewhat humorous circumstances. There was an organization in Pittsburgh called the Philodramatists. It was the precursor of our Drama League. It dined regularly and heard talks by chorus girls who had risen from the rank of stars. At one of these dinners—should it be called a "function?"—the Philodramatists had arranged a little interlude like Shaw's scene with the critics in "Fanny's First Play."

When this interlude was presented I found I was among those being impersonated on the stage. And the impersonater was a young man named Woodman Thompson. It was such a good Sidney Carton stunt that I decided if ever I should be led to execution, I might engage Woodman Thompson to double for me.

It is an interesting and enjoyable experience to see yourself as others see you. But I am still harboring revengeful thoughts and some day I expect to impersonate Woodman Thompson.

HIS FIRST STAGE SET

Out at the Tech Drama School, which will celebrate its twentieth anniversary in a few weeks, they have discovered the first stage setting ever designed by Woodman Thompson and actually built.

It was the setting for Shakespeare's "Two Gentlemen of Verona" which was produced in the Tech Little Theater under direction of Donald Robertson. Tech has produced probably 100 important plays since then, including many of Shakespeare's, but into none of them has gone more devoted and enthusiastic work than that first flight.

Woodman Thompson need not be ashamed of that setting. It shows the same gifts of practical adaptation which made his "Merchant of Venice" designs for George Arliss remarkable.

Since Thompson has been designing for the commercial theater, he finds he has had three obstacles to contend with. The first is managers who are more concerned about real estate than art. The second is actresses who want to dress as they like, not as the play requires. The third is business men who want to stage a production as cheaply as possible from bargain basements.

Despite all obstacles, Woodman Thompson marches on. And he thinks the theater has a great renaissance around the corner.

Miss Lee Entertained In Hospital

Six months married to Marshall Duffield, Dorothy Lee recently went to the Hollywood Hospital suffering from arthritis in her back. The little star returned to Hollywood from New York ill, but went later to Denver to make personal appearances. She was back in Hollywood only a few days when the attack laid her up.

Thanks to Duffield and to her screen partners, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, her sixth month "anniversary" wasn't so dull after all. Bert and Bob went up to the hospital and did an act for her and her husband showed up yith a portable radio shaped like a football, a doll that walks on a crutch and a half-dozen smaller dolls dressed like nurses and doctors.

Odds and Ends

EDMUNDO was a barber. For 29 years he shaved and slaved. For 29 years he smacked hot towels and juggled dull razors over thousands of helpless maps. He was out to carve a career for himself, as Hy Goldstein says, and he didn't care whose face he used.

He talked, slept, dreamed and lived barberism. And then one day, it happened. One day last week.

Edmundo stepped out for a bite to eat, turned to hiss at a safety razor advertisement and walked into the path of a lady driver. A barber-buddy saw the accident and carried poor Edmundo back into the shop. They put in a hurry call for an ambulance, lifted the injured man upon his pet chair and tried to bring him to. But it was no go.

The manicurists worked over him. The bootblacks tried frantically to uncover signs of life. The manager talked into his ear, as usual, but nothing happened.

A doctor in the building, looking him over at a glance, said he thought Edmundo was dead. He felt his pulse, but there was no perceptible throb. If the heart was beating, it was in waltz time. The doctor tried the eyelid test, and again pronounced him dead.

Then the ambulance arrived, and the young interne ran in with his satchel.

"He's dead," chorused the barbers.

"He was a nice guy," wailed the manicurists.

But the young doctor wasn't listening to them. He was going to satisfy himself about the case. He pointed to a mirror.

"Let me have that," he ordered. And the mirror was hastily handed to him.

He walked over to Edmundo and held the mirror in front of the barber's mouth. It was the final test of life. Suddenly, the barber sighed. His eyes opened. They peered into the mirror, and he sighed:

"Once over, please," he muttered. . . .

If you missed the broadcast of the recent Carnera-Loughran fight, you might be interested in something that happened. After some interesting announcing by Sam Taub and Angelo Pelangi, the fight came to a conclusion and the boys leaped in the ring for microphone statements from the fighters, the managers and the seconds.

A few of the remarks were none too gentle. Loughran's workers charged Carnera with foul tactics in winning, and one of them intimated in broad fashion that the referee was a dear friend of Carnera. And after the hooey on both sides had been spread about very thickly, Loughran stepped up and spoke very quietly.

"Ladies and gentlemen," was all he said, "the better man won. . . .

THE genial Abner Silver is very happy that the depression is almost over in the theatrical field. Things were so bad for awhile, he remembers, that two of the Singer midgets tried to get into orphan asylums! . . .

HERE in New York we are permitted to gaze upon one of the most amazing acts in police history. I refer to the case of Johnny Broderick, who was recently demoted as a first-grade detective and is now pounding the Brooklyn pavements as a patrolman.

Things like this startle me, and I am not exactly what you might term a naive guy. Because of his fearlessness and his great detective work in several famous cases, Broderick sprang into something that very closely resembled national fame. And he deserved it.

There never was a harder working guy on any police force, and there never was a man more feared by the underworld. His gameness is unquestioned, and his record is a complete fulfillment of duty all along the line. And for this, because a new administration steps in, Broderick is given the job of pounding pavements.

I don't understand these things, but I guess that maybe Broderick was too good. If he had solved the Wall street explosion or the Lindbergh kidnaping, I suppose they would have kicked him off the force altogether. . . .

I REFUSE to vouch for the age of the tale, but it comes from Irving Spector, of Rochester, and concerns a young man who joined the musicians' union, purchased a saxophone outfit—and then visited the studio of a saxophone teacher.

"How long," inquired the youth, "would it take you to teach me to play this saxophone?"

"Well," returned the teacher cautiously, "I could do a fine job in about a year."

The young man started toward the door. A year was too long, he said. He'd have to try somewhere else.

"Just a moment," cried the teacher. "You seem very bright to me. I might be able to teach you everything in six months."

The youth hesitated, and the other man saw that he had still overshot the mark. These were bad days to be losing prospective pupils. He slapped the table.

"Better still," he went on, "I'll be perfectly frank with you. If you'll work diligently and study hard, I'll promise to have you playing that saxophone within three months."

The young man rubbed his chin.

"If that's the best that can be done," he said nervously, "I'm in a terrible hole. I've already got a job booked for next Thursday night!" . . .

Canon to Conduct Lenten Services

Canon Edwin H. Wilson, of Trinity Cathedral, will conduct Lenten services to be held in the Allegheny Y. M. C. A. at 8 p. m. tonight. The meeting is one of a series of forums arranged at the Allegheny Branch for the Lenten season.

Anderson, Opera Star, In Mosque Friday

Arthur Anderson will return to Pittsburgh, in the midst of a busy season at the Metropolitan Opera, to appear as soloist with the National Symphony Orchestra in Syria Mosque tomorrow night, under the baton of Hans Kindler. Mr. Anderson made his Metropolitan debut two years ago in the role of Donner in "Rheingold." He is a Pittsburgher, who sang here for five years in the choir of the Bellefield Presbyterian Church before going to Italy to study three and a half years. Tomorrow night he will sing, with orchestra accompaniment, "Non pieu andria," by Mozart; "Serenade Mephistopheles," by Berlioz, and "Wotan's Abschied," by Wagner. A Mozart Symphony, never before heard in Pittsburgh, "Cassation," will feature Mr. Kindler's program.

Al. Golden Is Named Variety Producer

Al Golden, musical comedy and vaudeville star, has been engaged by George Jaffe, manager of the Variety, as producer of the burlesque shows that will play in the Variety the rest of the season. Golden, who has come from New York, where he achieved considerable success as a musical comedy producer, in addition to having charge of all future shows, will be seen each week as a straightman in the coming attractions. "Running Wild," in two acts and 38 episodes, will open in the Variety with a Sunday midnight show. Three oriental dancers and a number of vaudeville acts will be seen in it.

Influenced by Movie, Girl Marries

Proof that pictures have an influence on persons seeing their own problems presented in a screen story is attested by a letter received by Dolores Del Rio. A girl in Newark, N. J., is overflowing with gratitude towards Dolores. Her family had promised her to one man and she was very much in love with another. She went to see "Flying Down to Rio," saw Dolores, in a similar situation, choose the man of her heart, and gained courage to do likewise. She has been cast off by her family, but stated she is very happy with the man she married.

Newman Group to Play 'Other Kingdom'

The Newman Players will present, as the third play of their current series "The Other Kingdom," by Madeleine Skelly Foust, all next week, opening March 12. It will be staged in the Cathedral High School auditorium, North Craig street. This is the ninth full length drama Mrs. Foust has written and the eighth to be produced. The author will portray the character of Leah, mother of Judas, as well as direct the production. Martin Fallon has the role of Judas, about whom the play centers. The cast also includes Viola Broskey, Mary Clancy, John McQuade, Michael Healy, Roy Henry Robert Freker, Donald Sanker and Jerome Jackson. Judas as a child will be played by 12-year-old Bobbie McQuade. Gerald A. Doran is technical director.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Catherine, The Great," a sympathetic cinema portrait of the woman who become empress of Russia, although a native of another land, and one of the conspicuous rulers of history, is the new attraction in the Fulton today. Elizabeth Bergner, young Viennese actress, plays the title role, the opposite part being in the hands of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Incidentally, another picture on the same subject, with Marlene Dietrich as its star, which also began as "Catherine The Great," has been retitled "The Scarlet Empress."

"Wonder Bar," spectacular musical drama, is to be held in the Stanley for another week, beginning Friday. Dick Powell is a featured singer in a cast including Al Jolson, Dolores del Rio, Ricardo Cortez, Kay Frances, Hugh Herbert, Guy Kibbee, Fifi Dorsay and Louise Fazenda.

The Y Playhous, Bellefield avenue, is rehearsing "The Taming of the Shrew," to be presented with modern treatment on the evenings of March 18 and 20. The plot will be unwound in an atmosphere of jazz, cocktails and country clubs, with the characters so up-to-date that they may be mistaken for big business men, young clubmen and equally young flappers and feminists, which is a sort of nickname for what used to be called suffragettes.

"Naked," Pirandello play is being rehearsed for production by the Civic Playhouse in the Hotel Schenley Theater March 27 and 28, will be under the direction of Herman Liveright. Mr. Liveright directed "The Circle," staged by the same group earlier in the season.

The department of drama, Carnegie Tech, is preparing for the celebration of Shakespeare's birthday, April 23, when the sixth evening performance of the second part of Shakespeare's "Henry IV," Tech's annual bow to the Bard of Avon, will be taking place. Incidentally, the date will be the twentieth anniversary of the first production of the drama department, which was opened in February, 1914, under Thomas Wood Stevens. The first play, directed by Donald Robertson, actor and manager, was "Two Gentlemen of Verona." In some of 20 years that Tech has been reviving a Shakespearean play in honor of the poet's birthday there have been two productions, hence "Henry IV Part Two" will be the twenty-third of his works given there, a sequence record not equalled elsewhere on this side of the Atlantic.

"Achtung," a play by Leslie Reade said to be based on the present form of German government, and to have been banned in London after it had opened in one theater and was to have been moved to a larger house, will be seen shortly in New York, perhaps with a changed title. Principals in the cast are Guy Bates Post, Effie Shannon, Owen Davis, Jr., Moffatt Johnston, Horace Braham and John Buckler.

Orchestras to Compete In Motor Square

A battle for the rhythmic supremacy of Pittsburgh will take place at a dance in Motor Square Garden Friday, March 16, when Marty Gregor's Gay Paree Orchestra, and Vern Stern's Savoy Orchestra, will vie in musical contest. Both orchestras are known to radio audiences, Gregor's being a KDKA feature, and Stern's being a WWSW band. There is said to be keen rivalry between these two popular musical units, hence a battle of jazz rhythm is expected.

South Hills Players Postpone Drama

The South Hills Community Players' production of "Berkley Square" will be presented next Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the Washington Public School, Mt. Lebanon. The play was to have opened last night, but illness in the cast caused postponement.

"WHY DON'T YOU DO WHAT THE REST OF THE GIRLS DO FOR 'REGULAR' PAIN?"

Lots of women still suffer each month when there is really no need to. It's just too bad for the girl who doesn't know she can keep her dates and keep comfortable. For painful periods, you need simply do this:

Watch the calendar. Just before your time, take a Midol tablet and drink a glass of water, and you may escape the expected pain entirely. If not, a second tablet should check it within seven to ten minutes. Midol helps the woman who has always had a very hard time. And the relief is lasting; two tablets see you through your worst day. Yet they contain no narcotic, nothing injurious. They're as harmless as the aspirin you take for an ordinary headache. But don't be fooled by ordinary pain tablets offered as a specific for "regular" pain! Midol is a special medicine, for this special purpose. Your druggist has it on the counter—or just ask for Midol.

MOTHERS...watch CHILD'S COLD

COMMON head colds often "settle" in throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take chances at the first sniffle rub on Children's Musterole once every hour for five hours.

Children's Musterole is just good old Musterole, only in milder form—bringing ease in five minutes, and relief in five hours as a rule.

It gets such marvelous results because it's NOT just a salve, but a "counter-irritant"—quick and helpful in drawing out pain and infection.

Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong

You are not likely to cure your constipation with salts, pills, tablets or any of the habit-forming cathartics. But you can safely relieve this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

THE LIQUID TEST:

First: select a properly prepared liquid laxative. Second: take the dose you find suited to your system. Third: gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving of their own accord.

Simple, isn't it? And it works! The right liquid laxative brings thorough bowel action without using force. An approved liquid laxative (one which is most widely used for both adults and children) is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, and perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna, a natural laxative; the dose can be measured, and the action thus regulated to suit your individual need.

If there are children in your household, don't give them any fad form of laxative, but use a healthful, helpful preparation like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Its very taste will tell you it is wholesome, and agreeable to the stomach. Delightful taste, and delightful action; there is no discomfort at the time, or after. Ask your druggist for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, all ready to take.

A Frank Statement Concerning Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

We believe the use of pills and tablets containing mineral drugs is rapidly giving way to gentle regulation of the bowels with a liquid laxative.

And we know it is a safe preparation for children and expectant mothers because it does not cause bowel strain or irritate the kidneys.

Two young East End folks were married in New York yesterday. The bride is only 19 and the bridegroom 24.

The young bride is Mary Louise Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. Harriet Sayers Mitchell, of Marlborough street, and the bridegroom, Richard Miles Dewhurst, Jr., son of Mrs. Margaret Hay Dewhurst, of South Aiken avenue.

They were married at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning in the Little Church Around the Corner, New York, with the rector, the Rev. Dr. Randolph Ray, officiating.

Mrs. Rea Judge at Palm Beach Costume Party

That event of events in Palm Beach, Fla., social life is the annual costume ball, given Tuesday night in the Everglades Club. And against the exotic background of the orange gardens the pageant of costumes was notably colorful.

A Sewickley woman, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, was one of the judges, viewing the costumes as their wearers passed by in the grand march. Also serving as judges are such notables in the social world of the East as Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, Mrs. Cecil M. Singer, Mrs. Thomas L. Chadbourne and A. Atwater Kent.

Informal Parties Honor March Visitors

Mrs. Don Fletcher, of Appalachia, Va., the former Marjorie Taylor, is in Pittsburgh for a short visit with her parents, the John T. Taylors, of St. James street.

And the Taylors also have as their guest their daughter's friend, Mrs. R. R. Parker, wife of Judge Parker, of Appalachia, Va. In honor of the visitors, several informal parties have been planned.

After a taste of social life in the capital, the junior Julian Kennedys are back home in Sewickley. On Saturday night the Kennedys shared honors at a dinner Henry Morgenthau, Jr., secretary of the treasury, and Mrs. Morgenthau, gave. Saturday afternoon Mrs. Kennedy was guest of honor at a luncheon Mrs. Arthur Rex Forbush, of Washington, gave.

Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Morgenthau and Mrs. Forbush have been friends since their girlhood, and Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Forbush were Vassar classmates.

Newman Players to Open 'Other Kingdom' Monday

The Newman Players of Pittsburgh will offer, as the third play of their series, Madeleine Skelly Foust's new work, "The Other Kingdom," for six performances the week of Monday, March 12. It will be staged in the Cathedral High School auditorium in North Craig street.

The play is a psychological study of the background and motives of Judas Iscariot. Mrs. Foust will portray the character of Leah, the mother of Judas, as well as direct the production.

St. Xavier's Alumnae Giving Bridge April 2

Dons Dress Worn By Grandmother For Nuptials

Miss Virginia Slease, niece of Miss Anna M. Slease, of Sheraden, became the bride of David A. Costine, of Wooster, Mass., in her aunt's home at 8 o'clock last evening.

Officiating was the Rev. John Van Horne of the Sheraden Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride wore her grandmother's 61-year-old wedding dress, made of white cashmere, with a basque bodice and bustle. In her hair she wore the flower wreath that her grandmother wore, too, and carried an old fashioned nosegay.

Miss Janet Slease was her sister's maid of honor, and wore light green starched chiffon and carried pink roses. Clyde Slease, brother of the bride, served as best man.

There was a buffet supper and reception for about 30 guests after the ceremony. Mr. Costine and his bride left for Delaware, O. They will make their home in Wooster.

Both attended Ohio Wesleyan where they first met, and the bride also attended Goucher.

Club to Give Pageant of Weddings

MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

"Wedding Ways of Other Days" is the rhyming designation which the New Kensington Woman's Club is giving its March 16 meeting which promises to be something quite out of the ordinary. It's to be given in the United Presbyterian Church in the evening and not at the usual afternoon meeting hour.

The program will be in the nature of a pageant arranged as a formal wedding, with ushers to conduct the guests to their seats in the decorated church. Music will not only be chosen for its appropriateness to the period of each gown, but will be played on instruments of the same periods—organ, melodeon, violin or pipe organ. Preceding the processional an orchestra will play and there will be fitting vocal numbers as well.

The gowns, which will be modelled by the juniors of the club, will date from the early 1850's to the present, and the bridal couples will include a Civil War bride and bridegroom and a World War bridal pair. Tables will hold wedding gifts of the various decades.

At the close of the pageant, the past presidents of the club, including Mrs. Joseph R. Alter, Mrs. W. Riley Alter, Mrs. G. T. Lamon, Mrs. B. H. Thompson, Mrs. Charles R. Alter, Mrs. J. M. Steim, Mrs. H. G. B. Durbin, Mrs. Joseph F. Murphy and Mrs. R. V. Hartman, will receive the guests.

Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Supper Meeting Mar. 13

The monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh Alumnae Association of the Pi Beta Phi Fraternity will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Ward Tillotson, South Murtland avenue, on the evening of March 13. Supper will be served at 7 o'clock. Miss Arvella Weisal, of WCAE, will speak and Mrs. Carolyn Hunt Mahaffey will sing.

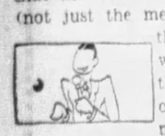
Through the Spyglass

VIEWING THE NEW

You little shoppers who want to learn the names of the shops whose items are listed in this column day by day . . . call GRANT 6500 . . . and ASK FOR THE SPYGLASS. Or send in a stamped self-addressed envelope for your reply. THE SPYGLASS is always on the alert, peering out new "finds" . . . and you will be answered promptly!

* * *

Being fully convinced by now that the way to everyone's heart (not just the men's) is through their tummies . . .



we have decided to devote this column of murmurings to our most recent finds in the for-pantry-shelves question! The first edible star in the epicure's sky being . . .

Creole Rice with Bacon! A tasty concoction that does justice to its Louisiana name! Little flecks of bacon throughout, add just that unable-to-equal flavor which sets one's taster aquiver! 25c the pound jar.

* * *

And speaking of the South . . . how does the thought of beaten biscuits appeal to you? Fat little ones . . . beaten to within an inch of their lives, cut into bridge designs, then packed into cellophane packages . . . 1 dozen to the package for 20c. Others . . . cheese beaten biscuits . . . come in round shapes, 1 dozen to the package, for the same price. And are they good! All the way from Alabama.

* * *

You can't do better than these specials for pantry shelves. They're being offered now at prices which will soon fade into never-never land. Therefore . . .

Mark this well! that there are beautiful pinky hams snoozing away in 2½-pound can . . . ready to open and slice for that mid-night supper. A well-known brand 85c. There is chicken a la king . . . great heavy chunks of meat done up in all the glory of "a la king" and selling, 10½-ounce cans, 2 for 75c (price it elsewhere and then gallop hither!) And there is the hotsy-totsy chili con carne, as Mexican as its name, going-going-gone to all of you with 29c . . . two cans for this price! A private stock of these, and you need fear no unexpected guests!

* * *

To us, raisins have always been merely something to put into rice puddings (nothing inspiring about it, is there?) But no longer!

Not since we've found that there are pickled raisins all jarred up and waiting to be bought for only 30c the jar . . . a delicious new relish, and particularly well suited to serving with ham! No longer just something that's "good for you" . . . they're raised to the elevation of goodies.

* * *

Suggestion for an Easter gift to the inveterate tea-drinker! Somewhere in this town there are ten little boxes of the finest tea ever grown (proudly bearing an old Chinese name which spells quality and exquisite flavor) . . . ten little boxes in gold paper, wrapped in cellophane and bearing this fragrant burden for only 50c! A nice way to assure yourself that your hostess or friends won't forget you . . . you'll be remembered every time they raise their steaming cups . . . that much at least!

* * *

Maybe you're clumsy souls like we are . . . and every time you carefully plant some caviar or "filler" in the center of an hors d'oeuvre wafer, some of it is bound to tumble off onto the rug! And if you're like us in this respect you'll welcome the news about the little cocktail cups . . . thinnest wafer-ish consistency, but in CUP shapes instead of flat like so many. No danger of anchovy paste flopping about when these are filled with it! 25c the box . . . two dozen to the box.

—DOROTHY RANDALL.

LIKES THOMPSON'S INEXPENSIVE SALADS

RUTH HAY SAYS: "THEY'RE ABSOLUTELY RAVISHING"

PERHAPS you've no idea how truly delicious a salad can be—in spite of its humble 10c or 15c price tag at Thompson's.

May we invite you to try—oh, say, just once? The Fresh Fruit Salad at a dime will amaze you. Really fresh oranges, bananas, seasoned with canned diced pineapple, and with Royal American and maraschino cherries. It will give you a new idea about inexpensive luncheons.

CONSTITUTION REVISION URGED BY JUDGE

(The need for a constitutional convention, pointed out by many state and local leaders during the last two months, is voiced again, this time by a prominent jurist who looks upon the 61-year-old constitution from a judicial viewpoint. This article is one of a series in the campaign of the Sun-Telegraph to reduce government costs through elimination of duplication in governmental services.)

There is a great need for a constitutional convention to modernize the constitution of 1874 to conform with the conditions of 1934, Common Pleas Court Judge Henry C. Niles, of York, Pa., declared in a public address delivered a few days ago in Philadelphia. Judge Niles, speaking on reforms in the system of the minor courts, urged immediate modernization of the constitution.

He said:

"Our institution of justices of the peace is as old as the original frame of government and the constitution of William Penn. It has been an important element in the development of the commonwealth. It would be rash to assert that even after the changes of 200 years the whole system should be abolished.

SEES COST CUT

"Having regard to our own experience and that of others an ideal arrangement to meet the requirements of this state would seem to be the establishment of local courts presided over by a justice of the peace, who should be a trained lawyer of good judgment, with adequate salary depending in no way upon the costs or fees.

"The civil jurisdiction might well be up to $500, with provision for appeal to the common pleas court upon bond for the costs, including sufficient to cover the costs of a jury trial, unless waived.

"His criminal jurisdiction would be in preliminary hearings as committing magistrate and regarding fines, penalties and summary convictions. One such court for every, say, 50,000 people would greatly facilitate business and reduce expenses."

URGES REFORM

He said:

"Any changes likely to reduce the number of elective officers and promote simplicity and economy of government will excite the opposition of profession spoilsmen. Pretending fealty to opposing party banners, in reality they have a common interest; secretly they are sure to act together against the general public. Usually they are successful in deluding their party dupes.

"The busy taxpayer, when buoyed on the flood tide of prosperity, is but mildly amused by such waste of public funds as comes to his attention. His mental attitude is now different. Every dollar at his disposal must now be wrung from a cruel fate.

"This is therefore an opportune time to urge consideration of what has become a critical condition and I would suggest that it be resolved that we favor the modernization of the constitution of 1874 to conform to the conditions of 1934 through a constitutional convention."

Credit Bureau Official Advocates Sales Tax

Cites Income Levy 'Leaks;' Praises 'Painless' Plan

The manufacturers' sales tax system unquestionably provides the finest spread of any tax system that has been proposed, according to C. Guy Ferguson, manager of the Pittsburgh Credit Bureau and secretary of the Retail Credit Men's Association of Pittsburgh. He said:

"Ninety per cent of the people evade the income tax in some way or another. Income taxation not only penalizes success, but is paid with reluctance, even resentment. Whereas under the manufacturers' sales tax, if a man has the money to spend he pays the tax in relatively painless fashion."

Mr. Ferguson's experience in credit and his many years of association with Bradstreet has convinced him of many serious disadvantages in the proper administration of income taxation, he said, adding:

"The cost of collecting income tax has increased at an alarming rate because every year business and professional men, with the aid of expert accountants and their own ingeniously devised methods of evasion, have heightened computation costs of both industry and government."

The cost of administering the manufacturers' sales tax would be nominal, Mr. Ferguson said, because each manufacturer at the end of the month would merely send the government the tax percentage of his sales.

Bank Losses Deductible In Tax

The Internal Revenue Commissioner has just ruled that losses by depositors in closed banks may be deducted from gross income in federal income tax returns—when certain conditions are met.

According to the ruling, such deposits are to be treated in the same manner as bad debts. It will be recalled from yesterday's article in this series that bad debts are deductible from income in the year in which they are determined to be worthless. Therefore, a deposit in a closed bank cannot be deducted until it can be shown that the claim is worthless or until it can be definitely learned how much is to be collected.

If a depositor later receives amounts from a closed bank which had previously been reported as a loss, they must be shown as income and a tax must be paid accordingly.

When a bank is in charge of a conservator for the purpose of reorganization and is being liquidated no determination can be made with respect to the worthlessness of the deposit.

When a statement is issued from a bank in process of liquidation, indicating the approximate per cent of the deposits to be paid, the depositor will be allowed a deduction of the amount of his deposit in excess of the amount to be received by him on final distribution.

It can be seen from this that depositors in a majority of the closed banks in Pittsburgh did not have sufficiently definite information about the status of their claims in 1933 for them to make deductions. It is quite possible, however, that they may determine the amount of their losses for tax purposes before the end of the present year and that they may show the losses on future returns.

In the case of stockholders in closed banks, the regulations stipulate that if a stock becomes worthless the cost may be deducted providing a satisfactory showing of worthlessness is made.

Any portion of an additional assessment paid by the stockholder in order to assist in the reorganization of a bank may not be deducted by the taxpayer but must be capitalized as additional costs of the stock.

U. S. Probes Slaying Of Youth by Arabs

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(Universal.)—Vigorous action in apprehending the slayers of Ray Fisher, Cincinnati youth, who was killed while canoeing on the Euphrates, was demanded of the Iraq authorities yesterday by this government.

George W. Renchard, charge d'affaires at Bagdad, was instructed to request prompt action. Fisher was killed by Arabs and a German youth with him in the canoe was fatally wounded.

Philadelphia Blaze Injures 10 Firemen

PHILADELPHIA, March 8.—(INS.)—Ten firemen were injured or burned and several others were overcome by smoke today when a four-alarm fire leveled the four-story wall paper plant of the D. Schultz Manufacturing Company in South Philadelphia.

Sixty firemen escaped injury and possible death when the front wall of the factory buckled and fell a few minutes after Fire Chief Ross Davis had ordered his men away from the section.

Earl Carroll Sued On Pirating Charge

LOS ANGELES, March 8.—(AP.)—Alleging piracy, George Rosener, author and playwright, of Laguna Beach, has filed suit for $100,000 damages against Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, and others.

Rosener said he wrote the play, "Grease Paint," in 1929, revised it under the name of "Murder to Music," and copyrighted it in 1931. He charged Carroll and his associates "appropriated" parts in the theme, plot, characters and sequences, gave the play the name of "Murder in the Vanities," now showing in New York.

CORPORATION EXPERTS TO AID CITY IN FINANCE TANGLE

HUNDREDS SEEK LAURELS FOR SPELLING

Sun-Telegraph Will Send County Champs To Harrisburg

Hundreds of persons in Allegheny County were entering their names today in the old-fashioned spelling bee sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Dr. C. E. Dickey, superintendent of county schools, who is in charge of the contest, said great enthusiasm is being shown for the contest. He added:

"We want everybody who is eligible to take part in the spelling bees, which are to be reminiscent of the days of long ago.

"We would like all the contests to be informal and wish everybody to have a good time."

Anyone not now in school or college as a student or teacher can enter the contest. Names of entrants should be sent to the nearest school principal.

'PRELIMS' NEXT WEEK

Preliminary contests will be held in the city's 12 high schools next week. High school principals will set the time of the contests in the next few days.

Contests also will be held next week in the 118 school districts outside Pittsburgh. These matches will be directed by the school principals and secretaries in charge of the districts.

To the county's champion speller and "runner-up" will go a trip to Harrisburg. The Sun-Telegraph will pay all expenses of the trip.

The winners for each high school and county district, Dr. Dickey said, must be chosen not later than Saturday, March 17.

All the preliminary winners will meet in Schenley High School Tuesday night, March 20, when Allegheny County's best speller will be picked.

The winner of this "spell-down" and an alternate will be sent to the capital to compete in the state finals on Wednesday, April 4.

WEBSTER TO RULE

Spelling in all bees is to be oral, while words will be defined at the request of contestants. Webster's International Dictionary will be the authority.

At each spelling bee two captains will be chosen, according to the rules. They will choose teams by drawing names of entrants from a hat.

Competition of the teams wil add a spirit of rivalry, Dr. Dickey explained, and add interest for the audience.

Three disinterested persons will act as judges and their decision will be final. They will act as final authority upon the pronunciation and meaning of words used in the contest.

The pronouncer will be chosen by the principal or secretary in charge of the contest and will have general control of the contest while in session.

POLITICAL RIFT IN STATE GROWING

G.O.P. and Democratic Leaders Facing Battles

By HARRY BERGMAN
International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, March 8.—Fresh ripples appeared today on the surface of Pennsylvania Republicanism, while the Democratic organization forces stood fast in their determination to resist insurgents within the ranks.

Widening cleavages were apparent in both political camps.

Republican equanimity was disturbed by a proposal that Mayor J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, enter the primary fight for the toga of United States Senator David A. Reed.

DEMOCRATIC RUMORS

Meanwhile, Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic organization leader, here for conferences with other party leaders, was busy smothering persistent rumors that a fissure has occurred in the officially indorsed slate of candidates.

The Moore senatorial proposal emanated from the mayor's predecessor, Former Mayor Harry A. Mackey, and because of its authorship it was open to the widely voiced intrepretation that the move may represent an effort to crack the conservative following of Reed in Eastern Pennsylvania.

Splitting of the Reed support would enhance the chances of Gov. Gifford Pinchot in his battle to rout Reed in the primary senatorial contest.

MACKEY'S STATUS

Mackey, it was pointed out, has been a Pinchot Republican ever since he broke with National Committeeman William S. Vare's organization in last November's municipal elections.

Another circumstance lending color to this intrepretation is the fact that Mackey had been in conference here with State Senator Frank J. Harris, of Pittsburgh, before he advanced the Moore proposal. As a matter of fact, Harris accompanied Mackey to Moore's office in city hall to urge the mayor to run for the senatorial nomination.

Moore has rejected the proposal he run for Senator, saying:

"I have nearly two years more to serve as Mayor and that is job enough for any one man."

Nevertheless it was conceded in many political quarters that Moore would not be averse to tossing his hat into the ring if sufficient pressure is brought to bear.

COUNCIL DEFIED ON STAGGER WORK PLAN

Civil Service Board Flatly Refuses to Change Rule

The Civil Service Commission, after a conference with Mayor McNair and a number of City Department heads, has refused to change its rule, as requested by Council.

The defiance came in a terse statement from Miss Julia Marie Doyle, president of the commission, made in the presence of the other two members, Fred W. Miner and Walter O. Beyer.

Miss Doyle said:

"We see no reason for any change in our present position. The rule stands as it is."

STAGGERING SOUGHT

Council had asked the commission to amend its rule to provide for staggering work among employes instead of dismissing members of the payroll.

Removal of the clause as asked by Council would end the provision that least meritorious employes be fired first.

The commission has also taken exception to a proposed amendment by Council to the 1934 appropriation bill which in effect would transfer the authority of making dismissals from department heads to Council. The commission has told Council such an amendment would completely abrogate the provision of the Civil Service Act.

McNAIR FIGHTS CHANGE

Mayor McNair has objected vigorously to the proposed taking over by Council of some of the authority of the executive branch of the city government. His objection is being strongly supported by his department heads.

Council remains fixed in its determination to stagger work rather than dismiss employes. It probably will try to accomplish its purpose by reducing payroll appropriations, but the directors will retain their authority over their departments.

BUDGET PARED

Council yesterday cut $350,000 out of the city budget, largely by accepting economies volunteered by department heads after studying Mrs. R. Templeton Smith's report. An increase of $250,000 will result, however, if a 10 per cent salary raise voted for employes receiving $1,500 or less is carried out, leaving a net saving of $100,000.

The budget remains $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 out of balance. It probably will be closed this week with Council counting as revenue the estimated receipts from the $2 meter tax, sure to be involved in lengthy litigation. Large borrowings through bond issues are also under consideration.

COUNCIL GIVES PERMISSION FOR SURVEY

Economy League Plan Follows Baltimore Procedure

Officials of the National Economy League are preparing to enlist large corporations in Pittsburgh in a campaign, patterned on the Baltimore plan, to help Pittsburgh out of its municipal financial difficulties.

Mayor McNair has forwarded to the league a Council resolution authorizing the survey.

The executive committee of the league last night accepted the invitation to make the survey, according to a letter written to Mayor McNair today. Requests are now being made to business and industrial organizations for their co-operation.

EFFICIENCY STAFF

The plan is to organize an efficiency staff from engineering and accounting groups of the corporations, and put them in city hall to find out if municipal business is being properly and economically handled.

In Baltimore the idea is credited with pulling that city out of a serious deficit between 1923 and 1927, and repeating the process in 1931. In both cases the survey was conducted during administrations of Mayor Howard B. Jackson, whose abilities greatly impressed Mayor McNair during a recent visit to Baltimore.

BUSINESS METHODS

Pittsburgh will have the advice of Maj. Ezra B. Whitman, chief engineer of the West Penn Power Company, who headed the commission which conducted the original Baltimore survey.

It is expected that considerably less time will be necessary for the work here because of the things learned at Baltimore. Summing up the idea of the survey, J. M. Williams, executive secretary of the Pittsburgh branch of the National Economy League, said:

"We expect to apply business methods to the city government."

TWO JOIN RACE FOR CONGRESS

CONGRESS

Thirty-third District—Walter Lincoln Bouve, Jr. (R.-I.), Fourteenth Ward.

STATE SENATE

LEGISLATURE

Second District—Stanley K. Kazorski (R.-D.), Tenth Ward; Edward T. Foster (R.-D.-I.), Second Ward; John Lardo (R.-D.), Second Ward.
Third District—J. H. Murphy (R.-D.), Fifteenth Ward; L. P. Keenan (D), Fifteenth Ward.
Fourth District—John R. Philbin (D.), Eighth Ward; Milton Watzman (D.), Fourth Ward.
Sixth District—Jerome T. Kornman (D.), Nineteenth Ward; William J. Lippincott (R.-D.-I.), Nineteenth Ward.

Thirteenth District—Charles P. Walter (R.), Harrison Township.

STATE COMMITTEE

CZECHS OF CITY HONOR MASARYK

Birthday cake was cut for more than 250 members of Czechoslovakian circles at their annual banquet, this year honoring the eighty-fourth birthday of President Thomas G. Masaryk, of Czechoslovakia, held in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. last night. Those present represented more than 100,000 Czechoslovakians living in this district.

The toastmaster, Attorney Edward O. Tabor, introduced speakers, including Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology; Consul Karel Brejska, representing the Czechs; Dr. Ivan Zeedik, representing the Carpatho-Russians, and the Rev. Jaraslov Pelikan, representing the Slovaks. All speakers emphasized that they saw Czchoslovakia as the hope of democracy in Europe.

Favors Salary Cut For Officeholders

Salaries paid to city and county officers would be reduced by legislative action if Charles E. Reed, candidate for the Legislature in the Seventh District, gets the opportunity to put his ideas into effect. All such salaries are too high, he thinks.

Reed, lifelong resident of the North Side, also favors sweatshop abolition, an end to child labor, liberal old age pensions, rigid safeguards for the bank depositor, revision of compensation laws and a reduction in the gasoline and drivers' license taxes.

Candidate Favors Relief for Debtors

A candidate for the Legislature in the Sixth District, Clarence E. Schroedel, Democrat, would relieve debtors through reduction in interest rates. He favors a comprehensive program of social legislation.

Dog Owners Fined In License Drive

Twenty-seven Bellevue residents were given $8.60 fines on charges of harboring unlicensed dogs at hearings before Justice of the Peace Elmer Greiner in the borough hall last night, according to police.

SHORT-LOOPING OF CARS HIT

A protest on the short-looping of street cars from the East End at Ninth street and Penn avenue has been referred to City Council by the Better Traffic Committee.

Petitions containing 10,000 names opposed to the short routing of the cars on lines 86, 88 and 95 during rush hours were presented to Council yesterday by a citizens' committee headed by Alderman Frank T. Holloran.

Speakers for the citizens' group urged that the cars be turned at Sixth street. Others who spoke for the change were Attorney Louis Dadowski, Jr.; Frank M. Shaughnessy, of the Homewood-Brushton Board of Trade; A. Patrick Flood, secretary of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce, and John A. Blair.

Fred C. Schatz, general manager of the Joseph Horne Company, suggested the relief of traffic congestion by the construction of a ramp from the Sixth Street Bridge to Stanwix street, making a section of Duquesne way a two-way thoroughfare.

Reed to Share Platform With Mrs. Pinchot

HARRISBURG, March 8.—(AP.)—Political foes of long standing, United States Senator David A. Reed and Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of the Governor, are to speak from the same platform in Harrisburg March 21.

Reed and Gov. Pinchot are candidates for United States Senator.

B. J. H. Douglas, chairman of the committee arranging for the March 21 and 22 convention of the Tax Justice League of Pennsylvania, announced yesterday that Mrs. Pinchot, Senator Reed and Judge Charles D. Copeland, of Westmoreland County, a Democratic candidate for Governor, have accepted invitations to speak.

Jobless Insurance Urged by Candidate

Charles C. Gray, 7328 Finance street, legislative candidate in the Fifth District, has a platform for state unemployment insurance, revision of old age pension regulations making 60 years the eligibility age, reduction in mortgage rates and strengthening amendments to the workmen's compensation laws.

He is a candidate in both the Democratic and Republican primaries.

Traffic Club Dinner Set for Tonight

The thirty-third annual dinner of the Traffic Club of Pittsburgh will be held in the William Penn Hotel tonight. Senator L. J. Dickinson, of Iowa, will be the principal speaker, followed by J. F. Deasy, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and Benjamin S. Thomas, general traffic manager of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company.

CITY TO HONOR KING ALBERT

A special day of mourning for King Albert of the Belgians has been proclaimed for Saturday by Mayor McNair.

A memorial service has been arranged for 10 a. m. Saturday at St. Paul's Cathedral. The Mayor urges that flags be displayed at half staff from sunrise until noon.

In his proclamation, the Mayor recalled the courageous conduct of the democratic monarch during the World War, and his visit to Pittsburgh in 1919.

Military organizations have been invited to participate in the memorial service. They are to report at Webster Hall before 9:30 a. m., where they will lead the procession to the Cathedral. Consuls of foreign countries will attend.

Among those arranging the service are Col. William R. Dunlap, Capt. Arthur Pasquier of the Belgian Army, Col. Eric F. Wood, Col. Samuel D. Foster, Lieut. Col. John H. Shenkel and Maj. C. F. Schisano.

Urges Co-operation In Fight on Crime

Richard Irvin, Knoxville, longtime Democrat, is a candidate for nomination to Congress in the Thirty-fourth District on a platform, one plank of which is federal and state co-operation for the control and punishment of crime. Irvin would have the government stay out of business, but would have regulation in the interest of the general public, making capital the "servant rather than the master" of the people.

Irvin pledges support to the measures being taken by President Roosevelt for economic rehabilitation, asserting that there can be no permanent prosperity until "those who created the wealth share in its blessing."

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

SANTA MONICA, Cal., March 8.

See where they caught two of the guards that got out of the jail with Dillinger. They had him surrounded in Chicago, but he robbed a bank in South Dakota that day, so they was right on his trail, just three states behind.

Will Rogers

They can't seem to agree on the Wall street control bill (Fletcher - Rayburn bill). What they ought to do with Wall street is like with the farmers. Say, "How much gambling did you do last year?"

"Well, this year we want you to cut it down to 75 thousand, and we will pay you 30 thousand for not betting the other 25."

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

War Always Has Come, 'Bugs' Tells Knickerbocker

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

The whole idea is to straighten out your borders by bending the other guy's.

Hubert's series is called, "Will War Come?"

Well, Hubert, it always has.

Every European nation has the same problem. Shall it fight a war to prevent a war? That means they are going in for double-headers.

That preventive thing is great. It's like a farmer burning his saplings so there won't be a forest fire when they grow big.

Mailman Quit Too Soon; Body Found in River

The body of Joseph M. Oglesby, 53, of 311 Kathleen street, Mt. Washington, taken from the Ohio River at Marietta, O., late yesterday, was brought here today for burial.

Oglesby, for 26 years a mail carrier on Mt. Washington, disappeared December 19, after leaving three letters and a note.

He lost his job when he inadvertently "retired" a year and a half too early last September 1, and had been despondent since learning his service in the Spanish-American and World Wars did not warrant him a pension under the postal employes' 30-year retirement plan, his wife, Mrs. Julia Oglesby, told police the day after his disappearance.

The family denied the poverty described in the note. It was said that Oglesby's stamp collection was appraised at several thousand dollars, and that he had the assurance of Congressman Henry L. Ellenbogen that he could return to his old route until the required service for pension was up.

Sheriff Dana Williams yesterday notified Lieut. Frank Ferris, of the homicide squad, of the finding of the body. Identification was obtained through cards in his clothing.

Bar's Probe of Judges Cloaked in Secrecy

Just how extensive the investigation into political activities of judges by the judiciary committee of the Allegheny County Bar Association remained a matter of speculation today.

That the judiciary committee is not prone to rush into any probe of the bench's political activity without carefully considering the methods to be pursued was indicated in a statement issued late yesterday by the committee following a closed meeting in the Bar Association's rooms, City-County Building.

The statement reads:

"The committee met and considered in detail the subject matter of the resolution of the Bar Association directing an investigation of political activities of the judges. No final course of action was decided upon. The committee is instituting an investigation but can give no publicity to its methods because having no authority over the judges in the conduct of their office nor influence except by suggestion or recommendation, the committee feels it should first consult the judges as to their views in this connection. Should any public hearings be decided upon, ample notice will be given thereof through the press."

Members of the judiciary committee who attended the meeting were William A. Challener, chairman; Frank J. Alexander, Robert A. Applegate, Joseph S. Rosenbaum, H. B. Blaxter, H. F. Baker and Charles A. Woods, Jr. Two of the members, M. W. Acheson and H. Stewart Dunn, were not present.

Attorney J. Garfield Houston, who presented the resolution directing the investigation at a meeting of the Bar Association last week, appeared before the committee yesterday. Houston made no comment when he came out of the meeting.

OFFICER HURT WHEN TRUCK HITS 'CYCLE

Motorcycle Patrolman Dominic Tambourino, 29, of 531 Chianti street, suffered bruises when his motorcycle was struck by a truck driven by Israel Haltman, 39, of 135 Trent street, at First avenue and Grant street last night, according to a police report.

Tambourino was treated at Mercy Hospital and taken home. Haltman was ordered to appear for a hearing in Traffic Court.

Howard Burkett, 34, of 226 Marland avenue, Carrick, was injured when his automobile, out of control, struck a tree in front of St. Michael's Cemetery, Eighteenth street extension. He was taken to Homeopathic Hospital.

Suffering a possible skull fracture when he fell from the back of a truck in Bingham street, near South Twenty-first street, late yesterday, George Wilder, 12, of 171 Mattisee street, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, police reported.

Struck by an automobile at North Lang avenue and Kedron street yesterday, Joseph Petha, 9, of 6639 Odessa place, suffered bruises which were treated at Pittsburgh Hospital, police said.

Driverless, an automobile owned by J. W. Tollis, of 8978 Eastwood road, backed down Upland street and crashed into the front of the butcher shop and grocery of C. R. Mitsch, at 1501 North Lang avenue, late yesterday, police said. Damage to the store was estimated at $75.

Joseph Melacki, 25, of 417 Yarrow way, was in West Penn Hospital today with a skull fracture, suffered when he was struck by an automobile at Liberty avenue and Edmond street last night. Mike Haberjak, 21, 316 Pacific avenue, McKeesport, alleged driver of the car, was arrested on a reckless driving charge, police said.

HUSBAND DROPS DIVORCE SUIT

Lacking funds to push a contested divorce action, Elliott J. Hanable, an employe of the City Public Works Department, yesterday was given permission to withdraw his suit against Lucille Hanable, 200 Cutler street.

Attorney Esther I. Katten, representing Mrs. Hanable, had presented a petition asking counsel fees and alimony, pending the outcome of the divorce action. The petition charged Hanable had admitted to his wife that he was infatuated with another woman.

Miss Katten disputed Hanable's claim of being unable to finance the divorce action. She filed a statement showing that since September 1 to February 4 he had drawn from $63 to $90 salary for each two-week period.

In his divorce suit Hanable charged indignities.

WOMAN, GIRLS HURT IN BLAST

Two school girls and a woman today were nursing cuts and bruises suffered when gas in the basement of the McFadden Pharmacy, 160 Southern avenue, Mt. Washington, exploded, shattering the windows and the glass in the show cases in the store, late yesterday.

The blast knocked Mrs. E. L. McFadden, 22, wife of the owner of the store, from the first floor to the cellar, police said. Bruised, she was treated by a physician.

The girls, Dolores Humphreys, 16, of 22 Simms street, and Dorothy Garrity, 15, of 20 Marne way, passing the store on their way home from school, were cut by glass blown into the street. Firemen estimated damage at $200.

Braddock Boy Hurt Running Into Auto

Robert J. Quinn, 8, of 415 Robinson street, Braddock, was in the Braddock General Hospital today with a probable fractured skull, suffered when he ran into the side of an automobile in Braddock avenue late yesterday, according to a hospital report.

Divorces have been granted to Elsie Koza from Charles A. Koza, John A. Neider from Alice Neider, Gertrude Ford from David C. Ford, Johanna C. Desiderio from Benedetto Desiderio, Florence E. Nolan from John L. Nolan and to William C. Hockenberry from Iva Hockenberry.

PILES

Reduced without surgery!

Suffer no more! Here's real relief at last for all forms of Piles—Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Protruding. Pazo Ointment does all the things necessary, in the manner necessary. First, it soothes—relieves the soreness and inflammation. Second, it heals—repairs the torn tissue. Third, it absorbs—dries up excess mucus and reduces the swollen blood vessels which are Piles.

In other words, Pazo doesn't merely relieve—it tends to correct the condition of Piles as a whole.

The method of application makes it doubly effective. Special Pile Pipe attached to tube enables you to apply ointment high up in the rectum where it will reach all affected parts. Thousands say Pazo is the only thing that ever gave them relief. Thousands say it saved them the need of an operation. Get Pazo today and suffer no longer.

FREE PORTS WIN ROOSEVELT

The President is quoted in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington as observing that where there have been free ports, allowing the entry of raw goods free of tariff duty where the manufactured article is to be returned to the country from which the raw materials came, the plan seems to have worked pretty well.

Mayor McNair said:

"That's my idea. The goods could be shipped to Pittsburgh by river and the manufactured products sent to foreign countries."

"Two things I wanted—

"I found out my trouble—

"...more strength and a clear skin."

It is well to remember that a probable reason why you do not have red lips, rosy cheeks, a clear skin, good health, energy and cheerfulness is that your blood is in a run-down condition. Lack of hemo-glo-bin, the red-coloring of the blood, may also cause a weakened condition of the body...loss of strength...poor appetite.

Neglect of diet, worry, overwork, colds or sickness, frequently break down and retard the natural development of the red-blood-cells and their oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin.

Why not set in motion the rebuilding of these precious blood-cells instead of procrastinating and sacrificing your appearance and the feeling of being well and fit?

If your condition suggests a tonic of this kind, try S.S.S. It is not just a so-called tonic but a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also having the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin of the blood. Unless your case is exceptional, you should soon notice a pick-up in your appetite...your color and skin should improve with increased strength and energy.

S.S.S. is truly a blood and body tonic. Its value has been proven by generations of use, as well as by modern scientific appraisal.

You will find S.S.S. at all drug stores in two sizes...the larger is more economical. © The S.S.S. Co.

"...and it was all so simple...my physician said I had no organic disease, but I did have what is so commonly and truthfully called a low percentage of hemo-glo-bin in the blood. It didn't take S.S.S. very long to get my blood back up to normal...and as my strength and energy returned my skin cleared up."

SPEAK UP, SISTERS!

Glances Into the Realms of Domesticity and Romance

By MARION BRUNOT

Brawn Not Unconquerable In Game of Hearts

JEALOUS OF AN ATHLETE. Are you?

And you have someone of whom to be jealous, believe me, Troublesome Hats.

That leading athlete in your school's stadium is sure some bugaboo in any other young fellow's path, where girls are concerned.

He can get them on his side any time he snaps his finger. Simply let him toss a ball out into the ring, and every one of their hearts goes faster. Let him give one of those left-hand flings of his, and all the feminine heads bob and all the female eyes glisten.

Will he go to her Sunday afternoon tea? Will he ask her to occupy the front seat of his flivver? These are leading questions in the school.

There is something about all women, no matter how young or how old they are, that answers to the call of the strong man. He stands for all the cave dweller ever chanced to be. Mastery is in his finger tips. Those biceps in his arms, when they swell to their abnormal size, better indeed, are they than all the "hot air" and all the fine clothes of the lesser youths.

What a cinch the burglar prowling around at night would be to him. How he could crush the mouse scampering about on the kitchen floor. In fact, Cupid to have made such a furore with the feminine gender of High Olympus must have had training in some athletic camp.

Dear Miss Brunot:

I am in a terrible fix. I love a girl immensely. But I don't think she cares for me. She seems to like best my boy friend who is an all-star on the sports end of our school. He is an athlete.

I try to show her I love her by taking her to the fraternity dances. She once asked me to write her notes. Is that a sign of love? I try to show her I love her. But I am so bashful.

TROUBLESOME HATS.

MUSCLES ADMIRED

Your hat mustn't fit you, Troublesome Hats. Why don't you save your pennies, and get a new one? Maybe the girl would like you better then. Or is that just a fancy name you have assumed for the time being? Oh, well, anyway, that is not the point. You want a recipe for winning the one and only girl. Here goes, my young man:

If I wanted that girl so very much, I wouldn't chose my deadly rival for my best friend. If I were a young man who made a big whoop in the history classes, maybe, but was no go in the sports' section of the school. I would stay away from the athletes when I was getting a foursome up for my best girl and perhaps her girl chum. I'd be afraid of that strong guy. Muscles are always popular with the fair sex. Anytime will they prefer seeing a strong man in action to all the dates in the history book.

Then, too, I am against that note-writing. The teachers are with me in that, too. Take the notes when the fair one sends them speeding to you. But don't answer them. Delay that answer until you see her in person. That will be a good excuse for another date.

WAYS TO WIN

There are ways to win in love, even over the Strong One. Being an athlete, and playing in all the school sports, he is a busier young man than you. So make hay while the sun shines. Entertain the girl when he can't be on the job. And although absence does make the heart grow fonder, it may also be a case of proximity getting the girl.

Also you can keep on asking her to the dances. Chances are your athletic friend will be confused when dancing comes along. You may be a much better toe-swinger than he. I couldn't imagine Hans Wagner one-stepping. Neither could I picture Babe Ruth getting the prize for tangoing.

Then there is the time when the girl wants the sandwiches passed, and when her skate comes loose and needs buckling, and when she wants sympathy for failing in some study, English or Latin for instance. You may be the real consoler in all these situations. For an all star sport leader often is handicapped in the smaller amenities of life.

And who knows when the day comes for the final count, he may be the ball-snatcher. But the heart-catcher of the one girl. That may be the time when you will shine.

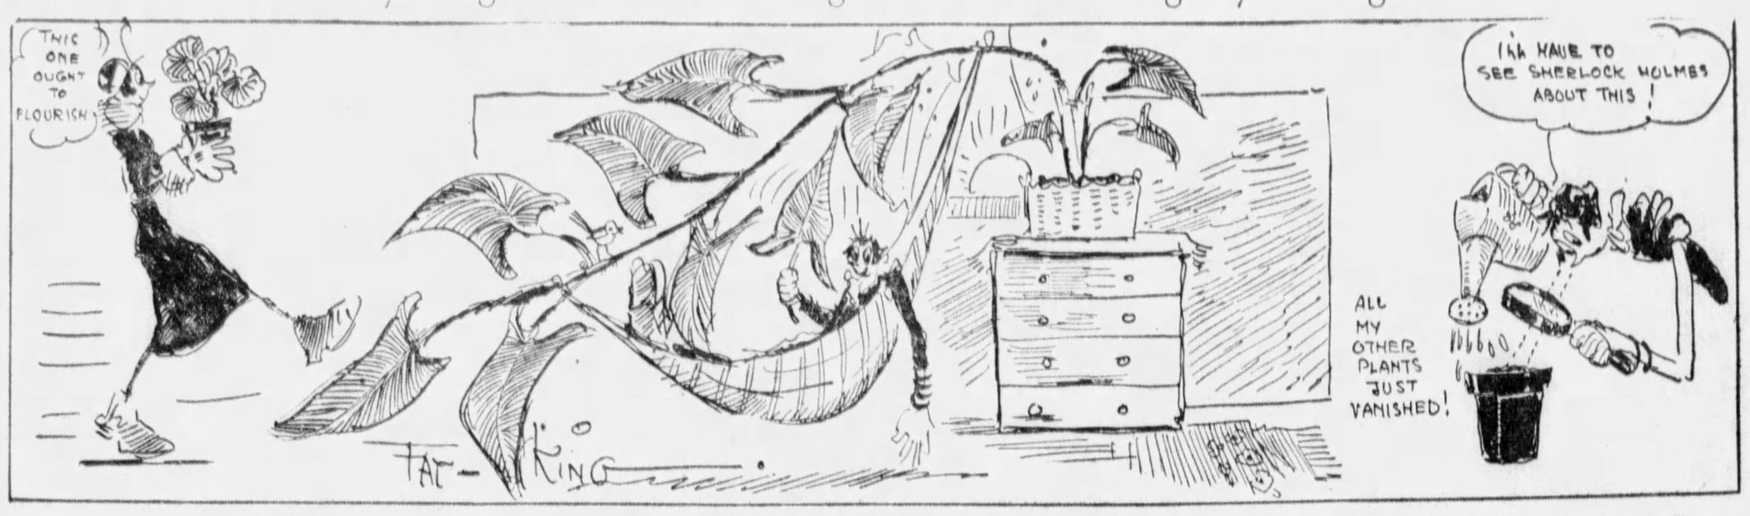
Fay King's Bad Luck Making Plants Grow Magically Changes



By FAY KING

My luck with potted plants has always been just—bad!

While most folks can have a beautiful conservatory of flowers growing up out of any tin can or broken cup, my plants just do a vanishing act.

They don't wither, or die, they just grow "littler an' littler" until at last I have to look for them with a magnifying glass along with the sprinkling can.

I was about to consult Holmes and Watson when suddenly my luck changed—and how! Why, if it keeps up, the plant I got last Christmas is going to be a jungle next summer!

If so, I'm going to buy a hammock, and become a regular "Robina" Crusoe on an indoor island! I'm already calling the canary "Friday."

Madge Experiences Feeling of Impending Disaster

There was something in Lee Chow's usually monotonous voice so tense, so fraught with some hidden meaning, that I put out my hand and gripped the back of a chair near me with the feeling that I needed actual physical support to keep me on my feet.

"But if Hugh asks you—go?" he had said, and the last word had been so explosive that it seemed almost as if a detonating cap were behind his voice.

He meant me to obey his suggestion. In fact, he was willing me to do it; and at the thought all my natural independence, the resentment of domination which is, perhaps, my strongest characteristic, or fault, asserted itself.

The wily Chinese had overshot his mark. If he had said simply that he had changed his mind and wished to go to the beach, I might have accepted Hugh's invitation if, indeed, he decided to ask me, after Edith's rebuff. But the eagerness in Lee Chow's manner decided me. I would be no party to any scheme of his, no matter how much my piqued vanity clamored its sympathy with his proposal.

"I will not go to the beach tonight, under any circumstances," I whispered firmly, looking Lee Chow steadily in the eyes as I gave the ultimatum.

QUESTION UNANSWERED

He has all the inscrutability of his race, but for the flashing fraction of a second something so baleful, so menacing, gleamed in his eyes that I choked back a gasp of pure terror.

The next instant his face was so bland, so almost beatific in its kindly expression, that I wondered if I were permitting my terror to rob me of my common sense.

"As you wish, of course," he said, bowing low. Then, to my infinite relief, he moved away from me, and my lively sense of terror began to abate.

I could not help a queer, tingling feeling of expectancy. I knew that Hugh must be fiercely resentful of Dicky's action which, in masculine code, was a rather scurvy trick for one man to play upon another. Would he feed that resentment by repaying Dicky in kind, and asking me to go on the moonlight drive with him; or would he, as always, do the calm, judicial thing which seemed to him the best thing for me?

I never shall know the answer to that question, however. Avis Arlen did not even give Edith an opportunity to reply to Hugh's gallant proposal for a future drive, in lieu of the one she had just declined. With a slithering, slinky movement of her slender figure, in its green and silver gown, she came up to him.

"I hope that doesn't mean you're going to pass the rest of us up, just because Miss Fairfax cannot go with you," she said. "I've been just dying for a drive in this moonlight, but I can't bear to be rumpled, so I didn't go with the crowd in the other car. Don't you think I might substitute for Miss Fairfax?"

There was only one answer, of course, to be made to such an entreaty, and Hugh made it. But before he spoke he sent me a glance of appeal which I knew was none the less deadly in its effect upon Dicky, who, to my dismay, was watching Hugh closely.

HUGH CONSENTS

"I shall be happy indeed," Hugh said, bowing from the waist, "if you will permit me to be your cavalier upon the drive. But you will need a wrap."

"Please come along and help me find one," Avis said, and putting out her hand in much the manner of a confiding child, she caught his, and drew him with her toward the house.

"Are you by any chance trying to make a particularly bad pun?" Dicky demanded, and I guessed that he welcomed any diversion. "For if you are, you'll never leave this farm yard alive."

"No, I don't mean 'cou-pes,'" Mr. Underwood retorted. "I know how to pronounce it, if you don't. Only a low-life like you would try to twist a really witty comment into a bad pun. But, as I was saying, how about the rest of us getting started in the big cars?"

They all seconded his suggestion with alacrity, and in another two minutes Lee Chow and I were left alone in the moonlit farm yard.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

A Campaign in Behalf of Motherhood

Mother! That is the sweetest of all words. The name gives a thrill to every heart.

Nothing can be more appropriate than to set aside one day, a day dedicated to the dearest of all dear ones. May 13 has been chosen this year as the date of "Mother's Day." On this day every child is asked to give special thought to mother and to let her know the gratitude felt for her many sacrifices and the trials and tribulations she has borne for her family.

Dr. Copeland

On Mother's Day the Maternity Center Association of New York City begins its annual campaign in behalf of motherhood. This worthy organization is striving, as its announcement indicates, to "make motherhood safe for mothers." Mother's Day marks the opening date of this year's drive, the fourth of its campaigns against the many perils of maternity.

I pray this campaign will be successful. Of course, the degree of its success depends upon the earnest co-operation of everyone interested in the most important of all human experiences. So that all may have a part, every community is advised to communicate with the society, to obtain the information it can give to promote the cause of safe motherhood.

In many communities nursing organizations offer prenatal instruction. This is given the expectant mother free of charge. They even furnish attendance at time of delivery and daily visits to the mother after baby is born.

Unfortunately there are many communities where these facilities are lacking or inadequate. After careful investigation of conditions throughout the country, it is hoped the necessary facilities can be furnished to those districts where medical advice and nursing care are lacking.

No one can doubt that by careful watching for the danger signals sometimes attending pregnancy, the health of the mother and unborn child can be safeguarded.

Every prospective mother should receive a complete physical examination. She should be instructed as to the necessary diet, exercise, clothing and other matters that insure the best health for the mother and the expected child.

Medical attention during the pre-natal period is just as important as it is after the birth of the child. It is imperative that every mother receive this attention.

My advice to every expectant mother is to seek immediate medical advice. Do not postpone your visit to the doctor. Follow his instructions carefully. If in doubt as to where to seek this advice, consult with your health official.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

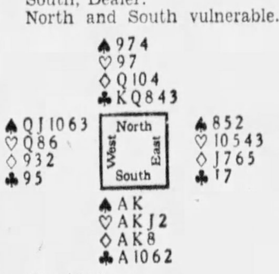
An Opening Three-Notrump Bid

In Howell match-point play, when honors are held, better players realize that they have to be taken into consideration to a far greater extent than in Rubber Bridge. Even though the final contract reached is not as safe or will produce fewer tricks than another contract in which honors are not held, the 100 or 150 points scored for honors often justify it.

On the hand below the South player was able to get a score next to top (only one team bid seven clubs) by bidding six notrump and making seven on a very fine squeeze:

South, Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 N T (1)	Pass	4 N T (2)	Pass
6 N T (3)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Not a bad bid, although in my opinion an Opening bid of two hearts is preferable. The three notrump bid, by shutting out two rounds of bidding, lessens the chances of reaching a possible Grand Slam. However, this call is practically as strong as an Opening two-bid and indicates that the hand is weak distributionally. Since South is vulnerable, North must know that the lack of distribution must be made up for by an avalanche of honor-tricks, and since the hand is being played in a match-point game, South feels that it is imperative to assure scoring his 150 Aces.

2—North realizes that his partner must have an enormous hand. He sees no point in showing his club suit, as from his distribution it looks as though the hand will probably play about as well in notrump as in clubs.

3—South knows that the final Slam bid must come from him. With all the Aces and three of the Kings he sees no point to bidding only five, and he sticks to notrump because of the honor score.

West's Opening lead was the spade Queen, and the South player quite properly did not blindly take the heart finesse for the overtrick. He cashed his good clubs and the Ace and King of diamonds and then laid down his other high spades. One top heart was now played and followed by a diamond to Dummy. This third round of diamonds completely squeezed West, who was unable to keep both his top spade and a guard to his heart Queen. Actually, he decided to relinquish the latter. Declarer now led a heart from Dummy, and since on the previous rounds of clubs East had discarded two small hearts in an effort to keep the diamond suit protected, Declarer now had an accurate count on the hand and accordingly went up with his heart Ace, dropping West's heart Queen and winning the last trick with the Knave.

Had the East hand held as good as three spades to the Ten instead of three to the eight, West would have been able to avoid the squeeze by discarding his spades, forcing his partner to keep that suit, and consequently could have kept his Queen of hearts protected.

Naturally, the Declarer could have taken the heart finesse at trick 12 had the East and West discards led him to believe that the cards were differently divided.

A HAT NEED NOT BE ROUND TO BE SMART FOR THE SEASON

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THERE IS much variety in the shape of the newest hat brims. Plenty of sailor models are to be seen, and smart as the deuce they are, but in other numbers brims look like anything from a segment of pie to a minaret.

The Russian influence is much to the top of our heads suddenly. It is a line which adds inches to the shortish woman while keeping her proportions inviolate, and gives a plausible touch of dignity to even the tallest sisters. Incidentally, it is a swell model to choose for tea dancing, for the superstructure keeps mercifully out of one's escorts' eyes or shoulders. The latest trick in these hats to put them into the dress-up class is a triangular face veil which loops from either side-back of the hat to hang well down over the wishbone in a point. This long point permits one to throw the veil back successfully over the hat when a bare face is desired.

* * *

A SHEPHERDESS scoop to a brim, one which makes it dip across the back and the front, exposing the sides of the head almost to the crown, is another fancy of the new season. It is a gracious line, one which shows off the coiffure, and which complements soft, flowing frocks of the bridesmaid type to perfection.

Flowers are sometimes used beneath one side of the brim against the hair, as a picturesque trimming; a bowknot with shoulder-length streamers is another notion. To many women who find an all-black or all-white picture hat more becoming to their gowns than to their faces, this model suggests a legitimate way of getting a more becoming tint directly against one's complexion. White with cherry red ribbon is an idea that will make a hit with some women, black with flush rose or clear canary another.

* * *

SQUARE BRIMS which have been inspired by the bluestocking's mortar board get off well on tailored hats. Other brims take on a square front borrowed from an ecclesiastical shovel hat. The tricorne is all over the millinery scene—and what would spring be like, anyway, without tricornes, jolly-jump-ups, and the hunt for the first robin? The halo hat is somewhat roundish, and so is the Breton hat, but the Dutch bonnet now with us combines ideas from the two which result in a nicely bent or sliced off-the-face brim.

There are a number of trick Oriental hats going the rounds which may survive the western world despite pagoda peaks and mushroom swoops to their architecture, but it seems likely that they will live and die as novelties.

Household Hints

Egg shells crushed into bits and shaken into water bottles and decanters with water, cleans and brightens them.

To remove ink stains from satin saturate spot with turpentine. Let stand a few hours and then rub between the hands.

A properly placed shoulder seam acts as an anchor to a well-fitted dress, says the United States Bureau of Home Economics, discussing home-dressmaker problems. The seam should be located carefully and the shoulders should be the first part of the dress fitted. The material should be smooth over the chest and shoulder blades.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Showers—or 'Promotion?'

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly advise me about giving a shower? You see, I am an aunt by marriage to the boy, but I would like to give the bride-to-be a shower. I don't know many of her friends, but could get the addresses. What I want to know is, whether it is proper for me to do this as I am an in-law? M.

There isn'a any definite rule about this, but, as you apparently realize, it is usually taken for granted that a close relative doesn't give the shower, since this gives too much the appearance of a "promotion."

How Common "Acid Stomach" Makes Itself Known to You

The Signs of Acid Stomach

Nervousness — Auto-intoxication — Feeling of Weakness
Neuralgia — Nausea — Sleeplessness
Indigestion — Frequent Headaches — Mouth Acidity
Loss of Appetite — Sour Stomach

What to Do For It

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

If you have Acid Stomach, you can easily trace it. The symptoms above, headaches, stomach pains after eating, "gas," "upsets" are the usual indications.

Now—to get rid of it, all you need do is follow these directions: TAKE: 2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed. Or—you can take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets; substituting one tablet for each teaspoonful of the liquid and get the same result.

Try It—You Will Be Amazed!

Try this and, chances are, it will make a great difference in your life. For this small dosage of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts to neutralize stomach acids causing distress.

After-meal pains and discomfort go. You feel freedom from dull headaches. That "afternoon fag"—you think is depletion or "nerves" disappears. You feel like another person. People are doing this—doctors advocating it, everywhere.

But when you buy, be sure to get the REAL article—Genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia—the kind doctors endorse. Always ask for it by the name PHILLIPS'.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM

VAUGHAN SIGNS CONTRACT, COMPLETES BUC SQUAD

JAMES J. LONG'S SPORTS COMMENT

Midsummer His Hoodoo.
All-Star McGraw Team.
Ryan Ousted By Jackson.
Unusual Hockey Ruling.
Names Count in Boxing.

There is nothing disturbing in the fact that Bill Swift making a delayed start for Paso Robles tomorrow night, will be 11 days behind the other Pittsburgh pitchers in getting down to conditioning work. The season won't open until six weeks from next Tuesday, and by proper application to training a moundsman can accomplish in that time just about all that is necessary in the way of preparation for a pennant race. Anyhow, it isn't the start of a season that is to be worried about in Swift's case. He's usually right for the early games, regardless of the amount of training he gets.

Bill Swift

It's in the middle of the campaign that Bill's form is doubtful. That's when his effectiveness appears to take a vacation. In 1932, his initial year with the Pirates, Swift won nine of his first 12 games. But he was knocked out in all of his next five starts, lost five decisions in a row, and in 13 straight starts he lasted the distance only six times. Last year, the Scranton citizen won four of his first five games and nine of his first 14, but in eight of his next 16 starts he had to be lifted. In two months and a half, from June 24 to September 10, he turned in only two victories and went the route only three times in 10 starts.

GREAT CLUB SEEN IN M'GRAW'S PRODUCTS

They used to say that John McGraw didn't develop his own ball players. It was held that with a rich club at his back, he kept his team built up from year to year by buying seasoned stars from other National League outfits at fancy prices which rivals could not afford to pay. Rogers Hornsby, Dave Bancroft, Heinie Groh, Casey Stengel, Emil Meusel, Hugh McQuillan, Hank Gowdy, Art Nehf, Phil Douglas, Frank Snyder, Johnny Rawlings, Buck Herzog, Jess Barnes, Heinie Zimmerman, Hans Lobert, Milt Stock, Fred Toney, Slim Sallee, Mike Gonzales, Burleigh Grimes and Johnny Watson were some of the experienced men obtained by purchase or trade.

JACKSON CROWDS RYAN OUT OF LINEUP

Bill Terry has been forced to change his program for the 1934 National League season. When the Giant manager announced recently that he intended to stand pat on his regular lineup of last year, with Blondy Ryan at shortstop and Johnny Vergez at third base, he probably did not figure on the possibility that Travis Jackson might pull a comeback. But according to reports from the New York club's training camp at Miami Beach, Jackson is doing that very thing.

Travis Jackson

The veteran shortstop didn't favor himself when the workouts began. After a few drills at third base he went to the short field, when Ryan was called home on account of his father's death, and has been ranging around there every day in impressive style. Jackson looks fast and none the worst for the knee troubles that kept him on the bench most of the time during the last two seasons. Of course, no one knows whether he will be able to stand the gaff over a long stretch of time, but right now his showing makes him first choice over Ryan for the shortstop job and Terry says Jax will start the season there if he holds his present form.

ONE HOCKEY SHOT THAT FAILS TO COUNT

A colorful hockey stunt that has come into general use in a last desperate effort to avert defeat is for the trailing team to pull out its goal tender in the final two or three minutes of play and send another forward on the ice as the sixth man in the lineup. In the face of threatened defeat, defense of the net is abandoned and everything is centered on bolstering the attack in the hope of tying the score. Sometimes it works, and the trailing team succeeds in making the vital goal. But in just as many instances, possibly more, the other club sinks a shot into the vacant cage and increases its lead.

A new and different development is reported from a game in St. Paul, in which the home team was playing the Minneapolis Millers and leading near the finish. Stew Adams, manager of the trailing Millers, yanked his goalie and sent in another forward, whereupon Hanson, a St. Paul forward, took a full wind-up inside his blue line and fired straight into the unprotected Minneapolis net. All right, so far. But Referee Sands was on the alert. He dug up one from the rule book and not only disallowed the goal but sent Hanson to the penalty box. For, according to the rules, Hanson was guilty of shooting the puck the length of the ice, when both teams were at full strength, without any intention of making a pass.

ATTEMPT TO BRING BACK FIGHTING NAMES

Imagine the name of Christopher Theophilos on the wrestling bills. That's the proper handle of Jim Londos. Or picture the name of Aloysius Szymanski in the baseball news. To you he is Al Simmons. Or what if you had to refer to Max Carey as Maxwell Carnarius, Tony Piet as Anthony Pietruska, and Vince Dundee as Vincent Lazzaro, to mention only a few? That's what you'd have to do if all sports and all places adopted the rule of the New York Boxing Commission requiring boxers under its jurisdiction to use their own names.

Jim Londos

Johnny Attell, matchmaker at the Ridgewood Grove Sporting Club in New York, thinks that rule has hurt boxing and plans a campaign to have the regulation repealed. He wants to bring back fighting names, arguing that it is hard to build up a fighter with a name nobody can remember. Attell says certain names have become famous in the glove game, and sees no harm in it if a youngster wants to adopt the name of some noted fighter of the past. Johnny cites the New York rule as the answer to the question as to what has become of the Irish in the fight game. He says there never were as many Irish boys in the business as there were Irish names. Most of the boxers using Irish names were Jewish or Italian. Today they have to use their real names and the Irish tone is missing from the cards. Attell finds that most of the boxers of the present day are of Italian descent. In one of his recent shows, 10 of the 12 fighters were Italian-Americans, and at a February show in Madison Square Garden nine out of 12 came under that category.

SCOTT TO MEET MAPLETOWN TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN

Four places in the semi-finals awaiting the winners in the quarter-final games, the process of elimination in the annual W. P. I. A. L. basketball tournament is resumed tonight at Washington High School when Scott High, of North Braddock, champion of Section VIII and former state titleholder, engages Mapletown, champion of Section XIII, in the first quarter-final contest.

The game, originally scheduled last night in the Pitt Stadium pavilion, was shifted to Washington, Pa., to reduce the number of miles Mapletown would have to travel to engage in its third contest of the current eliminations. Mapletown already has disposed of East Pike Run, champion of Section XVI, and Monongahela, champion of Section V.

WINNER ADVANCES

Scott High School, having drawn a bye in the first round, defeated Latrobe, champion of Section X, in a second duel, 41 to 26. The victor in tonight's clash earns the right to meet the survivor of the Uniontown-New Kensington battle, carded Saturday in the Pitt Stadium, in a semi-final fray next Tuesday.

Tomorrow night in the Pitt Stadium pavilion, the second quarter-final game will be staged when Duquesne High School, champion of Section VII and favorite to reach the championship rounds, opposes Dormont High School, champion of Section IX, for the right to enter the semi-finals.

Duquesne advanced to the quarter finals by eliminating Brentwood, champion of Section XII, while Dormont triumphed over Washington, champion of Section XV, in the second round. The winner in this game will meet the survivor of Saturday's battle between Ambridge, Section IV, and New Castle, Section III, in the semi-finals next Wednesday.

TWO GAMES SATURDAY

The last of the quarter final games will be played on two courts Saturday night. New Kensington, champion of Section I and vanquisher of Ford City, champion of Section VI, meets Uniontown, champion of Section XI and victor over East Pittsburgh, champion of Section XVII, in the Pitt Stadium pavilion, while in Beaver Falls High School, New Castle and Ambridge will battle to remain in the running.

The championship game will be played in the Pitt Stadium pavilion a week from Saturday night. The survivor of the Scott-Mapletown-New Kensington-Uniontown playoffs will be opposed to the survivor of the Duquesne-Dormont-Ambridge-New Castle playoffs.

TWO REPEATERS

With South crowned City League champion and Latimer again titleholder in the City Junior League, two of the 1933 standard-bearers in district basketball circles have retained their laurels. Duquesne High School, champion of the W. P. I. A. L. last season, has a chance to join this group of repeaters, being among the eight survivors in the elimination series.

A new champion will be crowned in the Junior W. P. I. A. L. inas-

EVERY PIRATE PLAYER NOW IN FOLD

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 8.—Floyd (Arky) Vaughan, shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who refused to sign the first contract tendered him because he deemed the terms unsatisfactory, came to an agreement after a conference with William E. Benswanger, president of the club, and accepted terms for the 1934 season.

The signing of Vaughan completes the Pirate roster for 1934, every member of the squad being under contract. Bill Swift, pitcher, of Scranton, accepted terms in Pittsburgh yesterday. He is expected to entrain Friday for California. Vaughan will celebrate his twenty-second birthday tomorrow.

The Pirates' second squad, in charge of Lawrence Coller, reported to Manager George Gibson here today, and while some of the athletes engaged in limbering-up exercises this afternoon, the first workout with a full squad present will not be held until tomorrow.

Scout Bill Hinchman, Fred Lindstrom, Nick Etten, rookie outfielder, and Floyd Young, infielder, arrived from the East, and other members of the Corsair family arrived from their homes on the Coast.

The pitchers, their muscles well loosened up, did some cutting loose yesterday. The performances of Lloyd Johnson, husky southpaw, and Cy Blanton were especially impressive yesterday. Both gave every evidence of becoming major league timber.

Three more Coast rookies reported for tryouts yesterday. All are pitchers. They are Howard Elmore, a southpaw, Jacob Ackerman and Leslie Balangero. Elmore, 18 years of age, still is in high school. All are sandlot stars and may get a chance on one of the minor league clubs with which the Pirates have a working agreement.

News that Bill Swift had signed a contract in Pittsburgh yesterday was received with joy by Pilot Gibson and President Benswanger. The Pirate officials were informed that the big right hander would leave his home in Scranton, Pa., tomorrow morning for camp.

Richard Long, Local Golfer, Found Dead

Attorney Richard C. Long, aged 50, nationally known golf figure and for years treasurer of the Oakmont Country Club, was found dead in his home, 1108 North Highland avenue, today.

A maid found his body at the foot of the stairs.

Long was one of the pioneers of golf in Pittsburgh. He was one of the founders of the Stanton Heights Golf Club and a member of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association.

165-pound class—Hall, Duquesne, defeated Kyle, West Virginia.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE LOOMS AS EIGHT-CLUB CIRCUIT

TWO NEW NINES SEEK BERTHS IN LOOP

By TOM BIRKS

With five of last year's clubs on hand and two new outfits filing applications for franchises, the initial meeting of the City Baseball League, held last night at Book's, indicated that the leading sandlot circuit of the district again will operate as an eight-club organization. The following teams and representatives were on hand: Books, Gus Buck; Homewood-Brushton, Bill Dalzell; Dormont, George Falconer; Brentwood Gillespies, George Spires, and Whitaker, Dutch Ackerman.

NAME CHANGED

Manager Spiers stated that the Gillespie name would be dropped and that the club intended to operate under the name of the Brentwood Business Men.

One of the clubs asking for a franchise was the Pittsburgh Independents. The club intends to play its home games at Crafton.

Manager Anstone, of the Independents, informed the league that the personnel of the club would be selected from players in the Crafton-Ingram Church League, bu a hitch appeared when it was learned these players would not be available for City League duty on the night that their teams were playing in the church league.

Of course, there may be a way out of the situation. The Independents would be a desirable club for the City League, but not under the present setup.

The other team to apply for a berth was the Mt. Oliver Business Men's Club. The businessmen of Carrick apparently are getting behind the movement to have first-class baseball, and should the field question be overcome, it is believed the club will be acceptable to the City League officials.

MAJORS PROMISE AID

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 8.—(AP.)—Two Washington County teams in the Class D baseball league proposed by Elmer Daily, president of the Middle Atlantic circuit, have been promised major league support.

Business men said yesterday the Washington club will get $2,000 worth of backing from the New York Yankees and the Charleroi team $1,500 in support from the Detroit Tigers.

Overtures for league membership also have been made to Canonsburg, Jeannette, Greensburg, McKeesport, Connellsville, Uniontown and Brownsville.

TEAMS ATTAIN TITLE ROUND

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 8.—The California and Canonsburg High School teams will fight it out for the Class I title in the annual Washington County Interscholastic basketball tournament. California gained the right to take on the Gunners in the finale by eliminating East Bethlehem last night, 26 to 25 in an extra period battle.

Henry Adams, California forward, dropped in a foul shot in the extra period to win the game.

In Class II, Centerville and Ellsworth-Cokeburg gained the title round, Centerville, by downing West Bethlehem, 27 to 14, with comparative ease and Ellsworth-Cokeburg by nosing out Bentleyville, 27 to 26.

Beallsville and East Pike Run are the finalists in Class III.

GREENVILLE VICTOR

GROVE CITY, Pa., March 8.—After battling through an extra period of play, the Greenville High School quintet advanced to the semi-final round of the annual Mercer County scholastic basketball tournament here last night, eliminating the tournament favorite, Grove City, by a score of 21 to 19.

Pitt Freshmen, CCC Boxers, Matmen Split

The University of Pittsburgh freshmen boxers defeated the Citizens' Conservation Camp boxers, 5 to 3, in the South Park Agricultural Building last night, but the Pitt frosh matmen did not fare so well, losing, 28 to 11, to the CCC grapplers. The summary:

Boxing

126-pound class—Sam Levs, C. C. C., defeated Robert Pugh, Pitt.

135-pound class—Ray Tommerelli, Pitt, defeated A. Jennsek, C. C. C., three rounds; Abe Konick, Pitt, knocked out H. Lloyd, C. C. C., first round.

Wrestling

Russell Devillon, Pitt, threw H. Jordan, C. C. C., 30 seconds.

155-pound class—L. Simenoff, Pitt, drew with A. Becker, C. C. C., in 16 minutes, extra period. Don George, Pitt, threw G. Van Epps, C. C. C., in 8:36.

VANITIES WIN

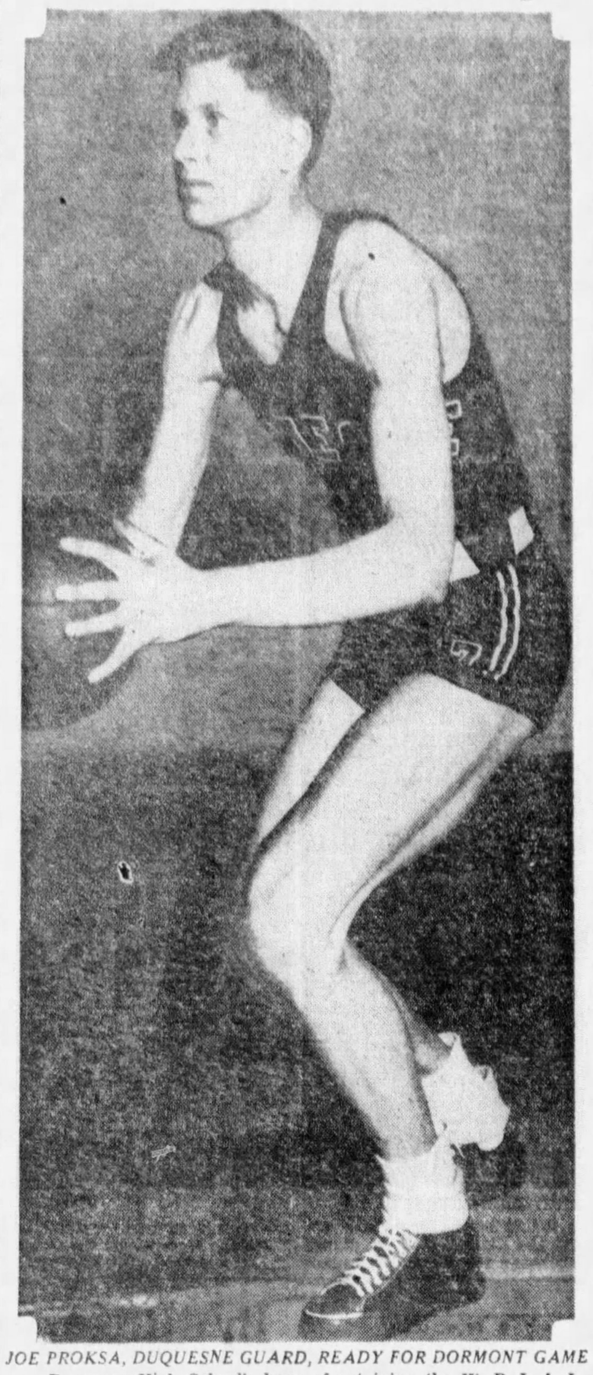
Star of School Champs



JOE PROKSA, DUQUESNE GUARD, READY FOR DORMONT GAME

Duquesne High School's hope of retaining the W. P. I. A. L. basketball championship rests heavily upon the outcome of its quarter-final game with Dormont High, champion of Section IX in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion tomorrow night. Proksa, a forward last season, now a guard, starred in the Steelers' victory over Brentwood at Wilkinsburg last Saturday. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

much as North Belle Vernon, last year's titleholder, has been eliminated. North Braddock Junior High School, champion of Section II, and Charleroi, champion of Section I, are the finalists. An effort will be made to have the finalists meet at Charleroi, probably next Tuesday, to determine the championship. North Braddock eliminated East McKeesport and Charleroi vanquished Ellsworth-Cokeburg.

Another of last year's champions still in the running for the 1934 crown is McNaugher School, of the North Side, which is making a bid to retain its grade school championship. The championship game in this competition will be played next Tuesday.

The activities committee of the Swissvale School Board will be host to 126 members of the football and basketball squads at a banquet to be held tonight in the Swissvale Presbyterian Church. Norman MacLeod will be toastmaster. Among the speakers will be Dr. H. C. Carlson, coach at the University of Pittsburgh; Judge S. J. McKim, of the County Court; C. S. Baily, acting superintendent of Swissvale schools, and Art Davis, chairman of the activities committee of the Swissvale School Board.

Led by Claybaugh, forward, who tallied as many points as did the entire Ellsworth-Cokeburg team, the Charleroi Junior High School passers eliminated, advanced to the final round of the Junior W. P. I. A. L. tournament at Charleroi yesterday afternoon, winning 24 to 12.

Claybaugh accounted for six field goals. Ellsworth tallied three points in each period. The lineup:

CUBS CRIPPLED BY INJURIES

AVALON, Cal., March 8.—(AP.)—With cripples outnumbering the able-bodied by a large margin, Manager Charley Grimm, of the Chicago Cubs, had almost given up hope today of playing an intra-camp game before next week.

Baseball Briefs

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(AP.)—Take it from the Yanigans, the Athletics' Regulars aren't so hot, despite their sunburn. The two met in combat on the diamond yesterday and the rookies came out on top, 8 to 3.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP.)—Charley Atlas, an ambitious youngster from Nashua, N. H., is the talk of the Boston Braves training camp. He came down here on his own and has been haunting the ball park for a chance to show his pitching wares. He showed up like a veteran during his first trial.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—(AP.)—Pitchers at the Phillies' training camp are doing a veritable six-day marathon and Manager Jimmy Wilson says the leaders are Curtis Davis, Reg Grabowski and Chucker Kleinhans. "All three are ready," Wilson says.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(AP.)—Some other major league managers wouldn't mind if they were troubled with Bill Terry's chief worry. The New York Giants' pilot is already wondering how to cut down his mound staff to nine men. Six "regulars," Hubbell, Schumacher, Fitzsimmons, Parmelee, Luque and Bell, are sure of jobs. The candidates for the other three jobs include Watson Clark, Johnny Salveson, Al Smith, Joe Bowman and Clyde Castleman.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP.)—The New York Yankees' trainer, Doc Painter, says the squad is in unusually good condition. Sore arms are entirely absent among the pitchers. Painter says favorable training conditions explain it all.

MORGANS TAKE HOCKEY LEAD

CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

Dukes	0	4	1	3	33	1

The J. Scott Morgans gained undisputed possession of the lead in the City Hockey League and set the stage for their championship game with the Pirates, next week, by swamping Duquesne, 10 to 0, at Duquesne Garden last night.

Jackie Powell and Roy and Bob Schooley, as usual, were the stars of the contest. Roy led in the scoring with three goals, while Bob and Powell each picked up a pair. Four goals were recorded in each of the first and second periods and two in the finale. The lineup:

Morgans—10.		Dukes—0.

JACKETS MEET CHICAGO SOX TONIGHT

GAME TONIGHT

Chicago White Sox vs. Yellow Jackets, Motor Square Garden, 8:30 p. m.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS (Second Half)

	W.	L.	G.	OG.	Pts.
Pittsburgh	4	2	81	63	8
Chicago Sox	2	1	34	26	4
Chicago Ribbons	2	3	57	63	4
Detroit	0	2	17	37	0

By CARL W. SHATTO.

A few members of the local squad probably will be making their last appearances as Yellow Jackets when Pittsburgh meets the Chicago White Sox in an American and International Lacrosse Association game at Motor Square Garden tonight.

A four-cornered deal which would result in Chuck Davidson and Roddy Clarke, aces of the Sox, and a third player, probably a member of the Chicago Blue Ribbons, coming here probably will be completed before the Jackets make another start. To obtain Davidson and Clarke, who rank with the best players in the circuit, Pittsburgh will have to give up at least two, and possibly three men.

Pittsburgh's aim in making the trade is to obtain young men capable of standing the gaff on the larger courts on which the Jackets are required to play when away from home.

Davidson has been one of the brightest stars of the Sox in their games here, and with he and Kelly DeGray back on the firing line, Goalie Bruce Cordick figures to be in for a tough evening. The Sox are trailing the locals by four points in the second-half race, but they have lost one less game than have the Sutherlandmen, and figure to make up these points in the three contests in which they must participate before catching up to the Jackets in the number of games played.

The Sox hold a one-game edge in their season series with Pittsburgh, and are the only team which has been capable of handing the Jackets two successive defeats on the Garden court. With Albert Vincent, their ace forward, called to Montreal by the illness of his wife, the short-handed Jackets will rule underdogs in tonight's battle. The probable lineup:

PITTSBURGH.		CHICAGO.
Cordick	G	Stokes
Core		Dodds
N. Langevin	D	Clarke
McLean	C	DeGray
Jennings	F	*Davidson
L'Heureux	F	Atkinson

Baseball Briefs

SARASOTA, Fla.—(AP.)—Manager Bucky Harris of the Boston Red Sox makes a confidant of nobody. He eats alone as a rule. He handles the complete direction of the mid-day practices at Payne Park. He talks things over with his "cabinet," yet makes it very apparent that his own decision is the one that will carry the day. The result—everybody is hustling at the Red Sox camp.

ORLANDO, Fla.—(AP.)—Marty McManus, who managed the Boston Red Sox last year, is making quite an impression among the Brooklyn Dodgers by the way he goes about trying to win a berth as utility infielder. He has been working hard and playing well.

BRADENTON, Fla.—(AP.)—The Cardinals have been in camp only a few days, but Manager Frankie Frisch has seen enough of the new National League ball to convince him it's going to be a big year for the hitters. Outfielder Ernie Orsatti, who has been asked to take a salary reduction from $9,000 to $6,750, talked with Branch Rickey, Cardinal vice president, but remained outside the fold.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—(AP.)—Rogers Hornsby not only is taking a regular turn at bat in the Browns' training camp, but is sprinting around the bases like a rookies. The foot which bothered him last year has given the Rajah no trouble.

PASADENA, Cal.—(AP.)—Joe Chamberlain and Bernie Uhalt, recruits, appear certain of utility jobs with the Chicago White Sox this season. Chamberlain, who was a year late in joining the club, having disappeared twice last year before the season started, has shown enough to make Manager Lew Fonseca think he will do for an extra infielder, and Uhalt accomplished as much as an outfielder.

TODAY'S QUESTIONS

1—Name the three Greater Pittsburgh bowlers who have won the A. B. C., championship.

2—Who was the former Wilkinsburg High School football star who returned from the World War to help his school win the W. P. I. A. L. championship?

CLINTON SETS MATCH MARK

By JESS CARVER

Welker Cochran, former three-cushion billiard champion of the world, picked up an additional 35 points on Johnny Clinton, reigning amateur champion, in the third block of their five-block 18.2 exhibition match at Joe Tobin's William Penn parlors, Smithfield street, last night, and today leads the Pittsburgh cue star, 819 to 675.

Cochran had to come from far in the rear to win last night's block, 300 to 265. In the fourth inning, Clinton set a new high run mark for the match by clicking off 105 billiards. Cochran, however, came back with two fine clusters of more than 50 each to remain close on the heels of his opponent and in the seventeenth and eighteenth innings ran out on the local star. The pair meet in the fourth block at 8 o'clock tonight.

Clinton, plays excellent billiards despite the lack of practice, evidenced a vast improvement in his stroking in last night's match. He missed several tough shots that might have won him the block and cut deeply into Cochran's lead.

INDIANA SIGNS M'MILLIN

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., March 8.—(AP.)—Indiana University athletic officials have announced the signing of A. N. (Bo) McMillin, former Center College quarterback and Centenary and Geneva College coach, as head football coach.

McMillin, coach at the Kansas State College at Manhattan will come to Bloomington next week to take charge of spring football.

SPORT VIGNETTES

While preparing for Welker Cochran's Trained Seals' broadcast over WCAE last night, your reporter asked the former world 18.1 and 18.2 balkline and three-cushion billiard champion, who is playing at the William Penn Parlors here this week, to what he attributed the success of the top-flight billiard players, and he said without a moment's hesitation:

"Hard work. A lot of hard work."

I asked:

"But doesn't genius enter into it? You don't suppose any man could be a great billiard player if he didn't have a knack for the game, wasn't born to it in some way, do you?"

To which he replied:

"Well, take my case. I learned to play billiards when I was a kid out in Idaho, Frank Gotch, the old wrestling champion, lived near my home and he thought I was pretty good and said as much. That made me think I was, and shortly I went to Chicago to brush up on my game. There I spent as much as 10 hours a day in practicing without even going out to eat. That was hard work, and don't you forget it.

"In one of my favorite academies they had two floors of tables and on Sundays they closed up one of them. I got a key to the floor and had it all to myself on those days and wasn't disturbed. It was only natural that with such concentration I should develop and become a good player."

Like most good players, Cochran began his tournament career before he was 20 years old. For a number of years he just missed winning the top honors and he was around 30 when he finally crashed through. He had served a stern apprenticeship, and was reaping his reward. It is his thought that any player who does not start young and prove himself capable of coping with the topnotchers by the time he is 25 never will make the grade.

Cochran's biggest thrill came the first time he beat Willie Hoppe. Hoppe was the champion and idol of his boyhood, and he felt that if he could beat the master he would attain the height of his ambition. But he found that a tough task. He says:

"I always play at my worst against Hoppe. I don't know the reason, but I suppose it is because I feel his greatness even today. It isn't billiard fright, because I have been through too many tough matches, but there is something psychological about it. I am sure. Other players are similarly affected against Hoppe."

There is a keen rivalry between Cochran and Johnny Layton, who regained the three-cushion title a few weeks ago, when Cochran dropped the laurels in the tournament in New York. In his first match, Cochran lost to 71-year-old Alfredo De Oro, and Layton got a great kick out of seeing the old man take Welker's measure. But Cochran got even later when Layton bumped into De Oro and also was beaten. Those were the only matches De Oro won and his victims were the finalists! Just a queer quirk of the game.

Cochran holds the high average championship of 57 and is the runnerup for the high run championship with a string of 407 in balk line play. On March 26, in Chicago, he will seek to regain the world 18.2 balk line title. And he says:

"Am I playing rotten balk line? I've got to get in shape for that tournament. If I don't I hope I get through my first few matches okay, and then maybe I'll play myself back into form."

If he had it to do over again, Cochran would go in for billiards once more. He has a 10-year-old son, who is following in his dad's footsteps. Some day Welker hopes there'll be a Champion Welker Cochran, Jr., just as there were an Old Jake Schaefer and a Young Jake Schaefer, both champions.—HARRY KECK.

STRIKES AND SPARES

Five captains are fighting for the individual average leadership in the Westinghouse Tenpin League, which rolls tonight on the Forward Alleys. Capt. Dave Charters is leading the group with a 190 mark. Tom Roantree, who has Knocked down 4,555 pins to head the bowlers, is only a single point behind Charters. A. L. Vecchiola follows with 186. Schumacher has 185 and Schoch 181. Teams Nos. 3 and 9 are tied for first place and Teams Nos. 8, 11 and 6 are one game behind the pace setters.

Fourteen teams of the Greater Pittsburgh district and many others throughout Western Pennsylvania are among the entrants in the thirty-fourth A. B. C. tournament, which got under way at Peoria, Ill., today.

The A. J. Sirlins defeated the Butler All-Stars, of the Butler County League, 2,848 to 2,648, in a special match on the Walter Alleys. Millvale, Bigam starred for the winners with a 614 set, while McKain made a 573 score for the losers. Cavalina rolled the highest single game score, 254.

The Roxian team set a new record for the Roxian alleys when it scored 3,090 to win three games from the Keystone A. C. in a Metropolitan League match last night. The Tuckers took two out of three from the Silver Toppers to enhance their lead. Iron City won two out of three from Auditorium No. 1 and the Nuss Brothers took a pair from the North Side Elks, while Elba lost all three games to P. A. A.

KAPPLER ROLLS 300

Dave Kappler, manager of the G. & A. alleys, 3808 Fifth avenue, was the first bowler to roll a 300 score on his alleys. He was bowling with five other pinsters when he rolled the 12 strikes. Kappler, who has been bowling for five years, lives at 325 Robinson street.

LOCAL COURT CARD HEAVY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Both squash racquets and handball are due for a heavy play the coming week-end and, in the case of the glove sport at least, throughout next week. Topping the bill, National Professional Champion Jack Summers, of Boston, opens a three-day squash stand with Ben Pope, crack Keystone A. C. tutor, on the Keystone courts tomorrow.

Concurrently with the Summers-Pope seance, quarter-finals, semi-finals and final of the City Class B racquet title tournament will be staged at the K. A. C. Saturday will behold the wind-up of the City Handball League post-campaign Class A playoff series, with Dick Koubek's Keystoners meeting the Premier Y. M. H. A. squad at the Downtown Y. M. C. A., while on Monday at the Y. M. H. A. the Junior Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. glove conclave will get under way under the supervision of Art Scher, physical director of the Bellefield institution.

Summers and Pope will engage in 25 games spread over six midday and late afternoon sessions. Tomorrow's affairs are scheduled for 12:15 and 5:15 o'clock, Saturday's for 1 p. m. and 5, and Sunday's for 2:30 and 5:30.

Tussles in the round of eight of the City Class B get-together will be reeled off immediately before and after the Pope-Summers 5:15 melee tomorrow. At 4:30, Jean Caspar, home club luminary, takes on Dr. Whitey Stegeman, rangy P. A. A. ace; Chip Kennedy of the Keystone battles George Henderson, another Winged Header; and Rod Flannery, likewise a P. A. A. husky, encounters the writer, Dr. John O'Loughlin, fifth of the Winged Head contingent, steps afoul of Theos Manos, third of the Keystone delegation, at 6 o'clock. The writer nosed out Bob Lampus, K. A. C., contender, 15-12, 13-15, 15-12, 15-12, yesterday to round out the quarter-final group.

STOCKS WAIT WASHINGTON MOVES

NEW YORK, March 8.—(AP.)—Indecision ruled in financial markets today and neither the bears nor the bulls showed much inclination to resume hostilities.

There was an early but brief upward flurry in the aviation stocks on the news that the air mail is to be returned to private carriers. Most other equity groups failed to follow and in the early afternoon mildly easier tendencies prevailed among leading shares. Traders appeared to be waiting for further impulses from the Potomac.

Grains, cotton and other commodities generally held to a restricted range. Silver and rubber were a trifle firmer. United States government securities continued to advance, but other bonds were mixed. Dollar rates were virtually static.

Wall Street was not entirely surprised at the overnight statement of the President advocating a new air mail set-up for private operators "as soon as possible." Private advices from the capital had indicated that steps would be taken soon to relieve the Army of its mail-carrying job.

At the same time, there was some confusion evident as to just what existing companies that had their contracts canceled would be permitted to bid under the new arrangement. In some quarters it was thought there might be a breaking up into units of several of the larger air corporations in order to come up to the specifications of whatever regulations may be devised.

Aside from the aviation digression, the financial sector continued to watch closely the activities of the NRA authorities in the movement for shorter working hours and higher wages. A number of share traders were said to have withdrawn from the market until a clearer view of this important employment plan can be obtained.

Brokerage house worries over the prospects of a bill for the federal regulation of stock exchanges passing at this session of Congress were tempered somewhat by word that the automotive strike situation was not so threatening. Michigan motor companies reported operations were back to normal and that labor was not expected to take any further strike action until the conclusion of the hearings before the National Labor Board at Washington next Wednesday.

SUGAR GROUP CURB SEEN

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—Justice department officials indicated tonight that an application probably would be made to Federal Judge Julian W. Mack for an injunction to restrain the sugar institute from practices which the government contends are in violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act.

Judge Mack in New York yesterday denied the government's petition for dissolution of the institute which was founded in 1927 by 15 large refining corporations.

One justice official who participated in the trial of the case, appeared pleased at Judge Mack's ruling that most of the government's objections to the institute's practices were "well founded."

Based on Judge Mack's reported statements that "most of the relief demanded by the government must be granted," the official, who declined to have his name used, explained that the application for an injunction probably would follow the lines of the judge's opinion and be granted.

MARKET HOLDS DESPITE U. S. ACTIVITIES

By LEWIS HANEY

Professor of Economics, New York University

NEW YORK, March 8.—Although the stock market is extremely "thin," it does not actually break. It does not, I think, act as if it were going to break wide open.

For some time now, we have been digesting one unfavorable potentiality after another. An extremely drastic and socialistic measure for stock exchange control has been presented. A bill to limit the time a man can work to 30 hours a week has been introduced. The Supreme Court seems to have opened the door for unlimited government price-fixing.

On the surface, at least, the new dealers appear to have reaffirmed their adherence to the radical "reforms" which they have proposed in the past. The Blue Eagle is being given another coat of paint.

But here the market is only a few points down from the recent top, and still holding within easy striking distance of such critical levels at 54 for Steel, 100 for Can, 99 for Dupont and 120 for Telephone.

HOPE NOT ABANDONED

At the least, one must admit that this shows no certainty that the new dealers are going to push their "reforms" to the point of killing business.

To be sure, due caution requires that we recognize the dangers, the chief one of which lies in the labor situation. The political power of organized labor may be used unwisely. But we may hope not, and may add that while the stock market action indicates some fear, it does not show that all hope has been abandoned.

The forms of representative government are still being preserved. Washington still recognizes that business requires profits. After all, the new dealers want increased employment, and they must soon see that absence of profits will reduce employment.

It may be significant that the administration seems to be in the position of opposing the more extreme and rigid proposals to reduce working hours.

SIGNS OF WEAKNESS

Some signs of relative weakness in "leading stocks, and a tendency toward reduction in the number of issues traded in, have been unfavorable symptoms in recent sessions. Then, yesterday several leaders closed below significant levels, and the market sold off on increased volume.

On the other hand, the bond market has been crawling up and holding well most of the time. The railway stocks, too, have been relatively firm and are supported by favorable carloadings. Such evidence as we have on the trend of business activity are not discouraging, nor are the earnings statements.

One question which arises is: Have disappointed and fearful buyers merely been holding on in the hope that they can get a little better prices? Is the time approaching when they will dump their holdings and break the market? No one can know. Developments in the labor situation or in new deal restrictions on business might bring on such selling, signs of which appeared yesterday.

GOOD BUSINESS GOAL

But I think the country wants good business more than anything else, and that we are on the edge of realizing that to get what we want we must make conditions favorable for good business. I trust the President's political sagacity to prevent him from pushing the new deal theories so far that business and employment suffer.

Either business must be encouraged to go ahead on its own steam, or government steam must be supplied from the boiler of inflation.

In either event, it is easier to see sound stocks going up than down, and I am therefore inclined to look for eventually higher prices for the sounder equities among oils, chemicals and gold mines. I would favor adding moderately to my holdings of such stocks on this recession.

After all, your dollars are slipping in their purchasing power. Good stocks, however, are among the few things which not are getting cheaper.

GUARANTY AIDS BANK STATUS

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP.)—The Deposit Insurance Corporation said today that 54,682,092 accounts in 13,529 banks are guaranteed by the temporary insurance fund.

Leo T. Crowley, corporation chairman, said 5,229 are national banks, 909 state banks, belonging to the Federal Reserve System, and 7,391 non-member state banks. Insured deposits aggregate $15,482,981,016 of a total deposit liability in the insured institutions of $37,923,828,503. Crowley said:

"Although the temporary insurance fund is now well within its third month of operation, so far no bank which is a member of this fund has closed its doors. This absence of failures among institutions whose deposits are insured is in striking contrast with the experience of previous years.

"During the 12 years ending and including 1933, the average number of banks which failed in the United States for the combined months of January and February was 204, involving an average of $79,647,916 in deposits."

A. T. & T. Operating Net Shows Big Gain

NEW YORK, March 8.—January net operating income of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company amounted to $1,468,512 comparing with $459,497 in January, 1933. Gross totaled $7,747,893 as against $6,651,153 a year ago. The report covers operating activities only.

South Penn Oil Shows Improved Condition

By GEORGE H. SNYDER
Business Editor

SOUTH PENN OIL COMPANY had a bad start last year, but greatly changed conditions established it on a profitable basis in the latter half of the year. In addition, improved conditions are being reflected in current results.

As a result of this, directors increased quarterly dividends from 25 cents a share to 30 cents a share with the payment to be made March 31, 1934. The dividend was increased from 20 cents to 25 cents quarterly December 30, 1933. This followed reductions from 50 cents to 25 cents quarterly March 31, 1931, and from 25 cents to 20 cents June 30, 1933.

The company is a leading producer of Pennsylvania crude oil. In addition has refining and marketing facilities through subsidiary organizations. Due to unfavorable conditions at the beginning of the year, the annual report, made public today, does not accurately reflect current profits.

Restriction On Output Raised Last Summer

IN SPEAKING of the changed state of affairs in Pennsylvania Oil fields, P. H. Curry, president of South Penn Oil, said in his annual report:

"The net income shown was all realized during the last half of the year. During the early months of the year the price of crude was lower than it has been during the past 30 years, and addition production was under curtailment until late in the summer when the restriction was lifted and prices began to show marked improvement. The production situation had changed so much by the latter part of the year, that your company did not have sufficient production to supply the needs of its refinery customers and consequently had to withdraw from its storage."

Net income for 1933, after deducting all charges, including depreciation and depletion, was $512,912, equivalent to 42 cents a share on 1,200,000 shares of capital stock. This compared with net of $945,761 or 79 cents a share in 1932 and with a net loss of $820,191 in 1931.

New Income Source Expected This Year

IN 1932 SOUTH PENN sold its controlling interest in the Penn Mex Fuel Company to Consolidated Oil Corporation. The arrangement provided for additional payments based on the production of Penn Mex, which operates in Mexico. The report states that no additional payments was received during 1933, but that production has reached a point where additional payments will begin with March production.

South Penn showed an exceptionally strong current position at the end of 1933. Current assets amounted to $16,916,425 against current liabilities of $1,546,921. Cash amounted to $2,186,758 and United States government securities to $5,958,032.

SOVIET COTTON DEAL LOOMS

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Purchase by Soviet Russia of 500,000 bales of American cotton was destined today to be the first trade deal arranged by the new export-import bank set up here to promote Russian trade.

Representatives of the Amtorg Corporation, official trading organization for the Soviets in this country, have notified the bank Russia is prepared to make this purchase immediately if satisfactory credits can be arranged.

Meanwhile, Assistant Secretary of State Sumner Welles was rushing plans to start the new bank for Cuba functioning in order to facilitate the granting of approximately $10,000,000 worth of credit to American silver producers to ship that metal to Cuba.

The silver will be used by Cuba to issue additional money with which to relieve hunger, pay government salaries and otherwise assist in bringing about economic recovery.

The export-import banks represent part of the administration's plan to help finance the development of American foreign trade by extending credit to American exporters who find foreign markets for their goods.

Chickie's Daughter

By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XII.

Jon came home. It was summer. Pippin gave up dreaming at her window. All the vague, delicious stirrings of love that had filled her heart with dreams, as the ships went seaward, vanished before the excitement and hilarity of her brother's return.

Jon was a brown young giant, the image of his grandfather, with all of old Jonathan's viking resilient strength. The moment he arrived the house took on a manifold vitality, became a mad whirl of comings and goings. He and Pippin were in a continual tumult. Down to Palo Alto for a tennis tournament; back to the city for dinner and dancing at the Mark. Not a minute to lose—here, fix me a clean shirt—lend me your car—did my suit come from the cleaner's? Jon struck the house and everyone in it like a spiritual tornado.

He passed Chickie in the hall, and, sweeping an arm about her, teased:

"Hello, Beautiful! Glad the son and heir is home again?"

"Yes, glad—always glad."

Chickie never looked at Jon without a sense of strangeness; of deep trembling awe that the tall, shining youth should be her son. Her feeling was mixed with fear so that she prayed—let no harm come to Jon—no blight on his beautiful, untarnished youth. Tears often filled her eyes—tears of an over-brimming gratitude. She was so blest.

They went up to the mountains—the gaunt, beautiful Sierras that they loved. Here on the shore of the blue Echo Lakes they had a cabin. The lakes were cold and clear as diamonds. They were set down there, deep between the vast, dramatic granite walls. The dark lofty spires of the mountains pierced the very sky and shut them in with an isolation that thundered to the soul.

A Good Swimmer

They climbed the almost perpendicular mountain slopes; they got up at dawn and hiked over granite trails to remote fishing pools. They rode a surfboard, taking turns racing the boat down the lake with the board bounding until they spilled into the icy waters.

Said Jon, filled with admiration for his sister's endurance:

"It's amazing the way she's grown up. Why, mother, she's almost as beautiful as you are and the best swimmer in the state. She must be!"

Chickie, leaning against the big tamarack shading the porch, felt her whole life renewed; felt a great singing peace. The mountains were so strong. They were mighty and free.

One day they were all invited to a barbecue. A strange, uprooting thing happened.

The Southleys were old friends of David's. They had a beautiful place at Tahoe and every year gave this gala affair, with boat races, tennis and swimming matches.

The young people looked forward to the meet and worked hard for the coveted trophies. Jon wanted Pippin to shine.

To Enter Race

He coaxed and argued until finally she was plunging into the chilly waters, with Jon following in a boat and hurling instructions which she followed meekly and blue with cold.

"Coming along swell," he comforted as she climbed, shivering, to the immense granite shelf which bordered their inlet.

"But why do I have to win?"

"Oh, I see," Pippin grinned, with her face pressed against the rough sleeve of Jon's sweater. "Just another cute trick to keep me on the straight and narrow. Okay so far, darling!"

The day of the barbecue was bright blue—deliciously warm. Jon and Pippin left early in Jon's new coupe. Chickie was to follow later with David, should he arrive in time.

"Don't lose your head and, above all things, don't look back to watch the others. Just keep right on going, with your whole purpose fixed on the goal and getting there first."

The Southleys' place was on a woodland slope on the California edge of Lake Tahoe. Great redwood trees marched in stately file down the dramatic green hills to make a majestic semi-circle about a wide inlet. The waters were sunny and came with a gentle rush to a beach of gleaming sands.

Mistaken Identity

The young people gathered on the beach. They were lithe and beautiful like slim bronze statues in their scant, snugly fitted suits. They were excited and their eyes shone.

"Chickie!" someone said in a sharp, breathless undertone.

"Why, no! Only her daughter!" Pippin laughed and looked, teasing, into the eyes of a tall, thin man into whom she had bumped. His face turned excessively pale. He stared at Pippin, bowed quickly and turned. It struck the girl as interesting and odd.

Her hands tucked in Jon's were cold.

"Keep your nerve," he ordered. "You're a cinch to win. Eric Black is your only threat. You'll leave him behind half way through."

Far out on the lake was a buoy where a flag waved. They would swim from the beach to the buoy and back again.

"You've done twice as far every day. Remember what I said and don't look back."

There were 10 contestants for the distance title. Pippin and Eric kept far in the lead. They cut through the water shoulder to shoulder.

Then Pippin's blue cap caught the sun. She was leading—she was nearing the flag.

Saves Contestant

Now she was skimming through the waters. With machinelike rhythm she cut a swift, glimmering path—no one else near.

Suddenly she seemed to stop. She did stop. She wheeled about and cut back toward the flag.

From the distance the move was confusing. It was terrifying. They saw her making with agonized haste for the buoy. Then all at once they knew. Eric's arm flung upward. A second later Eric's head dropped beneath the water.

The whole beach was sick with fear. It was speechless. None of the other swimmers seemed to have noticed and the boats were too slow!

Pippin, with Eric in tow, came slowly, came gallantly, but she seemed pushed or carried from the shortest course. For one deathlike moment both heads disappeared. It was beyond bearing. Sobs filled the air.

Then a man called: "Look—oh, thank God!" Limp figures were lifted from the water to the boats. It was over.

Jon reached the shore. He lifted the half conscious Eric and dropped him hastily to the sands. Then he caught Pippin and hugged her to him. Grabbing a blanket someone brought, he bundled her up with a choking: "Sure you're all right?"

Considered as Heroine

It was a gorgeous hour for Pippin. To her surprise every one considered her a heroine. As she came through the grove where the older folks were sitting for the barbecue they looked at her admiringly. Some of the mothers had tears in their eyes. Mrs. Southley got up from the small table where she was sitting with the tall man who had spoken to Pippin.

"I cannot thank you, Pippin, dear. I feel humbled before your courage. If Eric drowned while in my care I would not know how to go on. You've saved me and you've given us all pride and joy."

Pippin got very red. All her fluency vanished. "Why, it was nothing at all. It's only what we're taught to do. Anyone would do exactly the same."

Mrs. Southley patted her hand.

Pippin blinked and, clutching Jon's arm, hurried away to the lower grove, where the young people had settled.

She had just passed when between the tall redwood trees Chickie entered. She was immediately hailed by Mrs. Southley.

"Sit here with me, Helena. I want to burst into tears, and you won't mind."

Chickie moved to the table and suddenly for the first time noticed the tall man standing there. It was too late then.

Chickie looked full into the eyes of Barry Dunne.

Synopsis

Pippin, pretty daugter of Chickie, and Kathie McPike laughingly appeal to Kathie's foster-brother, Kevin Malone, to take them to their first dance. Kevin promises. Then, teased by the two girls because he is eight years older than they, he seizes Pippin and kisses her. Pippin goes home to her mother to secure permission to go to the dance, astonished and thrilled at the first real kiss she had ever known. Given permission, Pippin attends the dance with Kevin and has a glorious time. Chickie thinks her daughter has gone into the strange land of adolescence too soon. Kevin sails to Europe and his first letter thrills Pippin. Pippin meets a handsome young ensign, Bill Lodge, at a ship dance. He says he loves her. Bill sails away but sends Pippin a costly bracelet.

PENINSULAR CAMPAIGN AND LEADERS (March-July, 1862)—CIVIL WAR

While the Western Army of the Union aided by fleets of Commodore Davis and Farragut wrung the Mississippi except the "Bridge" (Vicksburg-Port Hudson) from the Confederates, the Potomac army of the Union, commanded by Gen. McClellan, was unsuccessful in the Peninsular campaign aiming to conquer Richmond, Confederate capital.

Gen. McClellan with a well equipped army marched from Fort Monroe toward Richmond from the Southeast (see above map), encamping 10 miles from the city (end of May) waiting for Gen. McDowell's troops left at Fredericksburg (as protection to Washington) supposed to attack Richmond from the North.

Confederate Gen. Lee, taking the place of the wounded commander Gen. J. E. Johnston, nailed McDowell to Fredericksburg by raiding the Shenandoah Valley through his general, "Stonewall" Jackson, who chased Union Gen. Banks before him; Lee then boldly attacked McClellan. June 26, 1862, the bloody "Seven Day Battle" started, ending at Malvern Hill July 2, with the retreat of McClellan to Harrison's Landing. There he was preparing a new attack on Richmond when his army was ordered to join that of Gen. Pope in the North.

COOK'S RECEPTION—DEATH; HARBINGER OF BRITISH AUSTRALIAN COLONIZATION

Great Britain, losing 13 American colonies in the War of Independence (1776-1781), started to colonize Australia by landing convicts at today's Sidney (1788).

The British explorer was James Cook (1728-1778), who discovered "New South Wales" on his first journey (1768-1770), established Australia to be the Southern (sixth) Continent on his second trip (1772), and explored the Bering Sea for a passage to the Atlantic on his third voyage (1776-1778). Barred by ice, he visited Hawaii and was killed in his attempts to recover one of his ships stolen by natives.

Though pioneer of exploration, Cook was not the discoverer of Australia that had been visited by Portuguese, Spaniard, Dutch and French navigators (Gaetan 1545, Godhino 1601, etc.).

SULPHURIC ACID BY THE LEAD CHAMBER PROCESS

Sulphuric acid (H_2SO_4) manufacture consists of producing SO_3 (which gives, with water, sulphuric acid) from SO_2 by means of a catalyst.

In the chamber process a gaseous catalyst, nitrogen dioxide (NO_2) is used, made from ammonia and air led through a platinum gauze catalyst in a separate chamber, not shown here: $4NH_3 + 5O_2 = 6H_2O + 4NO$ and $2NO + O_2 = 2NO_2$. These nitrogen oxides are mixed with concentrated sulphuric acid forming "nitrosyl" acid, that carries the catalyst (NO and NO_2) into the Glover Tower, where, with water, it liberates them.

Above: Sulphur dioxide (SO_2) is obtained from sulphur burner. Part of SO_2 is converted to sulphuric acid in the tower: $SO_2 + NO_2 = SO_3 + NO$ and $SO_3 + H_2O = H_2SO_4$. The conversion is continued in the 3-5 lead covered chambers and finished in the Gay Lussac Tower from which sulphuric acid is tapped off 65-78% strong.

Sound waves, transmitted by ear drum, incus, malleus, stapes bones to the fenestra ovalis, set into vibration the perilymph of the scala vestibuli, which in turn conveys these to the endolymph in the membraneous cochlea. They are given to the organ of Corti connected by the auditory nerves with the brain, which interprets the impulse set up by the sound, the sensation of hearing. (General Science)

FROM DRUDGE TO IMMORTAL NOVELIST

Charles Dickens (1812-1870) was the son of a careless father imprisoned for debts. Charles had little schooling. After drudging in a warehouse he became clerk to an attorney, educated himself as a parliamentary reporter. His lively essays in newspapers were republished as "Sketches by Boz" (1836), followed by publication of Pickwick Papers, which brought him fame and financial ease.

Dickens' masterwork is David Copperfield, partly his own life-story, typical of his greatness and faults. Full of humor and wholesome sentiment, it has a rather drifting than guiding plot. His characters, though one-sided, live. His imagination, sympathy, move to laughter and tears, inspired improvement of the ill used. 26-III-A

Frank Whips One Over

Dear Mr. Baer:

"At the age of 25, I have reached the momentous conclusion that I should stop doing anything for a living and become a writer. After studying various writers of note, such as Winchell, McIntyre and down the line to Shakespeare, I have finally decided that I will be a second "Bugs" Baer.

"I find your type of column refreshingly simple and the most easy for an amateur to imitate. Very little exertion of the brain cells is required.

"All one needs is a topic and a book of similes. If you feel that you would like to use all, or any, of my literary efforts in your column, go to it.

"My next letter will contain two columns I'm too lazy to include in this letter. One is entitled, 'Design for Easy Living,' and the other title, to be frank with you, I've forgotten.

"Yours, Frank Kosalka,
"Brooklyn, New York."

Well, the man is a writer already. And doesn't know it.

But we wouldn't advise you to throw your present work up in the air unless you are a juggler.

We cannot use your three essays enclosed. And as to using books for reference, you will do better when the covers on your book are your two ears.

The exertion on the brain cells may be less than the friction on a dime in a miser's pocket. If the work is as easy as you say, then that must be the reason we got into it.

Nevertheless, stick to your job, unless you want to inherit a 168-hour week. That's all the week there is.

Tax Delinquencies

The National Municipal League Indicates Ways Through Which Collections Can Be Improved.

In the preamble of the resolution unanimously passed by City Council last week, calling for an economy and efficiency survey of the municipal service, the statement is made that during 1933 less than 75 per cent of the taxes levied against real estate was paid into the city treasury.

That makes pertinent to Pittsburgh's affairs a study of tax delinquency in 145 cities of over 50,000 population which has just been concluded by Frederick L. Bird, director of municipal research of Dun and Bradstreet, Inc. He reports on his investigation in the current number of the National Municipal Review.

Mr. Bird finds that in cities where a high percentage of the taxes was collected such factors were present as a strong economic and social background, with diversified sources of wealth; a well organized and administered tax collection system, with enforced penalties for delinquency, and a city administration which had the confidence of the public.

The report should be worth the perusal of Pittsburgh's city officials.

How Use Leisure Time?

Institutions Like the Y. M. and W. H. A. Furnish A Good Answer

With the movement for a 30-hour week gaining momentum the question, "How shall one's leisure time be employed?" becomes more pressing.

The $60,000 good-will campaign now being conducted by the Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association of Pittsburgh is of interest in this connection.

But if the Y. M. and W. H. A. is to carry on, it must have $60,000, and the money must be subscribed directly and now, for the "Y" does not share in the Community Fund.

Rouge for the Reds

Even Russia Is Human.

They say that human nature is changing in Soviet Russia, where all sorts of revolutionary innovations are being tried, and where the law doesn't recognize any kind of distinction between the sexes.

Then they tell us that Comrade Paulina Semyonova Zhemchuzhina has been awarded the highest decoration at the disposal of the government, the Order of Lenin, for supervising the manufacture of superior rouge, lipstick, eyebrow pencil, perfume and other cosmetics.

Comrade Paulina, who, in a more old-fashioned country, would have swapped her chug-chug maiden name for the name of her husband, Molotov, is the wife of the Prime Minister of the Soviet Union. She is also the head of the principal Soviet cosmetics trust. Eight employes of the trust, including two women, were awarded the second highest decoration, the Order of the Red Banner.

Somehow these facts lead us to believe that things haven't changed beyond recognition in the land of the Soviets. It sounds very much like a capitalist country or any other kind of country, this business of a woman getting a prize for helping women make themselves better looking than they really are, and of the wife of an official getting a somewhat better prize than the one awarded to ordinary mortals.

Too Strange for the Screen

But It Happens in Real Life.

Fact beggars fiction and romance blooms eternal. Wars and depressions and crises and New Deals notwithstanding, there's no getting away from the fact that the old, old story of a young man with a maid changes little.

If some Broadway talkie palace offered us the story of Prince Sigvard, of the Royal House of Sweden, and Fraulein Erika Patzek, daughter of a lowly gentleman who owns several stands in the Berlin Central Market, we'd probably complain that it was silly, improbable and trite.

The Swedish Court gets excited.

It's all quite true and tremendously romantic. Yet when one of those perennial Graustarkian stories of a prince and a girl comes to us on the screen we'll yawn and complain that such things simply don't happen in real life.

Gold Is Gold

No Matter What the Economists Say.

Many economic theorists, critical of maintaining a gold basis for currency, scoff at the real value of gold. Gold cannot be eaten or really used, they say. Its value is just a silly tradition.

But other scientists almost daily uncover evidence that human beings in past ages always shared the love for gold, however silly it may seem.

People of Central America, who lived before Columbus sailed across the Atlantic, loved gold so much that they had it buried with them after they died.

That doesn't prove that gold is valuable.

My Pal!

(Copyright, 1934.)

Toward the close of last year the Federal Narcotics Bureau reported that smuggled morphine from Asia had raised a new and alarming "dope" menace in this country.

In violation of international treaties, great quantities of morphine were being smuggled into our Pacific Coast ports at cheap Asiatic prices which threatened a dangerous and rapid spread of addiction.

In view of this disclosure it is surprising to know that the California Legislature has drastically curtailed the funds of the State Division of Narcotic Enforcement. Dr. J. C. Geiger, Director of Public Health in San Francisco, has said:

"A deplorable condition exists. Most unfortunately, it is now easier for an addict to obtain narcotics than it has ever been, due to the fact that State agencies are impotent."

Obviously the Federal Government cannot let this perilous situation grow worse. The Federal Narcotics Bureau is the first line of defense against the smugglers' traffic. Yet last year that Bureau found itself almost helpless because successive "economics" had reduced funds some $400,000 below requirements.

It throws upon the Federal Narcotics Bureau an added burden in meeting the new "dope" invasion—and Congress and the Federal Bureau of the Budget must see to it that the emergency is adequately met.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 8.—The metropolis has woven many domestic dramas around the gesture known as firing the butler. So close do such servants become in affairs of a household their footing is almost that of a member of the family. One of the Vanderbilts is reported to have gone to Africa to cable a discharge.

This concerns the dilemma of a pair of young marrieds. The butler, as butlers will, was getting on their nerves. The husband passed the buck to his wife and she in turn tossed it back. One day they thought of this. They would write him a note and leave for him to find.

After driving around the park several times they came home in tip-toe guilt. The note was still there unopened. Of a sudden the husband had this idea. He would go to the butler with the story they had suddenly lost their money and would have to do their own work.

His wife embraced him for his ingenuity and after two big hookers of rye he went to the servants' quarters and told his story. The butler was distressed but had an idea. He would not only work for nothing until better days, but would loan them a goodly sum. He is still there. Sittin' pritty!

Harry Acton piloted me to one of those red-meat eateries abounding South Ferry that feature the T-bone steak and flagons of dog's nose, where shirt-sleeved men puff at the calabash and corncob. Hearty and bourgeois. The stubbly pompadoured and oak-bosomed proprietor seemed to delight in abusing a pale and harried busboy. Everything he did was wrong. Finally Acton protested: "He's a good kid. What's the idea?" To which he bellowed: "He's taken to writing poetry when he might become an A-1 waiter! He wants to be a Walter Mason."

And Amon G. Carter brings to town a tale of romance in the cotton patches. A bumpkin calling on his lady love complained of her indifference. Finally he inquired: "Ain't you well?" And she drawled: "I'm all right. I'm just scuffed up from plowin' all day and I've run out of snuff."

I think Fifth avenue never so lovely as this time of year. When the blusters of March have the teasings of April and the sun seems to have especial radiance. Strollers are stimulated by the clear air. A furred chit of loveliness tripped out of Sak's this afternoon and there was something heavenly in her flush of jolly grace. So much so I rather unconsciously tipped my hat and smiled and her returning smile had no tint of flirtation. Rather did it say: "I understand and am grateful for your compliment, sir!"

One of our most expert stage realists is the actor, Donald Meek, whose last name fits his humble characterizations like the proverbial glove. As the bald and bedeviled bookkeeper, the antiquarian office "boy" or the suburban husband who never quite made the $50-a-week grade, he is superb. His exquisite delineations of the blundering high-minded failure are always the sort that inspire a throat clutch. All know so many Donald Meeks of the stage in real life but the eloquence of their submission to life's bludgeonings merely tweaks us for the moment. We never do anything about it. If great wealth ever came to me I'd like to endow a fine hotel club for Thoroughbreds of the World Who Took the Undeserved Bad Breaks Without a Whine.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Life Won't Give You Anything!

Here's a letter. Yes, it's true; word for word. And should your face be red.

Why red? You didn't write it. No, you didn't write this particular letter. But how many times have you said these words to yourself—used them as an alibi?

Dear Miss Robinson:

What am I doing? What am I waiting—hoping—for? I am filled with an overwhelming desire to really live, not go through the years half alive, as I am doing at present.

Will this desire become a reality—some achievement in which I can excel, rejoice? Each day I wake with that hope—praying for my yearning to come true . . . praying that I may be filled with ecstasy. But each day my hope recedes and I say sadly to myself—"Tomorrow, maybe!"

Now it is tomorrow—and tomorrow—but still I am empty. The unsatisfied craving is eating its way into my poor, weak soul . . . consuming all my energy . . . giving nothing in return.

Can I cast aside this obsession and be free, as in former days, when life was a series of harmless joys? Now I seclude myself, grieving for something, I know not what . . . something I have never had . . . ardently want . . . yet am already mourning its passing.

"LIFE, GIVE IT TO ME!"

A. M.

You ask, "what am I doing?" The answer is rude but honest. You're just sitting on your shape, sister, waiting for luck to hand to you adventures on a silver platter. And you're out of luck! No one ever "got nothin'" by doing that, nohow, nowhere.

Trouble is, you're laboring under the common delusion that Life is something outside ourselves—a big, busy Santa Claus that gives, or withholds desired gifts from needy mortals.

But that isn't so. Life isn't a force OUTSIDE ourselves. It is a process INSIDE ourselves. There are, to be sure, circumstances and conditions over which we have no control. But our actual life . . . that intimate consciousness of joy or sorrow, peace or discontent, wherein lies our real existence . . . doesn't come from without; isn't wished on us. We make it for ourselves. It is the result of our own decisions, attitudes and reactions.

LIFE IS WHAT WE MAKE IT. WE ARE OUR OWN SANTA CLAUSES.

You complain that your "craving" is unsatisfied. It will remain unsatisfied unless and until you, yourself, get busy and satisfy it.

What is your "craving" anyway? Do you know? Chances are, you don't. You want to be "happy, successful, popular, powerful." Of course you do. But in just what role? With what goal?

It's thrilling to dream. You can work up a lot of steam and self-pity by that method. And also duck a lot of hard work. But have you ever cut out the vapors and honestly analyzed your desires? Chances are, you haven't.

You wonder why that craving "gives nothing in return." BUT WHY SHOULD IT?

Would you go to Secretary Perkins and with tearfilled eyes, sob: "I want! Whadda I want? I wake . . . wait . . . seclude myself . . . grieve . . . Please, dear Miss Perkins, gimme . . .GIMME!"

Would you do that? Of course you wouldn't. Absurd! YET YOU'RE DOING SOMETHING JUST AS FUTILE AND ABSURD WHEN YOU SIT AROUND ASKING LIFE TO SATISFY A HUNGER THAT YOU YOURSELF WON'T EVEN BOTHER TO CLASSIFY.

If you crave something, decide what you crave. Use sense about it. Don't go off in a pipe dream. Audit your assets. Face your liabilities. Admit your limitations. Decide how much work you're willing to do, how much discipline you're willing to endure, how many sacrifices you're willing to make, to achieve that end. Then, having done this—

DON'T ASK LIFE TO GIVE YOU WHAT YOU WANT. ASK YOURSELF. THEN GET BUSY ON THE GESTURES!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

So intent on making money, that you can think of little else, perhaps.

If a woman, perhaps you are so interested in your card clubs and social functions that you never have time to spend an evening reading with your husband who loves a quiet hour with a book.

In college days he had one girl to whom he always went with the new books, and as they explored it together it was so helpful and interesting.

She may have been the "college widow" that the younger girls were so jealous of, but she understood the knotty problems, knew when they came, and was prepared to be diverting in just the right way, though her youth was perennial.

But now you are married to a fluffy-ruffles and instead of your making her over into the pattern you admire, you find yourself loaded down with a millstone.

You are too practical and feel so responsible that you can't take time off once in a while to get acquainted with your wife and not only teach her what you need as a helpmeet, but make her like it—it can be done.

(Copyright, 1934, King Features Synd., Inc.)

ISN'T IT SO?

Congressmen's 'Law Fees' Draw Borah's Fire

By James T. Williams, Jr.

UPON the theory, as old as the Bible, that "no man can serve two masters," the Senate Committee on the Judiciary has favorably reported a most important legislative proposal sponsored by Senator Borah, of Idaho.

This is the bill which Senator Borah first introduced six years or more ago and re-introduced soon after the present session of Congress convened last January. The Borah bill, which was commended on this page at the time of its last introduction, provides:

That no Senator or Representative or delegate in Congress, after his election and during his continuance in office, shall receive any compensation whatever, directly or indirectly, for any services rendered or to be rendered to any person, corporation or association, either by himself or another in relation to any proceeding, contract, claim, controversy, charge, accusation, arrest or other matter or thing in which the United States as a party is directly or indirectly interested before any court whatever.

The Borah bill will also make it a felony for any Senator or Representative in Congress to act as attorney or counsel for any corporation or association engaged in commerce to which the regulative power of Congress extends under the Constitution of the United States.

* * *

Grand Jury Is Investigating

THE report of the Borah bill from the Judiciary Committee comes while a Federal grand jury is investigating the activities before the War Department of certain applicants for contracts. This investigation was ordered by the President. It came as a complete surprise to some Democratic and Republican politicians at the legislative end of Pennsylvania avenue. How many letters have been written by certain national legislators in behalf of some of the would-be contractors whom the grand jury is trailing has not yet been revealed, but the debate of the Borah bill in the Senate should develop this interesting significant data.

The report of the Borah bill to the Senate comes at a time when progressive Senators have received information that the forces of special privilege have been drafting certain national legislators as special counsel in cases before courts and before state and local governments. This has been a favorite trick of various units of the Power Trust.

An attempt will doubtless be made during the progress of the Borah bill through one house or the other to make public the list of all national and state legislators who have been employed in recent years, or are now employed by power companies or other concerns engaged in commerce subject to regulation by the Federal government.

A number of bills have recently been introduced to regulate the outside activities of Senators and Representatives in Congress, but the only one of these proposals which is equipped with a complete set of teeth that will bite is the Borah bill.

* * *

Will Be Blow To Special Privilege

IF Congress will pass the Borah bill at this session Congress will strike a blow at the sapping expeditions of special privilege, will have advantageous repercussions in every state in the Union.

By compelling Senators and Representatives in Congress to serve exclusively the government of the Constitution while in office, Congress will set an example to the legislators of the several states to do likewise.

Public sentiment is against the attempt of any public servant anywhere to serve two masters. The introduction of the Borah bill and its favorable report from the Senate Committee on the Judiciary is a convincing witness to that heartening fact.

American citizens who believe in the Borah bill can help to make it law by writing their views to their Senators and Representatives without delay.

Human Side of the News

The Story of Joseph B. Keenan, Who Was Chosen By The Attorney General to End Kidnaping

By Edwin C. Hill

EIGHT months ago in Washington, the Attorney General of the United States, placid and scholarly Homer Cummings, sent for a short, thick-set, square-jawed, dark-haired man of 45. He said to him:

"Joe, your job from now on, for as long as it takes and as much as it costs, is to put an end to kidnaping in the United States."

And Joseph B. Keenan said:

"Thanks. I'll do it."

The President and the Attorney General knew their man. Joe Keenan, born in Pawtucket, R. I., and graduated from Brown and Harvard, fought in the cavalry on the border and in the artillery in the World War. He was Gov. Cox's special Attorney General in Ohio for the Cleveland crime cleanup of 1919. One month from the day Attorney General Cummings turned him loose on the kidna[illegible] they were on the run.

The underworld has come to know Keenan to its sorrow. They know that he backs his word with action. In September he was down in Oklahoma to prosecute, in person, the desperadoes who kidnaped Charles F. Urchel—Harvey Bailey and Albert Bates. And while the trial was on, the notorious Machine Gun Kelley sent a letter signed with his fingerprints to the federal prosecutor—a threat to kill him on sight. Joe Keenan promptly made this reply:

"I don't answer cheap threats from human rats. That man is marked. It may be a month. It may be a year. But he cannot escape the government forces."

It wasn't even a month. It was less than a week before Mr. Machine Gun Kelley was in Joe Keenan's hands and in prison for life.

Hard at Work On Lindbergh Case

THIS brings us up to the present, to the capture of Verne Sankey, America's Public Enemy No. 1 and to the hope that, at least, the law is getting the upper hand over the vicious elements of the country. Left unsolved are only two kidnaping cases—the Lindbergh case and the Bremer case—and Joe Keenan is hard at work on both.

He's no talker himself, such men seldom are, but from the precincts of the Department of Justice come confident predictions that the day will come—and not so far in the future—when the kidnapers and murderers of the Lindbergh baby will face a jury and burn in the chair.

It is a fact of immense importance—news of tremendous importance to every law-abiding citizen—that the President of the United States, once measurably relieved of the terrific economic and social problems and tasks, which burden him today, is determined to turn his personal attention to ridding the country of professional criminals and ending a reign of terror and blackmail to which noble industries have been subjected, as well as individuals. Through his immediate subordinates—the attorney general of the United States and Joe Keenan and others in the Department of Justice—he is already on the job, but the day will come when Franklin D. Roosevelt himself will give personal attention to the job, and throw into it the extraordinary vitality of purpose which is his—that and his singular power of rousing public sentiment behind him.

It is possible, even probable, that he will move for the creation of some body of national police, something resembling Scotland Yard, which will have authority the country over, across state lines; some resolute authority which will know how to deal with crooked politicians who gave protection to racketeers and wink at kidnapers.

Those who know the President best know that he is sick of the rapacious greed of illiterate demagogues and their alliance with criminals, and that he will find a way to crush them. His present and immediate task is to rescue many millions of Americans from the morass of poverty caused by the collapse of an industrial system; but the other will follow, and it takes no prophet to surmise that before the end of his presidency, or perhaps before the end of his present term, there will be such a round up of desperadoes as the country never knew before. Men like Joe Keenan are doing his work now, but others must be found of the same hard fiber, who will strike without fear or favor.

Weddings Increase, Divorces Decrease

LINKED together are the news items that people are marrying again and that there is a big slump in divorces in Reno. The Blue Eagle apparently has turned out to be Cupid. Among other signs of better times this news must take its place, for the depression certainly discouraged many pairs of young things who couldn't believe that two could live as cheaply as one. And divorces in Reno have fallen off about twenty-five per cent.

Along with this Dr. William E. Sadler, Chicago psychiatrist, comes to bat with the assertion that money is the cause of most marriage failures. So he told a thousand Methodist ministers. Money and not sex, says Dr. Sadler, is what spills the matrimonial beans, the chief cause, at all events.

Somehow, hooked up with this is the timid little item from Chicago that Mrs. Elizabeth Chichocki is the most deserted woman in America. In her divorce complaint she avers that her husband, Frank, left her 60 times in 21 years. Of all things, her bill charges desertion.

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Questions

O, how can I decipher
Life's closely-written scroll,
And with my little learning

Can I be sure of virtue
Or positive of wrong;
I, who am swayed by starlight
And shaken by a song?

Can I map honor's country
And mark truth's boundary;
I, who find no creed's voices
As potent as the sea?

I saw one men thought noble
Was touched with some dark taint,
And one they call a sinner
To me has been a saint.

How can I thread the mazes
Of others' thought or deed;
I, who by winds of beauty
Am shifted like a reed?
